COMMUNITY FUND CAMPAIGN OPENS; $68,600 PLEDGED

Donations Include $20,000 From Clarence H. Howard and $16,500 From Union Electric.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR CANVASS GIVEN

Greater Liberality Than Last Year Urged in Order to Assure Success for $3,000,000 Drive.

Solicitors in the campaign of the Community Fund and Citizens' Committee on Relief and Employment today went about the task of raising $3,000,000, nearly $500,000 more than the two organizations obtained during the past year by public subscription and the largest amount ever sought in a single campaign in St. Louis.

The campaign was formally begun last night at a dinner at Hotel Statler for 1500 of the more than 2000 volunteer solicitors, at which it was announced that Clarence H. Howard, former chairman of the board of directors of General Steel Castings Corporation had pledged $20,000.

The Special Gifts Committee, which has been urging large donors to give more than last year because of the greater need, reported that contributions totaling $48,000, including Howard's contribution last night, was $6000.

Speakers at the dinner included Dale F. Johnston, campaign chairman; Sidney Maestre, president of the Community Fund, which will receive 75 per cent of the amount raised, and Tom K. Smith, chairman of Citizens' Committee, which is to receive 25 per cent.

Rabbi Julius Gordon, of Temple Israel Emeth, urged the workers to seek not, donations, but sacrifices. "Charity," he said, "is not the most we can do, but the least. The maximum of charity is a minimum of duty."

Telegram From Gifford.

Telegrams from Walter S. Gifford, director of President Hoover's organization on Unemployment relief; Owen D. Young, chairman of that group's Committee on Coordination of Relief Resources, and Dwight Davis, a St. Louisan and Governor-General of the Philippine Islands, were read: Gifford, in his message, repeated the hope of President Hoover, that by Thanksgiving it will be possible to say "that we have removed the fear of the forthcoming winter from the hearts of all who are suffering and in distress."

Young said the campaign affords an opportunity "to demonstrate by giving that we not only value the advantages of citizenship but appreciate its obligations." Davis hoped the campaign would succeed as "I believe it is the most important of its kind ever undertaken in St. Louis."

Other Large Pledges.

Other increased pledges reported by the Special Gifts Committee were: Cupples Co., $4000, increase of $1000; Paris Medicine Co., $600, increase of $2500; Union Electric Light and Power Co., $16,000, increase of $6000; H. McKittrick Jones, $2300, increase of $500; Kelly Dairy Co., $1800, increase of $400; Wrought Iron Range Co., $1000, increase of $700; Pet Milk Co., $4000, increase of $1250; Curlee Manufacturing Co., $2000, increase of $1000, and Mrs. Frederick Goodruff, $2000, increase of $1000; Daniel N. Kirby, $3500, increase of $750.

Rabbi Gordon termed the present situation most critical because of the threatened demoralization of those who have been unable to get work.

"Five million poor people present a situation," he said, "but five million crushed people present a chaotic situation. The great, challenging task before us is to preserve human personality, to save the image of God in the human countenance." To accomplish this, he said, all who do not receive must give.

Two Successful Campaigns.

Maestre opened the meeting by congratulating Archbishop Glennon and the Jewish Federation on the success of their campaigns.

"We have had two successful campaigns," he said. "Now for the third. All these organizations administer to those in need, regardless of race, creed or color, and our object now is to raise sufficient money to take care of every man, woman and child in need in St. Louis and the county during 1932. Our goal is $3,000,000. It is necessary

REPARATIONS AND WAR DEBTS CAUSE WORLD ILLS, MACDONALD TELLS COMMONS

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Reparations and war debt schedules, combining in a system of "crazy economy," have caused the distressing economic situation in which the world finds itself, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald said today in his first speech before the new Parliament.

"As long as the will of man forces an unnatural economic adjustment upon the world, the world never will succeed or prosper," he declared.

"It is impossible," he said, "to decree that without regard to circumstances certain blocks of gold shall be transferred from one nation to another without resulting in impoverishment of the nation which hands out the gold and ultimately of that which receives it.

"It is necessary to get into contact at once—and this is already being done—with the nations chiefly concerned so that we may extricate ourselves from this absurd entanglement of the impossible."

He said he attached the highest importance to Premier Laval's visit to the United States, and he expressed the hope that it would lead first of all to an understanding between France and Germany.

"In the full and final understanding, however," he said, "every nation involved must be a party to the agreement. That is the policy of this Government."

Signs of Better Business.

The new Cabinet will govern exactly as promised in the platform on which its members were elected, MacDonald told the House in debate on the King's address. The Ministry asked for blanket authority to solve the nation's problems, got it, and intends to exercise it, he said.

"The cost of living may go up slowly," he declared, "but it will not go one farthing above the limit necessary to revive world trade. Effective steps will be taken to prevent profiteering."

He said there were distinct signs of improvement in industry and he promised that, if indications of "dumping" were found, the Government would ask Parliament for power to deal with it.

Geoffrey Lloyd, Conservative, said in an address of thanks to the speech from the throne that millions of British people were looking to the House of Commons with anxiety and "there were many hoping that the House will establish a system of protective tariffs because they think it will help them to get work." The Government would have the overwhelming support of the country, he said, if it took measures to prevent large imports which would forestall ultimate legislation.

George Lansbury, speaking as leader of the Labor opposition, charging the Government was not National but had won office by "chicanery and fraud," said the Labor opposition would put before the House proposals for dealing with the economic crisis.

Lansbury, shaggy-bearded parliamentary veteran, shocked the House by waving a copy of the King's speech opening Parliament and describing it as "this innocuous document, full of nothing from beginning to end."

King Opens Parliament.

George V, wearing the crown of empire and ermine robes over the scarlet uniform of a field marshal, today opened the new National Parliament, whose task is to rescue the nation from its financial and industrial ills.

Speaking from the great golden throne in the House of Lords, his majesty bade the new Government godspeed in its undertakings. "My people have given you an emphatic mandate," he said in a voice which rang clearly through the chamber, "and we expect you to achieve success."

The monarch laid special emphasis upon the benefits which he believes may be produced by next year's disarmament conference. "My Government intends to pursue the policy of peace and good will," he said, "they will continue their active interest in the work of the League of Nations, and they will give close attention to preparations for the approaching disarmament conference, a successful result of which would produce great and universal benefit."

Queen Mary, wearing a crown and magnificent robes sat on his left. On the King's right was the Prince of Wales, in scarlet and ermine. Light shone from the lofty ceiling upon a blaze of jewels worn by the wives of the peers. They sat on either side of the House and the Lords were packed closely in the center.

DREISER INDICTED IN KENTUCKY WITH WOMAN ASSOCIATE

By the Associated Press.

PINEVILLE, Ky., Nov. 10. — Theodore Dreiser, novelist, and Marie Pergain were indicted by the Bell County grand jury here today on charges of adultery. The offense is a misdemeanor under Kentucky law.

The indictment charged the offense was committed here during the tour of the Southeastern Kentucky coal fields by Dreiser and a committee of writers investigating the fatal outbreaks in the coal fields in the labor controversy last summer. It was signed by W. A. Brock, commonwealth's attorney, and R. N. Cornett, a retired merchant, foreman of the grand jury.

Bond for each was fixed at $200, but court attaches said the warrants would not be served unless the defendants returned to Kentucky, as a misdemeanor is not an extraditable offense. A fine of $20 to $50 on conviction is provided by law.

The 60-year-old author of "An American Tragedy," on being told yesterday the charges were being investigated, issued a statement denying them and saying it was impossible for him to have been guilty.

Circuit Judge Jones, in charging the Bell County grand jury, said witnesses had sworn to a warrant charging Dreiser and a young woman had lived together openly at a hotel here. The warrant has not been served on the novelist.

Dreiser, at Bristol, Va., in denying the allegation, said he enjoyed "the companionship of ladies" and was "fond of their conversation," and that "the perjured evidence of Judge Jones' court" would be powerless to prove any serious charges.

"The actions of Dreiser and the woman at a hotel aroused suspicion," Prosecutor Walter B. Smith stated.

"An investigator rapped on the door to the woman's room, but she was not there.

"She was seen going into Dreiser's room. Investigators took some toothpicks and stood them against the door of Dreiser's room. Hours later the toothpicks had not been disturbed."

Judge Jones also charged the grand jury to determine whether acts of criminal syndicalism were committed at meetings of miners conducted by the Dreiser committee, and to return indictments if justified. He said had he been Governor he would have placed State troops on the border and never permitted the writers to enter Kentucky.

The last two members of Dreiser's committee were leaving the State today after visiting miners charged with murder at Mount Sterling and Winchester. The writers, John Dos Passos and M. P. Levy, assured the defendants they would have full legal service for their trials.

DOHENY SUED FOR $1,920,000

Oil Stockholders Say He Should Pay Amount Given to U. S.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 10.—Another suit growing out of the alleged Doheny-Fall oil frauds in the Elk Hills Naval Reserve oil field was filed in Superior Court yesterday by stockholders who demanded payment of $1,920,886 from E. L. Doheny, the oil magnate.

The suit, filed by Arthur Morris and F. L. Gardner, who said they represented numerous stockholders, that as a result of the transactions, the Pan-American Petroleum Corporation, a subsidiary of the Pan-American Western Petroleum Co., was forced to pay the Government an amount equivalent to the oil taken from the leases, $1,920,886.94. The stockholders, owners of the stock in Pan-American Western, allege that Doheny personally is responsible for the money paid to the Government and should make reimbursement.

SILVER RISES TO NEW HIGH FOR FIFTH DAY--37 1-4 CENTS

Price Also Mounts in London; Trading in Futures Continues in Great Volume.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Silver rose to another new 1931 high today for the fifth consecutive business day. Today's advance was 1½ cents an ounce, and brought the spot price to 37¾ cents. In London the metal also reached a new 1931 high at 21 9-16 pence an ounce.

Meanwhile, trading in silver futures continued of huge proportions on the National Metal Exchange. During the first half of the day transactions on that exchange amounted to 3,275,000 ounces, or nearly half of the 7,500,000 ounce total for the entire day yesterday, when previous records for volume on the exchange were broken.

The boom in silver, which already has caused the reopening of a mine in Nevada, has been stimulated by the disturbances in Manchuria and trading has been whipped into a frenzy as buyers seek to anticipate an eager demand for the metal should the trouble become more serious. For centuries silver has been regarded as the principal measure of value by the great masses of Oriental peoples, although China is the only important country where silver is the monetary standard. Bankers and bullion dealers ascribe the bull in the metal to speculation by New York interests.

DREDGES TRYING TO CLEAR PASSAGE IN PANAMA CANAL

Slide Dumps 250,000 Square Yards of Earth Into Gaillard Cut.

By the Associated Press.

BALBOA, C. Z., Nov. 10. — Dredges are endeavoring to clear a ship channel through the Gaillard cut of the Panama Canal, which was blocked by a landslide following heavy rains.

The east bank of the cut gave way early yesterday, dumping nearly 250,000 square yards of earth into the canal, which is 100 yards wide at that point, and filling it to within 25 feet of the surface. The bank cracked 1000 feet back from the canal, threatening the canal with heavier slides. Shipping already had been tied up by a flood in Gatun Lake.

GRANDI RECEPTION IS ABANDONED IN NEW YORK CITY

Italian Foreign Minister Will Be Rushed to Washington Train in Closed Car Heavily Guarded.

FEAR OF ANTI-FASCIST DISTURBANCE CAUSE

State Department Officials Put Veto on Plans to Welcome Visitor Just as They Are Almost Complete.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Foreign Minister Dino Grandi will be rushed through New York in a closed car under heavy police guard when he arrives from Italy next Monday for conferences with President Hoover.

State Department officials conferred today with Maj. William P. Deegan, chairman of the Mayor's Committee for Reception of Distinguished Guests, and the prepared city reception was definitely abandoned.

Under the present plan Grandi will be taken to his liner's Hudson River pier on the liner, not being taken off at quarantine as is usual for officials of high rank. A closed car will be waiting at the pier and with heavy police guard the Italian Foreign Minister, against whose presence here anti-Fascist organizations have threatened to make demonstrations, will be taken directly to the Pennsylvania Station to entrain for Washington. Plans for these demonstrations have perturbed the State Department.

When halted by today's insistence of the Washington officials, Warren D. Robbins, chief of the State Department's protocol division, and Capt. Eugene Regnier, Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson's military aid, the city's preparations had almost been completed. Chancellor Elmer E. Brown of New York University had been named chairman of a Special Reception Committee of 125 prominent bankers, industrialists and leaders of Italian organizations. A welcome similar to that recently accorded Premier Pierre Laval of France was planned, with a ride down the bay in the Macom, a triumphal procession up Broadway and a public reception at City Hall.

After a conference of almost two hours with the State Department officials and Maj. Deegan this afternoon, Mayor Walker officially announced that Grandi would be given no reception on his arrival here, but would be taken direct to the station from the pier. The conferees said they were aware of statements that there might be demonstrations by anti-Fascists, but expressed the opinion that the city police would "be able to cope with the situation." Mayor Walker said that on his way home Grandi would be received at City Hall, but that no other ceremonies were planned.

BROTHER-IN-LAW OF HOOVER ARRESTED ON LIQUOR CHARGE

C. Van Ness Leavitt Pleads Not Guilty When Arraigned at Santa Monica, Cal.

By the Associated Press.

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Nov. 10. —The arrest of C. Van Ness Leavitt, brother-in-law of President Herbert Hoover, on a charge of possession of 19 pints of liquor was learned here today.

Leavitt was taken into custody late yesterday with Cliff Dailey by two Federal prohibition agents and a local policeman. He said the liquor was not his but had been placed in his hands when Dailey saw the officers approaching. The arrest was made in a grocery owned by Dailey. The prisoners were released on $250 bail each. They appeared in Police Court today and pleaded not guilty. Leavitt, who is 57 years old, is the husband of the President's sister, Mary Hoover Leavitt.

As the two Federal agents enter the front door of the grocery store, the local policeman appeared at the back door. Leavitt was arrested as he emerged from the back door with the liquor in a gunny sack. Leavitt said Dailey saw the officers and handed him the sack, saying, "Here, take it out." Leavitt said he did not know what the sack contained.

ANOTHER LETTER RECEIVED FROM BERG'S KIDNAPERS; FOURTH DAY OF CAPTIVITY

Chicago "Secret Six" Discloses It Has Been Negotiating for Return of Bonds Since Arrest.

CONVINCED SUSPECT HAS A STRONG ALIBI

Nebraska Authorities Still Undecided Whether to Accept Deal in Lincoln Bank Case.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Evidence that the Al Capone gang is rounding up the $600,000 in stolen bonds offered by Gus Winkler in exchange for his freedom at Lincoln, Neb., was disclosed today at a conference with the "Secret Six" of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Winkler has promised Nebraska authorities that he will deliver the $600,000 in negotiables and give assurance that the remainder of the more than $2,000,000 taken was destroyed in such substantial form it can be reissued and in turn absorbed as assets again by seven Nebraska banks, thereby enhancing the accounts of more than 18,000 depositors.

Winkler is now free on $100,000 in surety bonds, and he seeks a nolle prossing of charges against him in connection with the bank robbery in return for the bonds he says he will dig up for the banks.

Nebraska authorities were in a quandary, according to word here, as to what action they shall take. They do not want to be put in the position of dealing with gangsters, according to Gov. C. W. Bryan, and Attorney-General C. A. Sorenson says he does not want to release Winkler unless it is proved that Winkler is innocent.

Meantime, County Prosecutor Max Toule is negotiating with bankers in Nebraska to arrange for the return of the bonds.

Story of Investigator.

As narrated by Sergt. Roy Steffens of Chicago, attached to the Secret Six, the story sums up as follows:

"The Lincoln National Trust & Savings Bank was robbed in September, 1930, of more than $2,000,000 in bonds and $25,000 in cash, by seven men who drove up to the bank in a big car.

"Until April, 1931, there were no arrests, and no suspects were identified.

"Eventually we got a tip, and at the same time the State police got a tip that 15 men would be found in East St. Louis who might know of this robbery.

"The Secret Six, the Illinois State police, under Chief Walter R. Moody, with Sergeants Hal Roberts and O. W. Kempster of Sterling; Charles Touzinsky and myself, went to 351 East Broadway in East St. Louis. In a raid there we seized 15 men. Some of these men were believed to be responsible for the Valentine day massacre here in Chicago, others were wanted for bank and postoffice robberies, gang murders and kidnapings.

25 Years for O'Connor.

"Thomas P. O'Connor, who was sentenced to 25 years in prison on a burglary charge, was taken. Fred Burke and Gus Winkler, wanted also with O'Connor, were all indicted for the American Tobacco Co. robbery in Louisville. Pictures of the men taken were sent to Lincoln and out of the group identifications were made of Jack Britt, Phil Bailey, Eddie Larue, Howard Lee and Gus Winkler.

"The Lincoln Prosecuting Attorney, Max Towle, sent warrants for Lee, Britt and O'Connor. Lee and O'Connor have since been found guilty and sentenced to 25 years each in prison. A jury disagreed on Britt, who will be tried again.

"A search started for Winkler, La Rue and Bailey, a nation-wide hunt which covered more than 40,000 miles in the United States and one trip into Canada.

"Winkler suddenly showed up near Bridgeman, Mich., in an automobile accident, and with him was

SUITOR KILLED IN ROW WITH GIRL'S FAMILY

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 10.—Francis A. Donaldson III, prominent clubman, called last night at the home of the girl he sought to marry, to renew his suit before her father and brother, who objected to the match. The interview ended with Donaldson's death and the arrest of the brother, Edward H. B. Allen, on a charge of murder.

Police who questioned Allen and his father, Horace Allen, said an argument arose in the course of which Donaldson, formerly an amateur boxer, struck the younger Allen in the mouth.

Allen then left the apartment, police said, drove five miles to the home of a friend with whom he was to have gone hunting today and procured a shotgun. Returning to the apartment, he found Donaldson just leaving, it is alleged and shot him from close range.

Donaldson was taken to the Bryn Mawr Hospital, where he died 15 minutes after being admitted.

Miss Rose Allen, the sister over whom, police say, the altercation arose, was not at home when Donaldson called. Allen was denied bail pending a preliminary hearing.

The shooting occurred in an apartment of the fashionable Green Hills Farm Hotel, where the Allens made their home since the recent death of Mrs. Allen.

Edward Allen is 23 years old, as was Donaldson. Donaldson's father is in the insurance business. Horace Allen is a wealthy retired manufacturer.

CONTENT OF NOTE KEPT SECRET BY FAMILY ADVISERS

6 SUSPECTS HELD IN CHICAGO, 7 HERE

Capone Man and Companions Arrested — Herman Tipton Visits Kaiser and Is Jailed—Six Taken in Clubhouse Raid.

A second special delivery letter from the kidnapers who seized Alexander Berg, 57-year-old millionaire fur dealer, last Friday evening, has been received by Mrs. Berg and her advisers. Today was the fourth of Berg's captivity.

The letter's content was not disclosed. Morris G. Levinson, attorney and chief of Mrs. Berg's advisers, declined to comment.

In a previous special delivery letter, mailed to Mrs. Berg at the Park Plaza Hotel, from East St. Louis, four hours after the abduction, Berg wrote, apparently at the dictation of his captors, that he was well and that money should be raised in preparation for a ransom demand.

Berg will have been in captivity four full days at 6 o'clock tonight. During that period the police have carried on an intensive day and night search to locate the place where he is held. Chief of Police Gerk and Chief of Detectives Kaiser told reporters today, however, that police had "got nowhere." Scores of clews have been run down and detectives have worked overtime without developing any direct line on the identity of the kidnapers or the location of their hideout.

William Baer, attorney, conferred with Mrs. Berg, Levinson and other members of the Berg group in the apartment at the Park Plaza. At the close of the conference he told reporters he had been called in to give his opinion on a point of law raised in connection with the case. He declared he had no other connection with the case and would take no part in negotiations looking toward Berg's release.

Arrests in Chicago.

At Chicago yesterday six men, including Lawrence Mangano, head of the West Side Capone syndicate, and Louis Spenilli of New York, were arrested on request from St. Louis by agents of Chicago's "Secret Six." They are held for questioning in the Berg kidnaping.

While Chicago authorities would not discuss the arrests, it is understood the men were taken while in conference on the West Side on a tip from a secret St. Louis anti-crime organization, whose chief investigator is A. D. Bunsen, veteran retired Postoffice Inspector active in the Berg kidnaping investigation.

The six prisoners are held incommunicado by Chicago police pending arrival of agents from St. Louis to question them about the kidnaping. In addition to Spenilli two others of the six are from New York.

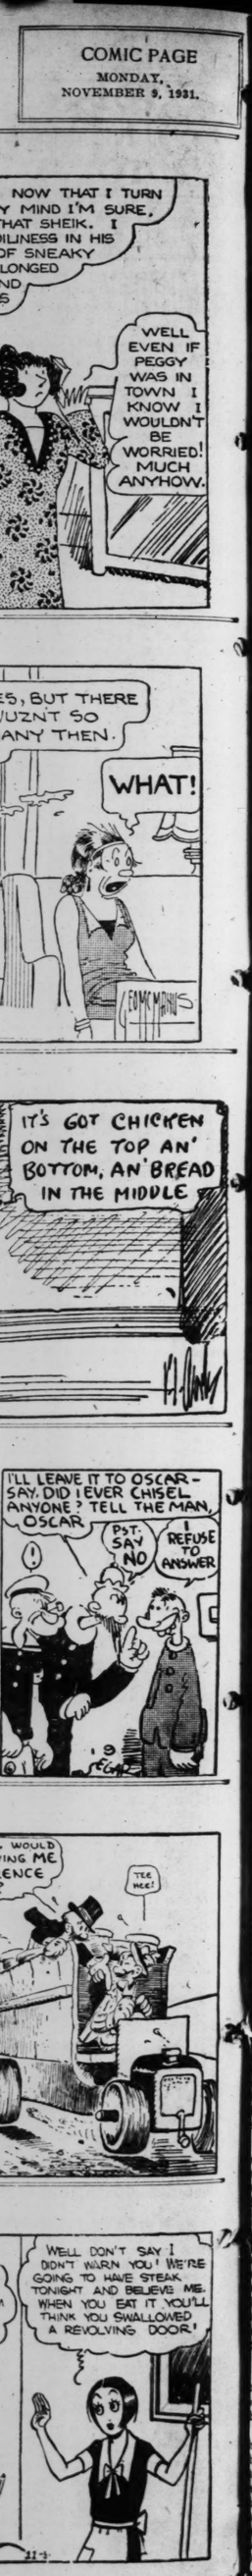

Herman Tipton, leader of the Cuckoo gang, suspected by police of having a hand in the Berg abduction, called on Chief Kaiser this morning to disclaim any knowledge of the crime and was lodged in a cell as a suspect. He was released in the afternon.

Waits Hour for Kaiser.

Tipton, well-dressed and sleekly groomed, had to wait for almost an hour in the outer detective office before he could see Kaiser. In the meantime he told reporters his only purpose in calling was to correct the impression of the police that he was involved in the Berg case.

"Someone is trying to make a kidnaper out of me, and I'm not one," he said. "I don't do business that way. I notice it was said the police suspected me because they couldn't find me. Well, I just want to tell them I'm in my office every day and they can find

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

CANTONESE OFFER PLAN TO SETTLE MANCHURIAN ROW

SITUATION IN FIELD IS DECLARED QUIET

Report of Declaration of War Denied—Tokio Reiterates Position in Reply to American Note.

By the Associated Press.

TOKIO, Nov. 10.—A proposal for complete reorganization of the Government of Manchuria, made by Eugene Chen, noted Chinese journalist and statesman, today turned the attention of Japan to China again, rather than to Geneva, in the hope of a possible permanent solution of the Manchurian problem.

The proposal, said to have been formulated by the opposition Government at Canton, was given to the Japanese Consul in Canton by Chen before he left for Shanghai to discuss with Nanking leaders a reorganization of the Nanking Nationalist Government.

The plan calls for closer co-operation with Japan and expulsion from Manchuria of "greedy and meddlesome war lords" together with the appointment of a high commissioner by the central Government to take charge of Manchurian affairs.

Japanese Would Remain.

Japanese military forces would be permitted to remain and Japan would be largely responsible for maintaining peace and order. It was stated authoritatively here that Tokio's hopes in this direction, far distant and rather slender though they are, are based on plans for Chen to play a prominent part in the reorganization of the Nanking Government and to obtain an agreement with Canton's policy of close co-operation with Japan in the management of Manchurian affairs.

Chen, it is said, went so far as to mention Tang Shao-yi, former Minister to Washington, as commissioner of the three Eastern provinces which would be known as the Federated States of Manchuria.

With reference to the Cantonese proposals, the Tokio Government has contended from the beginning that Manchuria was not a third-party affair and that the two nations would be better left to themselves to reach a permanent settlement on the long-drawn-out difficulties of which the League of Nations' Council has only the roughest grasp.

Japan Replies to U. S.

Japan's reply to the aide memoire of the United States Government on the Manchurian conflict was dispatched to Washington today.

Baron Shidehara, Japanese Foreign Minister, decided not to suggest publication of the notes of the two Governments, although it was thought here he would not object to publication if Secretary of State Stimson wished it. The Foreign Minister agreed with the Secretary, however, that the time was not opportune for making the notes public and Ambassador Debuchi has been instructed not to request that they be published.

Official dispatches from Manchuria today deny that Gen. Mah Chang-shan, commanding the Chinese troops near the Nonni River bridge, has issued a declaration of war against Japan. The dispatches also deny that Chinese bombarded the Japanese position near Tahsing, as reported yesterday.

On the contrary, it is said, the situation in Manchuria is quiet, notwithstanding some apprehension over the intentions of Gen. Mah due to a report that he telegraphed Gen. Chang Hsueh-liang, deposed Governor of Manchuria, urging him to mobilize troops at Kirin to reenforce the Heilungkiang province army against the Japanese.

Withdrawal of the Japanese troops from the Nonni River vicinity, originally expected to take place Nov. 12, the Government said, might be put off a few weeks because fighting delayed the repairing of the bridges.

While press reports appear to indicate continued troop movements in the vicinity of Anganchi and Tsitsihar, the situation now seems calm, and the indication is that ample opportunity will be afforded for the engineers to complete the bridge repairs.

Japanese Expect Attack.

"Taking advantage of the small number of Japanese troops in Manchuria," army headquarters at Mukden reports, "and the impossibility of increasing these forces because of treaties, Gen. Chang Hsueh-liang appears to be making preparations to attack us along the South Manchurian Railway and in addition Gen. Chang is communicating with the main strength of the Heilungkiang army."

Summing up, the report says: "The situation is as follows: Gen. Mah Chan-shan's troops concentrated in the region around Anganchi number about 12,000, with 31 field guns. This force is planning to assume the offensive against the Japanese.

"In North Manchuria, especially at Harbin, anti-Japanese sentiment is growing rife again, causing uneasiness to Japanese residents at various points.

"Gen. Chang on Nov. 7 ordered Gen. Jangchin, who is at Chinchow in command of 17,000 troops, to communicate with Gen. Mah to plan an offensive. (Gen. Jangchin is Gen. Chang's chief of staff.)

"It is obvious that Gen. Chang is planning to disturb the peace by inciting bandits along the South Manchurian Railway. It is estimated there are 11,000 bandits in the region around Tungliao, Chenghiatun and Kungchuling."

Press dispatches say several thousand mounted bandit troops yesterday looted the region around Hinchen on the South Manchurian Railway northeast of Newchwang and fought with a detachment of Japanese troops there. The Chinese fled, the reports say, leaving 40 dead behind them and 20 horses. The Japanese lost three killed and nine wounded.

Japan Answers U. S. Note by Reiterating Former Position.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Japan today reiterated to the American Government its insistence that, before withdrawing troops from Manchuria, the security of Japanese lives and property there be assured and normal Japanese-Chinese relations be restored.

The Japanese position was communicated to Secretary Stimson by Ambassador Debuchi during an hour's conversations at the State Department. The Ambassador handed the Secretary a memorandum outlining his Government's stand.

In brief it said the Tokio Government had an honest desire to withdraw its troops to the railroad zone but that such a movement could not be expedited until China met the security demands.

The memorandum was in reply to representations made by Ambassador Forbes in Tokio on instructions of Secretary Stimson.

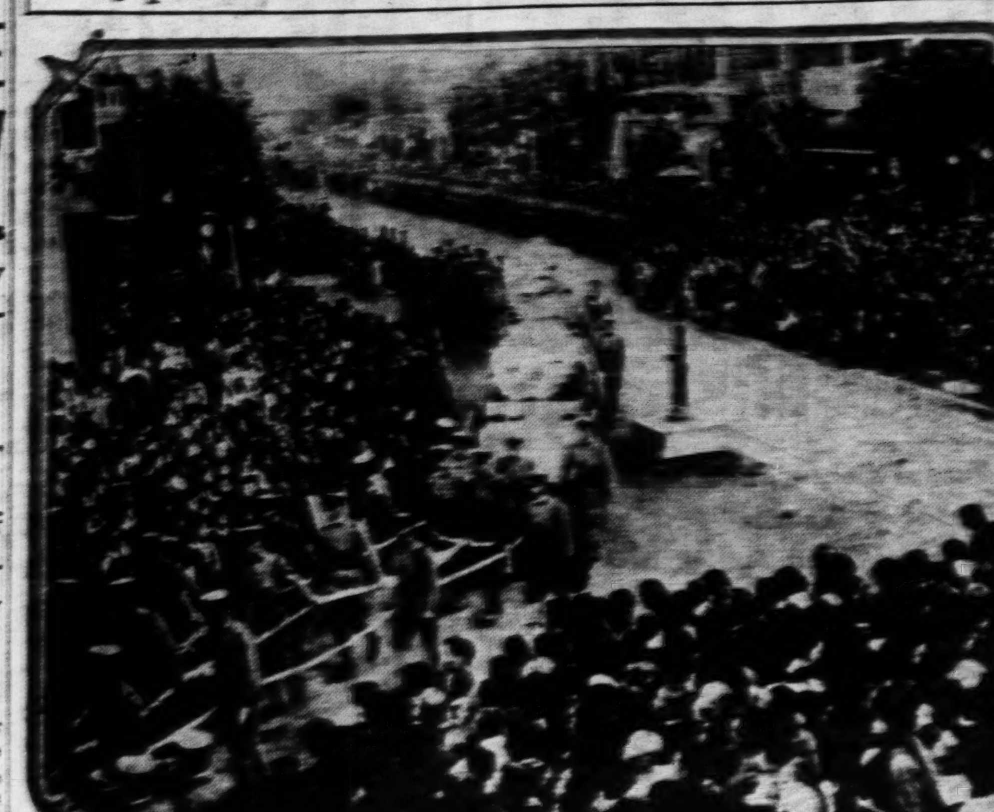

As outlined by the Ambassador the position of his Government is that it will not insist on a final and concrete adjustment of the 300 outstanding differences between China and Japan, but will insist that China respect previous treaties relating to the troubled areas.

The Ambassador further told the Secretary that the Nonni River bridgehead was in the hands of Japanese contingents, but that they would not proceed northward and would not menace the Chinese Eastern railway which is owned by Russia and China.

Japanese Women and Children Ordered Moved for Safety.

HARBIN, Manchuria, Nov. 10.—Japanese authorities here today ordered all Japanese women and children in Manchuli and Hailar to come to Harbin for safety. Both these provinces are in the north not far from the Siberian border, where anti-Japanese sentiment has been growing.

Japan Ceremoniously Honors "Martyrs of Mukden"

WITH an elaborate display of mourning, Japan saluted the ashes of soldiers killed in the recent clash with the Chinese in Mukden. The ashes are here being borne through the streets of Sendai, on Hondo Island, as thousands of Japanese line the route of march.

NEW PARLIAMENT OPENED TO DEAL WITH BRITISH ILLS

pressive escort of household cavalry from Buckingham Palace to the Houses of Parliament. This coach is the same massive vehicle which King George III used long before the American colonies declared their liberty.

Beside the coach, drawn by six horses, walked the "beef eaters" of the Tower of London carrying the halberds of another age. Behind the coach came the household cavalry in silver breast-plates and helmets with tossing plumes. On each side of the short processional route to the House of Lords his majesty's lieges were massed, cheering as the troops lining the road presented and lowered their colors as the coach passed.

A brilliant sun came out as the procession started, but before their majesties reached Westminster rain was spattering over the crowd. The King, bareheaded and wearing a heavy overcoat, leaned forward to bow and smile through the windows of the ancient coach as the six horses drew it down the spacious Mall. The Queen smiled and waved at the throng. Before their carriage another escort of Horse Guards conveyed the regal crown from St. James's Palace. The Prince of Wales, with another escort, was cheered all along the route.

At the doorway of the House of Lords great officers of state, bearing the cap of maintenance, the sword of state and other emblems of regal power, received their majesties and conducted them to the robing rooms.

In the Lords' Chamber the black and white of evening dress worn by Ambassador Charles G. Dawes was in striking contrast to the brilliant uniforms of the rest of the diplomatic corps. From the galleries distinguished visitors looked down, many of them Indian potentates here for the round-table conference.

Then came the final scene, with his majesty reading the "King's speech" prepared for him by his Ministers.

Text of the King's Speech.

"My Lords and Members of the House of Commons: My relations with foreign Powers continue to be friendly. My Government intend to pursue the policy of promoting peace and goodwill, and to continue their active interest in the work of the League of Nations. Particularly are they giving close attention to preparations for the approaching disarmament conference, a successful result of which would, I am convinced, produce great and universal benefits.

"The serious financial and economic situation of the world deeply concerns my Government. They will do their utmost in co-operation with other governments and in a spirit of mutual helpfulness to find ways for restoring the volume of international trade.

"The Indian round table conference continues its work and a conference with representatives of Burma will very shortly assemble. It is my earnest prayer that the deliberations of both these conferences may be crowned with success.

Imperial Conferences.

"In conformity with an undertaking given to representatives of my dominions in 1930, measures will be laid before you to give statutory effect to certain of the declarations and resolutions of the imperial conferences of 1926 and 1930.

"This measure is designed to make clear the powers of the dominion Parliaments and to promote a spirit of free co-operation among members of the British commonwealth of nations.

"My Government has received from the Government of my Dominion of Canada a proposal that the economic conference which adjourned in 1930 should be convened at Ottawa as soon as possible. This invitation has been welcomed by my Ministers and will be considered in a most sympathetic spirit and with the earnest desire to come to some mutually advantageous arrangements with the Governments of my dominions.

"The nation at a general election indorsed those measures for securing economy and balancing the national budget which constituted the first essential steps in solution of the financial and economic problems with which the country has been confronted.

"The nation was also invited by my Ministers to empower them to pursue a policy designed fully to re-establish confidence in our financial stability, and to give them authority to frame plans for ensuring a favorable balance of trade.

"They further sought from the nation unfettered discretion to consider every proposal likely to be of assistance in these matters.

"My ministers now have received a clear, emphatic mandate to that effect. Important problems involved already are under detailed examination by my Government. Decisions will be taken and applied with the least possible delay and in due course any legislation that may be required will be submitted to Parliament.

"I pray that the blessing of Almighty God may rest upon your deliberations."

MacDonald's Program.

In his first formal announcement since the election, MacDonald declared last night that the two immediate problems confronting the Government were first to balance the national budget and second to balance its trade.

He told his audience, which included members of the British Cabinet, leaders in trade and industry and members of the diplomatic corps assembled at a banquet to honor the new Lord Mayor, Maurice Jenks, that the stabilization of the pound would furnish the solution to the trade problem.

MacDonald enumerated these six cardinal aims: To stabilize the pound; to balance the nation's trade; to maintain a balanced budget; to participate in the Dominions conference at Ottawa with a view to closer empire co-operation; to work for the success of the disarmament conference; to give India a workable Constitution.

Pointing out that the Hoover moratorium is nearing its end, MacDonald said something more was needed than a "period of piecemeal international compromises of a temporary nature."

Unless the requirements of the situation are met, he said, "the world will go from bad to worse and will collapse and revolution may be the only way out. What government in what nation is primed to be responsible for that?

Work Through Washington.

"See how everything hangs together and runs in a vicious circle?" he continued. "An examination of the present crisis leads inevitably back to the economic care of Europe. This has been attacked by committee after committee of the League of Nations, and also by certain governments, but everyone has sooner or later come up against the question of reparations and war debts.

"The United States has let it be known that these questions have a direct bearing upon disarmament."

REBELS BEHEADED AS CHINESE CHECK RIOTS IN TIENTSIN

Police Capture 400 Participants in Outbreak and Put Several of Them to Death Summarily.

By the Associated Press.

TIENTSIN, Nov. 10.—Chinese police have captured 400 rebels who participated in yesterday's riots and beheaded several of them. They were captured in the native city and dealt with summarily. Several of the ring leaders escaped.

Chinese military reinforcements sent up the railway from Peiping were confined to the Hopei district and excluded from a large area between the native city and the Japanese concession, where Chinese police were functioning exclusively. The municipal government removed from the former German concession to the other end of the city south of the British concession.

A Chinese official in an interview criticised and expressed suspicion of Japanese troops and said no protest was received until early yesterday morning when the Chinese police got the upper hand over riots which started late the previous night.

A Japanese destroyer was expected to arrive at Tangku from Port Arthur today, they said, but it would not carry a landing party.

The Japanese demand on Chinese forces to withdraw at least 300 meters from the concession boundary brought the Japanese defense line perilously close to the Chinese headquarters.

The Japanese had relaxed none of their precautions about the concession this morning and all foreigners venturing within were closely questioned by the guard.

The Japanese commander, Gen. Kashii, issued a proclamation yesterday declaring that if Japanese interests were endangered in any way, or if the honor of the Japanese army were threatened, his troops would "take the necessary steps." This was taken to mean he would occupy the city by force.

Two American women attached to the Methodist mission were escorted to an outbound steamer last night when machine guns went into action on the western edge of the city.

Streets were deserted throughout the day in the Japanese concession and business was at a standstill.

Chinese authorities complained that a Japanese tank opened fire on the police when it was impossible for the latter immediately to obey the order to withdraw to a position 300 meters from the boundary. Two shells, police said, fell in front of the Chinese headquarters.

The Chinese continue to insist the riots and the present situation are part of an attempt to overthrow the Government and set up a new one favorable to Japan.

Second Letter Received From Kidnapers of Berg

Tipton, released on bond last week on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon in an automobile, is interested in a race track news service company in the Buder Building, headed by "Beverly" Brown and "Gully" Owen, Cuckoo gang henchmen. Tipton and other Cuckoo gunmen are carried in the company's personnel to give "prestige" to its services among St. Louis bookmakers, who either subscribe to the service, or go without any at all. A recent attempt of a Chicago syndicate to "muscle in" on the St. Louis race track news field resulted in a series of bombings which caused it to retire.

Raid at Fern Glen.

Regardless of his declaration of innocence, police intend to hold Tipton for a time and still are looking for Carl Fiorito, one of his lieutenants, who also was released on bond in a concealed weapon case last week.

Yesterday noon a raiding party, led by Police Capt. Kirk and Detective Sergeant Laing, visited the clubhouse of "Bow-wow" McQuillan, notorious East Side gangster and gambler, at Fern Glen, on the Meramec River. There they arrested the 15-year-old brother of a well-known gangster, the lad's 16-year-old wife and four men who visited the place while the raid was in progress. All were taken to headquarters for questioning when the raiders found in the cottage a new pair of handcuffs which might be useful in a kidnaping. Also found in the place were a shotgun and three .22-caliber "cat" rifles.

The prisoners were questioned closely about the Berg kidnaping and denied knowledge of it. The 15-year-old youth, however, remarked to detectives that "the Berg family will have to pay off to get him back," a statement which revived the suspicion of the police that his brother may be involved in the case. They pressed the youth with further questions but all he would say was "I don't know anything about the case—I just figure that's the way it's going to turn out."

Hoax Note in Mail Box.

Among the false clews run down by the police have been scores of telephone calls to the Berg apartment and to friends, all originating with cranks and practical jokers. A fake note, purporting to come from the kidnapers, but obviously a hoax, was left in the R. F. D. mail box of Beverly T. Nelson, architect, on Lay road, between Manchester and Clayton roads.

A Deputy Constable saw it after he had noticed two men drive away from the box in a large automobile at his approach. The note read:

"We want $21,000 for Berg's release. He is O. K. Will hear from us later. Police know too much now. Say no more."

In going over the work done by detective crews, Chiefs Gerk and Kaiser have been in frequent conference with Circuit Attorney Franklin Miller and Assistant Circuit Attorney Joseph Lennon, meeting with them several times daily.

Mrs. Berg left her apartment in the Park Plaza yesterday for the first time since the kidnaping. She took a brief ride in the Berg limousine, driven by Albert Pike, the Negro chauffeur, who was at the wheel when he and Berg were held up by the kidnapers at 6 o'clock Friday night in heavy traffic on Lindell boulevard a short distance west of Euclid avenue.

Babe Moran. Taken to a hospital their demeanor caused concern and suspicion, and one of them tried to kick a nurse. Lieut. Hudson of the Michigan State police force identified Winkler and called me into the case. With my partner I went to Michigan and in daily conferences with Winkler gradually learned from Winkler that he knew something of the stolen bonds.

"But regarding the bank job, Winkler said he was innocent.

How He Was Sold on Idea.

"Eventually Winkler was sold on the idea to redeem the bonds and help the banks. He consented. Meantime he was indicted for the $9000 robbery of the Piano, Ill., State Bank, but Gov. Brucker of Michigan decided the extradition privileges should go to Nebraska. Winkler was returned there and in an all-night questioning en route he told officers that he was not guilty of the Lincoln job, and was scared of his own life in Ohio for alleged participation in the Toledo robbery of the American Railway Express Co. in which two men were killed. (Witnesses failed to identify him in that robbery, however.) He claimed a man who was his double did the Piano bank robbery and since then he had been blamed for many other killings and robberies and was afraid to show himself anywhere." (At the time of the accident it was believed by police that Winkler was on the way to Upper Michigan, where Fred Burke was in hiding.)

Winkler, according to the Secret Six, said he was approached by the men who held the bonds and they asked him to make an effort to get rid of them. In turn Winkler said that if a deal could be made to free him of the charges, that he was so anxious to "get all washed up" of his criminal career, that he would buy the bonds himself and turn them over to the proper authorities, but he had to be guaranteed his freedom. Efforts to get officials in Nebraska to make a deal with Winkler were temporarily held in abeyance. Finally Winkler posted $100,000 surety bond, and he engaged two lawyers here. They saw Emory Smith of the Illinois Bankers' Association, saying Winkler had a proposition to offer.

Smith wired Prosecutor Towle, Attorney-General Sorenson and President W. E. Barkley of the Lincoln bank and finally they, and representatives of Winkler conferred here.

The trail followed by operatives of the Secret Six once led to a little cottage rendezvous near Benton Harbor, Mich., where the Capones and Winkler and Phil D'Andrea—the pistol-toting bodyguard of "Scarface Al" who is under six months' sentence for contempt of Federal Court—had their business conferences. In front of the cottage the public street was barred to public traffic by the gangster's blockade.

Once it led to the Lexington Hotel in Chicago, whence the Capone men recently decamped. There D'Andrea received Winkler's telegram from the Lincoln jail, and soon D'Andrea had arranged $100,000 cash bond for the release of Winkler.

The investigators found traces of international alliances among the bank robbers, and counted up a toll of around $5,000,000 taken in 25 major robberies since 1925 by these allies—the Burke-Winkler gang, the Sheltons of Southern Illinois, Fitzgerald of Minneapolis, and, more remotely related, the Fleagles of Colorado. Here and there the investigators discerned traces of interrelations of these gangs, and blamed the famous Denver mint raid on one affiliated band.

Again and again the trail led to the Capone headquarters, as when Winkler in the Lincoln cell said to an Illinois bank representative: "Make the bond as high as you like. Make it $500,000 if you want to, I'll get out. The 'big boy' is back of me."

The detectives wonder whether it is not worth much to the Capones, as they trundle off to prison, to have Gus free. It was worth $100,000 bond to get him out, worth the $75,000 more he has offered to pay the unidentified robbers who hold the stolen Lincoln bonds without which the bank and its six correspondents are in danger. Winkler protests his innocence of the Lincoln and the Piano (Ill.) robberies, says he can prove an alibi by documentary evidence in New York, but fears a Lincoln jury will railroad him to the penitentiary. And he told the Secret Six he would die by his own hand first. He makes the apparently magnanimous offer to buy back the Lincoln loot because he wants to be "washed up," prove his innocence, prove he has been mistaken for a double. Tom Slattery, killed in a holdup in Maryland last April, Secret Six agents assert Slattery was almost his twin.

Alexander Jamie, chief of the "Secret Six" said Winkler would be willing to pay as high as $100,000 from his own pocket to the actual robbers for the bonds. Winkler has an "airtight" alibi which probably would prevent his conviction, Jamie said, and "Nebraska officials would be wise to accept his offer."

Towle, before leaving for Western Nebraska on a business trip, said tentative plans had been made for Attorney-General Sorensen to accompany him to Buffalo to investigate Winkler's alibi. Towle said the plan called for their departure next Friday.

DEMOCRATIC PROGRAM READY, GARNER SAYS

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Representative Garner said today the Democrats would have a full legislative program adequate to meet the situation ready to present to the coming Congress.

The Democratic House chieftain made the statement at a conference with newspaper men after his arrival today from his home at Uvalde, Tex. He declined to disclose the nature of the program.

Asked whether the Democrats would organize the House, Garner said that matter still "is in the lap of the gods."

He added that until the House met, Dec. 7, it could not be determined which party would have the greater number of votes.

"I do believe," Garner said, "that we Democrats are in a better position to organize than the Republicans. Our organization has shown greater harmony than exists in the Republican organization."

Asked whether the Democrats might allow the Republicans to organize, Garner asserted that "where responsibility comes to the Democrats we should accept it, and we will."

"Whether the responsibility for the organization of the House or forming a policy for the nation, we should accept it or get out," he continued. "When responsibility is placed on anyone and he does not accept it he might as well die."

Garner's statement was made after Representative Tilson of Connecticut, the Republican leader in the last Congress, asserted his party would present the administration program and go ahead with plans to nominate a candidate for Speaker and take other steps toward organization just as if it had a majority.

At about the same time Representative Snell of New York, who like Tilson has been strongly mentioned for the Republican speakership nomination, said that if the Democrats attempted to prevent the seating of Representative-elect Granata of Illinois, the Republicans would seek to block organization. Granata's election is contested by his Democratic opponent, former Representative Kunz of the Eighth Illinois District.

Garner predicted a Democrat would be elected from the Fourteenth Texas District to succeed the late Representative Harry M. Wurzbach, who was the lone Republican Congressman from Texas.

APPARENT INCOME OF $2,000,000 FOR OLVANY LAW FIRM

INVESTIGATION OF CITY RELIEF FUND

Democratic District Leaders Are Summoned to Appear and Bring the Records of Eight Clubs.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10. — An inflated income of more than $2,000,000 during the four and a half years its senior partner, George W. Olvany, was Tammany chieftain, as shown in the accounts of the Olvany, Eisner & Donnelly law firm when they were examined by the Hofstadter Legislative Committee yesterday.

Olvany's activities during his Tammany leadership will be investigated by Samuel Seabury, counsel of the committee, at a public hearing to be held after evidence in connection with the distribution of the city's $10,000,000 emergency unemployment relief fund has been concluded. The report will be filed with Governor Roosevelt on Wednesday.

Democratic district leaders of Manhattan and the Bronx have been subpenaed to appear and bring with them membership records of eight clubs.

Jacob Gould Schurman Jr., one of Seabury's assistants, has been investigating Olvany's financial and business affairs for several months. Olvany's partners, Mark Eisner and James Donnelly, probably will be examined privately today.

Meanwhile, Alexander I. Rorke, former Assistant District Attorney, refused to divulge names of clients in whose interests he acted as a member of Olvany's firm. He intended that to do so would violate the clients' confidential relations with him as their attorney. Seabury subpenaed him to appear before the full committee at a public hearing Wednesday but said he was undecided what course he would follow.

UNIVERSITY CITY POLICEMAN WOUNDS PURSE SNATCHER

Hero Maid Identifies As Her Pocketbook Thrown Away by Prisoner in Flight.

Robert Holmes, a Negro, who said he lives in the 1700 block of Geyer street, was shot in the left leg by Patrolman Herman Spurgin of University City as he was running from the home of R. E. Henderson, 746 Radcliffe avenue, where police had been called by a neighbor who heard screams coming from the basement.

After capturing Holmes, who, according to Spurgin, ignored a command to halt, the officer returned to the Radcliffe home and learned that a Negro had snatched a purse from Louise Saniford, colored maid, as she was working in the basement. The maid identified a purse which Spurgin said he saw Holmes drop in his flight shortly later, according to police, who identified Holmes.

The Negro was taken to St. Louis County Hospital.

TEXTILE STRIKERS RETURNING TO WORK FIND FEW JOBS

By the Associated Press.

LAWRENCE, Mass., Nov. 10.—A large proportion of the 23,000 mill workers who went on strike two weeks ago against 10 per cent wage reductions capitulated yesterday and returned to the mills, seeking reemployment. Ten men who were loitering nearby or who had come to dissuade them were arrested.

Thousands of those who went back found no work awaiting them, however. Interruption in manufacturing or removal of work by some manufacturers to plants outside the Lawrence district made possible full re-employment impossible in most instances, while one mill normally employing 5400 persons was closed indefinitely.

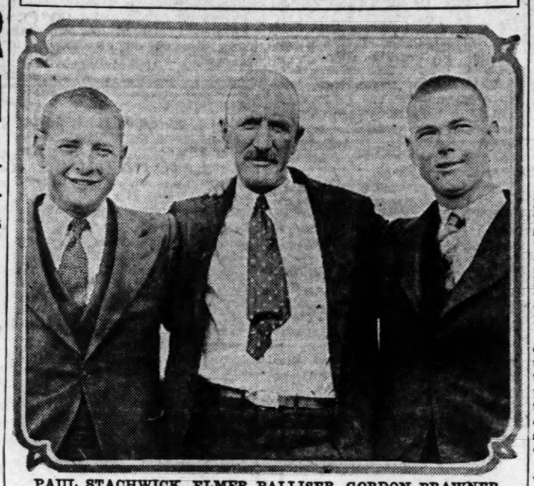

MAN LEAPS FROM BRIDGE, BROTHER IDENTIFIES JACKET

A man thought to be James Moffett, 32 years old, a roofer, leaped to his death from the center span of the Free Bridge at 2 p. m. yesterday. The body was not recovered.

The man, who had removed his shoes, cap and jacket, waved to Peter Anderson, a Negro, of East St. Louis, who was crossing the bridge, before he dived from the railing. His body came to the surface, then sank, Anderson told police.

The jacket and cap were identified by George Moffett, 747 South 22nd street, as the property of his brother, James, who resided at 802 North Fourth street with their mother. George said he saw James at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, and the latter was in good spirits at the time.

WOMAN BREAKS PRISON TO GET EVIDENCE FOR HER HUSBAND

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 10.—Mrs. Irene McCann, 20 years old, serving a 10-year-sentence from Jasper County for second degree murder, escaped early today from the women's department of the penitentiary, after leaving a note for the matron that she was escaping to gather evidence to aid her husband, Albert McCann, who is in the penitentiary for safekeeping pending a Supreme Court decision on his appeal from a death sentence for murder.

Mrs. McCann slipped away from the women's department hospital, where she had been under observation for supposed attacks of appendicitis, and apparently climbed an eight-foot wire fence which incloses the buildings. The department is on a farm adjoining the main prison. She was missed at 4 a. m. today.

In a note left for Mrs. W. R. Gorsuch, the matron, Mrs. McCann said her husband, Albert, was alone and there was no one to help him, so she was "going out" to get evidence in his behalf. McCann, 20, was sentenced to death for the murder of a jailer at Carthage. Mrs. McCann received a 10-year sentence for alleged complicity in the shooting, which occurred in the course of an attempted jail delivery. She was sent to the penitentiary last May 29.

CHICAGO LABOR LEADER SHOT DEAD IN YARD

Killers Escape in Curtained Auto After Slaying at Suburban Home.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Two shotguns thrust through the curtained sides of an automobile were fired last night at Timothy Lynch, labor leader, as he stood beside his garage in suburban Maywood, fatally wounding him. He died 10 minutes later in an Oak Park hospital, where his wife is ill. The assassins escaped.

Lynch, who was 60 years old, was secretary of the West Suburban Teamsters' Union. He took part in politics as a side line, and in that he was as successful as he was as a labor boss.

The police said they thought that his slaying might have been in retaliation for the double killing last July 15 of Barney McCone and Herman Diehn, who were reputed to have attempted to supplant Lynch's union with one of their own. They were shot to death in a saloon.

Lynch was the father of James Lynch, former Assistant State's Attorney of Cook County. For 30 years he had been affiliated with the suburban branch of the teamsters' union, holding various offices, including that of president.

The slayers apparently trailed Lynch as he drove home in his car. He was preparing to put his machine into his garage when slain.

Motive for Deaths in Doubt; Third Suicide in Town Nearby.

By the Associated Press.

ELKHART, Tex., Nov. 10.—Two high school students, a boy 16 years old and a girl 17, committed suicide here and another youth killed himself at Oakwood, 35 miles west of Elkhart, in Leon County late yesterday. The dead are Doris McCann, 17, and Ernest Miller, 16, of Elkhart, and Clyde Kennedy, 19, of Oakwood.

Officials today were unable to determine the motives. Justice of the Peace D. R. Stubblefield said that the McCann girl died from poison and that Miller died of pistol wounds. A verdict that Kennedy's death was caused by poison, self-administered, was returned at Oakwood.

Schoolmates said Doris McCann was too impatient to wait for the school bus yesterday and walked four miles to her home. When she arrived, she was quoted as saying she wanted "a bite to eat." Suddenly she was seized with spasms and died within a short time. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McCann.

Miller left a note for his family and, several hours after the McCann girl's death, was found at his home, shot to death. A pistol lay beside him.

Kennedy, who worked in an ice house at Oakwood, was found dead at about 3 p. m. Four sisters and six brothers survive him.

Relatives and friends said that, although the three young people were acquainted, they never had been close associates.

Kennedy left a note, which said: "Good-by and good luck to my friends and family. Clyde."

Miller's note to his parents said "it's better for me to die now than to disappoint you in life." A poem he had written, entitled "The Last Chapter," mentioned "going to find out about the realm of death."

A schoolmate said Miller, senior student and football player, had told him if he did not finish high school next spring he would kill himself.

1932 AUTO LICENSES BLACK WITH NUMERALS IN WHITE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 10.—Secretary of State Becker today announced the color combination for the 1932 State automobile license plates would be a black background with white numerals and lettering.

A suit over the contract for manufacture of the plates now is pending in the Missouri Supreme Court. The State Penal Board filed a mandamus suit to compel Becker to set aside his award of the contract to the S. G. Adams Co. of St. Louis, on its bid of 13.89 cents a pair of plates, and to compel him to award the contract to the penitentiary on its proposal of 10 cents a pair of plates. The suit is designed to obtain an interpretation of a State law requiring that the contract be awarded to the prison, when it has the necessary machinery to manufacture the plates and offers to manufacture them at a cost equal to or less than the best bid from private manufacturers. The Supreme Court has appointed Ben E. Hulse, attorney of Hannibal, Mo., special commissioner of the Court to take testimony in the mandamus suit. Hulse has been directed to complete the hearings and present his report to the Court by Nov. 23. This order for an early report was issued to avoid delay in manufacture of the plates. The 1932 automobile license year begins Feb. 1.

HOLDUP MAN KILLED, 3 PEDESTRIANS SHOT

San Francisco Police, Called by Radio, in Running Fight With Robbers.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 10.—One robber was killed, two were arrested and three pedestrians were shot in a running fight with police on a busy downtown street here yesterday.

The slain man was thought to be William E. Brown of Detroit, Mich. Police were tracing his frequent telephone calls to that city on the theory he may have been a member of an Eastern gang. His companions were Murray M. Johnson and James Geger, alias Shannon. Both have criminal records. They were arrested in an apartment house not far from the scene of the robbery, a pool hall at Eddy and Leavenworth streets.

The three men had entered the place, lined customers against the wall and robbed the cash register of $400. Someone telephoned police and the warning was sent over the police radio. Two officers cruising in a scout car met the robbers as they emerged from the pool hall door.

Brown, who was known here as Walter Shirley, alias Richard W. Summerlin, started shooting, and police returned the fire. The three were chased two blocks. Brown fled into a garage and was shot to death. Johnson and Geger got away, but soon were found in the nearby apartment.

Mrs. Gus Paross, Philip Goodwin and William Meeker, bystanders, were struck by flying bullets. Their wounds, however, were superficial.

MISSING KANSAS CITY MAN HAD TOLD OF THREAT ON LIFE

Business Associate Says Thad G. Landon Said to Carry On "If They Get Me."

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 10.—D. M. Hollowall, who had been selected as general manager of the airline under promotion by Thad G. Landon, who disappeared mysteriously Saturday morning, said today that Landon recently told him his life had been threatened.

Landon did not divulge the source of the threat, Hollowall said, but declared "everything is set for you to carry on if anything happens to me. If they get me, you go right ahead with the line for my wife's sake."

The missing man's wallet, together with a note, was returned to his home by special delivery mail yesterday. Relatives said today the wallet contained a threatening message to Mrs. Landon and also the threat that the home of his father, Thad G. Landon, was to be bombed.

The note was printed and the package containing the wallet was postmarked Dallas, Tex. Russell Dick, a Kansas City aviator who had been employed to fly a ship on Landon's proposed airline to St. Louis, took off today with Tulsa as his announced destination. He was accompanied by a former Government agent.

WIDOW OF CARAWAY WOULD FILL HIS POST

By the Associated Press.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 10.—Mrs. Hattie Caraway, who became a close student of politics and government during the 25 years which her late husband, Senator T. H. Caraway, spent in public life, is favored to fill out his unexpired term in the United States Senate. Senator Caraway died here Friday night.

Mayor H. J. Bosler of Jonesboro, the home city of the Caraways, said Mrs. Caraway would accept the nomination if it were proffered.

If chosen, she would become the second woman to sit in the United States Senate. Mrs. Rebecca Felton of Georgia was the first woman member of the Senate.

Like her husband, Mrs. Caraway is noted for her quick wit and sharp repartee. When Senator Caraway first ran for the Senate in 1920 Mrs. Caraway worked in his headquarters and received much credit for his election. She was his close adviser in all political matters during his 18 years in Congress, and at all times was familiar with his position on important matters.

Senator and Mrs. Caraway were married in 1902 when both were school teachers in the Crowley Ridge section of Arkansas. She is a native of Tennessee.

Mrs. Caraway has devoted much time within the last few years to her home in Maryland—an old Colonial house which Senator Caraway purchased several years ago, known as the Lord Baltimore Mansion.

Two of the Caraways' three sons are graduates of the United States Military Academy—Paul and Forrest. The other son, Robert, who is 15 years old, is in school.

DOCTOR SHOT DEAD IN GARAGE AFTER EARLY MORNING CALL

Clothing Powder Burned, but No Weapon Is Found—Billfold on Floor.

By the Associated Press.

NORTH ATTLEBORO, Mass., Nov. 10.—Dr. Frederick J. Carley, 53 years old, was shot to death in his garage here early today, under unexplained circumstances.

Dr. Carley, who was a member of the staff of Sturdy Memorial Hospital, was called at 4:30 a. m. on a maternity case. He returned to his home, and his body, a bullet under the heart, was found at 8 o'clock. The weapon had been held so close to his body that clothing bore powder burns. No weapon was found. Although an empty billfold and a check book were found on the garage floor, Dr. Jesse W. Battershall, medical examiner, who viewed the body, declined to give a verdict of murder.

The lights of Dr. Carley's automobile and of the garage were burning when the body was found. Members of his household said they heard no noise.

TELLS OF 'EVIDENCE' AT EMBEZZLER'S TRIAL

Banker Says He Didn't Know Papers Were to Be Used in Favor of Bryan Pitts.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Emory L. Coblentz, former banker of Frederick, Md., described today the circumstances under which he signed allegedly spurious authorizations used as evidence in the conspiracy-embezzlement trial of officers of the F. H. Smith Co., investment house.

Coblentz, with G. Bryar Pitts, former president of the Smith company; John H. Edwards Jr., vice president, and others, are under indictment for perjury in connection with introduction of the authorizations. Pitts, now in prison, said these justified him in receiving money the Government charged he embezzled.

Edwards, also serving a prison sentence, testified in District of Columbia Supreme Court earlier in the day that the authorizations were spurious.

Coblentz said he signed the authorizations, but with the understanding they were not to be used at Pitts' trial on the embezzlement charges.

Edwards said nearly 100 spurious documents were introduced at the trial of Pitts.

The witness said before Justice Letts in the District of Columbia Supreme Court that Coblentz, head of a chain of banks in nearby Maryland, which closed their doors recently, went to the Pitts home in Palm Beach in September, 1930. He signed several of the documents while there, Edwards said, using three or four different pens and several different kinds of ink.

The hearing before Justice Letts today was on a motion to cite Pitts for contempt of court because of charges that he introduced false evidence at his trial last fall.

BAD WEATHER HALTS SHIPS SEARCHING FOR 11 MEN ADRIFT

Ten in Lifeboat and One on Raft Observed by Airplane Pilot off Coast of Colombia.

By the Associated Press.

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 10.—Tropical Radio Station here was informed that the steamers Costa Rica and Geisha, cruising the Caribbean Sea near Cartagena in a search for 11 castaways, were forced by inclement weather early today to halt their search. They stood by to resume as soon as possible.

Capt. Frank Ormsbee, Pan-American Airways pilot, saw the men as he flew a seaplane from Cristobal, C. Z., to Barranquilla, Colombia.

The Dutch steamer Costa Rica and the Norwegian steamer Geisha, acting on the pilot's information, reached the vicinity of the drifting men shortly before midnight. They reported their arrival on the scene by radio to Panama City, after advising Radio Marine Corporation at West Palm Beach, Fla., that they had joined the search.

Ormsbee's message was sent to the flying company's Cristobal base and a report later was relayed here. He said the lifeboat carried 10 men while oon clung to a raft. Wreckage, including many gasoline drums, floated about them. High waves and a 25-mile wind prevented Ormsbee from setting his seaplane down for a rescue, he said.

FRESH SUIT TO TEST REDISTRICTING ACT

Henri Chouteau Attacks Right to Elect Missouri Congressmen at Large.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 10.—A new legal proceeding, designed to determine whether Missouri has 13 congressional districts or none at all, was filed in Cole County Circuit Court here by Henri Chouteau of St. Louis.

Chouteau wishes to run for the Republican nomination for Congress in the new Ninth Missouri District, as constituted in the bill passed by the last Legislature, but vetoed by Gov. Caulfield. The proceeding is an injunction suit to restrain the Secretary of State from accepting any official declarations of candidacy for Congressmen-at-large. Hearing of the application was set for Friday before Judge Stillwell.

Secretary of State Becker officially holds that no congressional district boundaries now exist in the State, and that all candidates for Missouri's 13 seats in Congress next year will have to run at large. Mandamus proceedings are pending in the Supreme Court to compel him to accept the filing of John J. Carroll of St. Louis as a candidate for the Democratic nomination in the new Tenth District.

Carroll and Chouteau are contending that the Governor's veto was ineffective, as they say the redistricting measure did not require the Governor's signature. The Minnesota Supreme Court, in a similar case in that State, decided that the Governor's veto was void and the redistricting act was in force.

A new map of St. Louis, as to State senatorial districts for the 1932 election, has been drawn by Miss Emma Bobb, chief clerk of the St. Louis Election Board, for the use of the Circuit Judges, who may alter it as they see fit. In the reapportionment of the State as to senatorial districts, done by the Governor, Secretary of State and Attorney-General Shartel, seven of the State's 34 districts were given to St. Louis, instead of the former six. It is the duty of the Circuit Judges to fix the ward and precinct boundaries of these seven districts within the city, and Miss Bobb made her tentative map for their guidance. She said that her aim was to form compact and contiguous districts, of approximately equal population, without considering the partisan complexion of different sections.

Whatever the Judges do, their action will probably be attacked in the courts by the Democratic State Committee, which will contend that the State officials acted without legal authority. The Constitution says that these officials shall redistrict the State, as to senatorial districts, when the Legislature fails to do so, as the last Legislature failed.

La Follette yesterday asked 750 Wisconsin industries to put into effect a plan whereby employment may be increased by dividing the available jobs between the workers who now have them and those who were laid off. Harry Adams, president of the Western Pacific, and Ralph Budd, head of the Great Northern Railway, were selected to drive a gold spike at Bieber this afternoon commemorating the linking of the two systems. The junction of the two lines at Bieber was effected by building 200 miles of road in Northern California at a cost of about $14,500,000.

FOSHAY WOMAN JUROR GETS 10 DAYS TO PREPARE DEFENSE

By the Associated Press.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 10.—Shaping of defense plans for Mrs. Genevieve A. Clark, only woman juror in the W. B. Foshay trial, was started today by her counsel in an attempt to free her from charges of perjury in a contempt of court proceedings.

Testimony in support of the charges was presented yesterday by the Government and a 10-day recess granted the defense to prepare its case for Mrs. Clark, whose lone stand for acquittal of the Minneapolis promoter and six aids in their recent trial on mail fraud charges resulted in discharge of the jury when it could not reach a verdict.

While Mrs. Clark denies she remembered having once been employed by Foshay when she was examined for trial service, two women who awaited examination with her testified she mentioned it to them and wondered if it would disqualify her. They said she expressed a strong desire to serve on the jury, saying she had "special reasons" for wanting to do so.

NEW DRY BUREAU IN BOSTON

Robert W. Coyne Named Special Agent in Charge of Office.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Robert W. Coyne, present assistant prohibition administrator at Chicago, has been appointed special agent in charge of the new regional bureau at Boston. Prohibition Director Woodcock said establishment of the Boston office did not mean a special enforcement drive would be made in that vicinity. It was merely a matter of more efficient administration. The primary problems facing Coyne, the director said, are smuggling and conspiracies to violate the prohibition law.

Coyne has not been in the Government service long. Prior to being made assistant administrator at Chicago he was an instructor in the school for prohibition agents. He is a lawyer by profession and was educated at Georgetown University in Washington.

MRS. C. H. MACKAY'S HAND CUT IN AUTO COLLISION

Former Opera Singer Suffered No Other Injury, X-Ray Examination Shows.

By the Associated Press.

MINEOLA, N. Y., Nov. 10.—Mrs. Clarence Mackay, formerly Anna Case, the opera singer, escaped with nothing more than a cut hand when her car collided with another yesterday, authorities at Nassau County Hospital disclosed today.

When she was taken to the hospital yesterday, X-rays were taken to determine whether there were any internal injuries. Today Dr. Benjamin Seaman examined the plates, and found they showed no injuries. Mrs. Mackay was at home today.

Her car, driven by a chauffeur, was forced to veer suddenly to one side of the road when another machine darted from a side road. The Mackay car struck still another machine before it could be brought to a stop. The accident occurred six miles from the Mackay estate at Roslyn.

Mrs. Mackay, throwing up one arm to ward off flying glass, was cut about one hand.

KILLS WIFE AND SHOOTS SELF

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 10.—Mrs. Marion M. Harris, beauty operator in a downtown department store, was killed in her home here yesterday. Her husband, Lewis G. Harris, automobile salesman, was wounded. Police say apparently Harris killed his wife and attempted suicide.

Their boy, 11 years old, returning home from school, found his mother's body. Close by, with a bullet in his brain, a revolver clutched in his hand, lay his father. A note on a table asked the boy to tell officers to call three Indianapolis physicians.

3 OFFICERS OF STOCK FIRMS INDICTED FOR MAIL FRAUD

Two Boston Men and Woman Said to Have Sold $1,000,000 in Securities.

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—Three officers of the Founders Securities Co. and the United Investment Assurance Trust which, Federal authorities said, have sold stock priced at more than $1,000,000 to 23,000 investors, are charged with using the mails to defraud.

Those secretly indicted by a Federal grand jury and who pleaded not guilty in Federal Court yesterday were Stephen J. Richards of Needham, held in $5000 bond; Charles W. Seager of Brookline, held in $5000, and Miss Margaret L. Powers, held in $1500.

Assistant United States Attorney Haven Parker said the case involved 23,000 stockholders of small means throughout the nation. Civil suits involving the two companies have been before a Master here for two months.

Miss Powers, in addition to being secretary of both corporations, was trustee of the Founders Securities Co.

The indictments charge false statements were sent through the mails in 1928 and 1929 to induce people to buy stock.

COL. I. N. LEWIS DIES; MACHINE GUN INVENTOR

Collapses in Drug Store at Hoboken, N. J., While Talking to Friend.

By the Associated Press.

HOBOKEN, N. J., Nov. 10.—Col. Isaac N. Lewis of Montclair, N. J., inventor and scientist, whose machine gun was an outstanding weapon in the World War, died of a heart attack yesterday in a drug store adjoining the Lackawanna Railroad terminal, where he was waiting for a train. He was 73 years old.

Col. Lewis was talking with an old friend, Emerson Brooks, founder of the national organization of Boy Rangers, when he collapsed. He died before a physician could reach him. He had been troubled with a weak heart for several years, but appeared well when he left home for his daily visit to his office in New York.

The British Government was quick to utilize Lewis' machine gun, but he experienced years of difficulty in obtaining recognition for it by the United States War Department. A test by the American air forces finally convinced the War Department of its acceptability.

During the World War more than 100,000 Lewis machine guns were used by the Allied armies. At one period during the fighting the British Government detached 500,000 men from active duty to train them in the use of the weapon.

At one time Lewis made a dramatic appeal to the Senate Military Affairs Committee and wept as he described his rebuffs by the War Department.

The adoption of the gun by the British brought him millions of dollars in royalties.

A graduate of West Point in the class of 1884, his interests in engineering were directed towards the field of ordnance. One of the first things he invented was a depression range finder for use in artillery firing. Tests were made and a board of ordnance and fortification in 1896 advised its general adoption by the army as a basis for the elaborate system of artillery fire control later installed in all American coast defenses.

Lewis was born in New Salem, Pa., and on Oct. 21, 1886, married Miss Mary Wheatley, daughter of the Rev. Richard Wheatley of New York. Four children were born of this union, George, Richard W., Laura and Margaret.

INVESTMENT BANKER KILLED IN PLUNGE AT CHICAGO HOTEL

Detroit Man Jumps Head First Out of Eleventh-Story Window Above Michigan Boulevard.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—A man identified by police and officers of a downtown hotel as Curtis G. Dunham, an investment banker of Detroit, Mich., jumped out of an eleventh floor window early today and was killed.

Dunham, they said, registered at the hotel nine days ago, giving his address as the Book Cadillac Hotel in Detroit. He was a victim of a nervous breakdown, hotel officers said, and placed himself under treatment of the house physician. Last night he was more nervous than usual and a nurse, Mildred McClellan, was assigned to care for him.

Early today, Miss McClellan said, he arose from his chair, shover her across the room in a clothes closet and then, leaped head first out of the window, falling on Michigan boulevard.

OHIO BANKER PLEADS GUILTY DURING TRIAL; SENT TO PRISON

Former Cashier at Leesburg Gets Not More Than 30 Years for Making False Entry.

By the Associated Press.

HILLSBORO, O., Nov. 10.—Charles Redkey, former cashier of the defunct Leesburg Bank at Leesburg, near here, was sentenced to not more than 30 years in Ohio penitentiary yesterday after he interrupted the testimony in his trial on a charge of making a false entry to enter a plea of guilty.

The State had presented its fourth witness, C. R. Lawrence, a state banking examiner, who identified a purported confession of Redkey in which he was alleged to have admitted the embezzlement of $60,000, when the defense asked for a recess. At the conclusion of the period defense entered a guilty plea for Redkey.

The Court immediately passed sentence and Sheriff G. S. Miller said he would remove Redkey to the state prison either today or tomorrow.

WAR ACE TURNS BOOTLEGGER

Says He Did It to Carry Family Through Hard Times.

By the Associated Press.

PEORIA, Ill., Nov. 10.—Grover Cole, ace of the Royal Canadian Air Forces in the World War, pleaded guilty of selling liquor yesterday before Federal Judge Louis FitzHenry. An application for probation was taken under consideration.

Cole and his wife were arrested following a raid on their small restaurant. Defense counsel told the Court that Cole had shot down four German planes in the World War, had been shot down himself three times and that his body bore 11 bullet wounds. Cole told Judge FitzHenry he turned to bootlegging to carry his family through the hard times. He said he expected a position shortly as a pilot with an air line.

Even the walrus in a nonsense rhyme remembers to be serious when he mentions anything as important as bread. Grandmother's White Bread is everybody's bread. It is just as much at home served in thin buttered slices on a Crown Derby plate as it is in a prairie farmhouse where the whole loaf is put on the red tablecloth with a bread knife beside it. Fine and sturdy qualities endure in any surroundings. That is why Grandmother's White Bread, made from fine and nourishing ingredients, is overwhelmingly popular throughout the country.

CHILD BEFORE GRAND JURY TO TELL OF CLOSET PRISON

Brother Who Told of Treatment of Edith Riley, 13, Goes to Court With Her.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Edith Riley, 13 years old, an almost inarticulate little girl, went before a grand jury today to be questioned about reports that she spent most of four years as a prisoner in a closet at her home.

With her went her brother, Francis, 15, whose stories of Edith's treatment by her father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. Harry N. Riley, led to a police investigation.

Mr. and Mrs. Riley were excluded from the proceedings, in which a warrant charging them with mistreating Edith was presented for action.

The father is in jail because he could not give $2500 bond pending action by the grand jury on Edith's case. Mrs. Riley gave bond.

Malcom Annadale, maternal uncle of the children, has asked for custody of both of them, but Judge Kathryn Sellers has postponed decision until tomorrow. She turned the boy over to the Board of Public Welfare. It was he who told a cousin that Edith had been locked in a windowless closet for years. Investigation by relatives of their dead mother brought police action.

At a hospital the little girl is showing a steady reaction to kind treatment. A gift of a big doll brought the first laugh from her, and nurses say she has shown no specific signs of mental subnormality. The parents have contended she was locked up because of imbecility.

Woman Killed in Auto Accident.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CENTRALIA, Ill., Nov. 10.—Mrs. Estella Robinson of Roanoke died on the way to a Centralia hospital of a broken neck suffered in an automobile accident 12 miles north of here last midnight. Her daughter, Esther, and Tillman Tamson of Norman were injured.

RAILWAY WAGE CUT PROPOSED BY BANKERS

Savings Thus Made Would Go Into Fund to Build Up Credit.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Nov. 10.—The Investment Bankers' Association yesterday urged the establishment of a national revolving fund and a cut in wages to preserve and build up the credit of America's railroads, whose earnings, the association's committee reported, will probably be less this year than in the post-war deflation year of 1921

The association did not suggest a source for the revolving fund, but Lee L. Daly of St. Louis, spokesman of the committee, interpreted the report to the convention as recommending "a reduction in wages for a revolving fund." There was no other explanation of the fund plan.

Discussing the real estate bond situation, the association decided that prompt action by bondholders' protective committees, acting publicly, rather than behind closed doors, will do much to preserve real estate bond values. The Real Estate Committee estimated that about 60 per cent, or $?,500,000,000 of real estate bonds are in distress.

The association took action to protect the holders of more than $7,000,000,000 of foreign bonds in America, by empowering the Institute of International Finance to oppose the issuance of bonds for foreign countries that have defaulted on interest. The institute is supported by the association, and its opposition, it is argued, would amount to a capital blockade against a defaulting foreign borrower.

Aid for Railroads.

The railroad report recommended for the solution of rail difficulties:

"Greater freedom to the railroads to meet effectively, by rate changes, the competition of other forms of transportation.

"The appointment of a commission to take into consideration the problems arising out of the growth of all forms of competing transportation; to make recommendations of measures designed for their regulation and co-ordination, and to recommend legislation that would enable railroads to compete fairly with new and old forms of transportation."

The Real Estate Committee said many bondholders' protective committees were indifferent to the interests of investors, it recommended public exposure of committees which attempted to acquire control of property or which exacted unreasonable fees. It said that if these evils were eliminated much might be salvaged from defaulted real estate issues.

Aviation Readjustment.

The Foreign Securities' Committee expressed faith in ultimate recovery of foreign dollar bonds, and the Aviation Committee said readjustment of that industry had been completed. The stability of the Federal land banks was praised by the Government and Farm Loan Bonds Committee, which supported legislative measures to permit merger of joint stock land banks in certain areas, and attacked the proposal to declare a moratorium on agricultural debts.

Mergers were found valuable in the field of oil and gas by the Oil and Gas Committee, which expected new industrial uses of natural gas to help in this field.

The Investment Trust Committee recommended full publicity about the inner workings of such trusts, and described as dangerous the purchases of stocks from affiliated organizations.

PARAMOUNT - PUBLIX CHANGES

John Hertz, William Wrigley Jr., A. D. Lasker on Board.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—New interests in the Paramount-Publix Corporation received official status yesterday when three Chicagoans —John Hertz, William Wrigley Jr. and Albert D. Lasker—were elected to the board. There was one vacancy and Albert A. Kaufman and Daniel Frohman resigned. The directors also elected William H. English to the newly created office of chairman of the board and Hertz was chosen a member of the Finance Committee in place of English.

The board also declared the dividend of 2½ per cent, payable in stock as in the previous quarter, equalling one-fortieth of a share for each share held. This dividend is payable Dec. 21, to stockholders of record Dec. 4.

RECEIVER FOR UTILITY FIRM

Lon J. Jester to Direct Mid-West States Holding Company.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday appointed Lon J. Jester, Chicago, as receiver for Mid-West States Utilities, operator of the Lincoln Power Co. of Oklahoma and of several telephone systems in Illinois, Wisconsin, Kansas, Iowa, Arkansas, Texas and Minnesota.

Attorneys for Bowes & Co., Chicago, filed a claim for $4000 against the utility company. Equity proceedings, filed with the claim, said the company has assets considerably in excess of liabilities, but needs funds for current obligations. The petition also states that several of the subsidiary firms have defaulted payments of interest and principal on bond issues. The utility company deals with securities of the subsidiary concerns, it was stated.

$3,660,092 TAX ABATEMENT

Overassessment of Orsatti & Co. Wiped Off Government Books.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—An abatement of $3,660,092 to Orsatti & Co., Los Angeles, and five members of the Orsatti family for overassessment of income and profits taxes, penalties and interest in the six years beginning with 1921 was made today by the Internal Revenue Bureau.

The abatement, which wipes off the bureau's books assessments made but never collected, was ordered by the board of tax appeals. The company and Mary, Alfred P., Victor, Carmelita and Estella Orsatti each received an abatement of $611,682.

MAN HURT IN CRASH AT GRAND - OLIVE DIES

Harry V. Black in Auto Which Upset — 145th Traffic Fatality of Year.

Harry V. Black, 28 years old, a salesman, died at City Hospital yesterday of a fractured skull and other injuries suffered early Sunday when his automobile was upset following a collision with another machine at Grand boulevard and Olive street.

Black, who lived at 5043 Chippewa street, was driving north in Grand at 3:30 a. m., when his machine was struck by a rented automobile driven by Austin Ardolina, a student, 4520 Forest Park avenue. Nadine Holzhauer, 13 years old, 4563 McMillan avenue, who, with her mother, was a passenger in Black's car, suffered a fractured leg. Ardolina was cut and bruised.

This death brought the number of fatalities from motor vehicle accidents in the city since Jan. 1 to 145, as compared with 133 on the corresponding date last year.

Police today learned of the death at City Hospital No. 2 Saturday night of George Whitney, 57, a Negro, 4306 Garfield avenue, of injuries suffered on Oct. 30, when he was struck by a motor cycle operated by Charles Reynolds, a Negro, 3433 Hickory street. Whitney was hit while attempting to cross the street in front of 4246 Page boulevard. Reynolds was thrown from the motor cycle, suffering a fractured nose.

Ray Kaemmerer, Belleville, was severely bruised yesterday afternoon when he was caught between two trucks at the East St. Louis Gasoline Co., Tenth and State streets, where he is employed. Kaemmerer was attempting to crank a truck which was in gear when it ran against him. He was taken to St. Mary's Hospital.

ASKS LEGISLATORS TO SUPPORT ADDED FEDERAL BUILDING FUND

The Chamber of Commerce has requested the Congressmen and Senators from Missouri to support the movement to appropriate more money for construction of the new Federal Building at Twelfth and Market streets, when Congress convenes next month. The chamber's letter pointed out that the Treasury Department and Budget Bureau would recommend a supplemental appropriation.

Congressman Cochran has said the officials would ask for about $1,000,000, which they think will be enough to complete the 10-story structure planned. A building of this size will accommodate all Government offices here, but if more money is not provided a smaller one must be erected and the Government will have to continue paying rent for 10 offices now scattered about the city. Because of the desirability of transferring all the offices to a single Government-owned building, the chamber spoke of the additional appropriation as "necessary from the economic standpoint."

WOMAN SUES EX-HUSBAND FOR BREACH OF PROMISE

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Olive Lee Hall has sued Harrie Lee Hall, manufacturer, for $100,000 for alleged breach of promise to remarry. Judge David yesterday asked five attorneys what they thought of the case. Four voted that Mrs. Hall had no cause for action. The fifth, Benjamin Davis of the firm of Socrates and Davis, representing Mrs. Hall, said she had the right to sue. At this juncture, however, the Judge said that Socrates was unable to be present, and the case went over until Saturday.

"If no law can be found by Saturday I will make law," said the Judge. "I will rule at that time that an ex-wife receiving her alimony from an ex-husband cannot sue that ex-husband for breach of promise to remarry no matter what he may have said to her in a weak moment."

GLORIA SWANSON WED AGAIN IN YUMA, ARIZ.

Goes Through Second Ceremony With Broker She Married in New York.

By the Associated Press.

YUMA, Ariz., Nov. 10.—Gloria Swanson, movie star, and her latest husband, Michael Farmer, wealthy sportsman, were remarried here yesterday by Justice of the Peace Earl A. Freeman.

The couple motored to Yuma from Hollywood, Cal., and went through a marriage ceremony which apparently cleared away all legal complications arising from a previous wedding, solemnized before the actress' divorce from her third husband became final.

The divorce in question, from Marquis de la Falaise de la Cudray, was made final yesterday in Superior Court at Los Angeles. Simultaneously a license was filed in Elmsford, N. Y., showing that Miss Swanson married Farmer there last Aug. 16. This was two days after the couple arrived in New York from Europe on the same liner.

Immediately after the ceremony yesterday the couple left Yuma. They said they would return to Hollywood. Miss Swanson wore a brown coat, light tan dress, small brown hat and brown and white sport shoes. Farmer was dressed in a bluish gray business suit.

The bride gave her age as 31 in applying for the license, and Farmer said he was 29. Farmer entered his place of birth as Cork, Ireland, and his occupation as broker. Miss Swanson said she was born in Chicago.

Under the California law the actress was not a divorced woman at the time of her marriage to Farmer in New York, a year ago she got an interlocutory decree, which does not sever the marital bond but only gives a person the right to obtain a divorce a year later.

Miss Swanson's counsel in Los Angeles said she had a perfect defense against a possible bigamy charge because she had not lived with Farmer since the New York marriage. Farmer is the actress' fourth husband.

At Los Angeles the following telegram from her was made public:

"I was given legal advice in New York that such a marriage would not conflict with the laws of California relating to interlocutory decrees and would be perfectly valid. After the New York marriage, I was advised by telephone from Los Angeles by my attorney, Lloyd Wright, that the marriage was not valid in California. For this reason Mr. Farmer and I did not admit the previous marriage and have been awaiting the expiration of the year of the interlocutory decree to be remarried."

TO STUDY RAIL MERGER PLAN

I. C. C. to Decide Whether It Will Give Up Five-System Scheme.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—A study of the plan of Eastern transportation leaders to consolidate $10,000,000,000 worth of railroads into four big systems was ordered by the Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday.

The inquiry will be directed by Commissioner Claude R. Porter, who had charge of the original consolidation study, out of which grew the commission's proposal that Eastern lines be merged into five systems. He will be assisted by Examiner Irving L. Koch. Hearings will begin Jan. 6. The study does not mean the Eastern consolidation question will be disposed of. It merely means the commission will decide whether to give up its five-system plan. A decision favoring the four-system plan would mean each system would have to come to the commission with its own problems. This might take a year or two, although the applicants already have control of most of the trackage to be absorbed.

ROBBER SLAIN, TWO CAPTURED

Fired on by Posse Waiting at Twin Falls (Idaho) Bank.

By the Associated Press.

TWIN FALLS, Idaho, Nov. 10.—One of three men who robbed the Hazelton State Bank at Hazleton, Idaho, yesterday was shot and killed by possemen who had been warned that an attempt to hold up the bank would be made and were waiting for the robbers to appear.

Two robbers, one of whom was shot in the hand, were captured, and the stolen money, $1300 to $1600, was recovered.

TARDY EXPLOSION BURIES 15

All but Two of Victims Thought to Have Been Killed.

By the Associated Press.

HAUENSTEIN, Germany, Nov. 10.—Belated explosion of a charge of dynamite in a sandstone quarry here yesterday buried 15 persons, workmen and onlookers, under an avalanche of rock. All but two are thought to have been killed.

Six bodies were removed with the two survivors, who were seriously injured. The explosion occurred just as the laborers and spectators approached to find out why the dynamite had not exploded.

Ford Buys Land at Escanaba, Mich.

By the Associated Press.

ESCANABA, Mich., Nov. 10. — Purchase of 500 acres of muck land west of Gladstone by the Ford Motor Co., for use as home sites for employes of the proposed Gladstone Ford plant was announced yesterday by E. G. Kingsford, Ford representative in the upper peninsula.

DISABLED PACKET TOWED IN Cape Verde Boat Picked Up Off Massachusetts Coast.

By the Associated Press.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Nov. 10. —The packet Arthur James, 59 days out of Cape Verde Islands, was towed into this port by the Coast Guard boat Marion last night with a disabled rudder and a captain indignant over tales of starvation aboard his sailing ship. She carried a crew of 17 and a passenger list of nine.

Early reports were that the passengers and crew had exhausted the provisions of the packet, which ordinarily makes the run from the islands to New Bedford in 35 days, and were suffering from hunger and lack of fuel. Navigating Officer Elizieu Neves, speaking for Capt. Fortunado Alves, said that reports were exaggerated but that they were glad to get sugar and bread and tobacco.

Baking expert reveals secret of her famous

Banana Cake

How would you like to bake a prize-winning cake? How would you like to bake a cake such as your husband, your family and your friends have never before tasted? How would you like to do it in less time, with less effort and at less cost than you ever dreamed possible? And with no chance of failure? Let Erma Giffen Gregory tell you how.

Up and down the Pacific Coast, women by the thousands sing the praises of Erma Giffen Gregory, whose cooking magic has enabled them to transform ordinary meals into delightful events, and whose baking secrets have been made public thru Mrs. Gregory's lectures and demonstrations at the Fresno Bee Cooking School.

Thruout her lectures and demonstrations, Mrs. Gregory constantly tells the women who come to learn her methods that the real secret of good baking is good flour . . . and that the most satisfactory flour any woman can use is Jenny Wren. In baking her famous banana cake, for instance, Mrs. Gregory uses this recipe:

1½ cups of sugar
¾ cup of shortening
4 tablespoons sweet milk
2 eggs
2 cups Jenny Wren Ready-Mixed Flour
½ cup nuts
1 cup of mashed bananas

First, sift flour well. Cream the butter. Add the sugar, and cream well. Add egg yolks unbeaten. Add sweet milk. Add flour. Add bananas and nuts. Add vanilla. Add whites well beaten. Bake in layers or loaf pan. Layer-bake at 400 degrees for 20 minutes. Loaf-bake at 350 degrees for 50 minutes.

That's all there is to it. But what a marvelous cake it is to eat—what a delightful surprise to set in front of your family and guests. And how impossible to make with any flour but Jenny Wren.

For Jenny Wren is a new kind of flour. It makes good baking quick, easy and sure because all the hard-to-mix dry ingredients are blended into it in the exact proportions necessary for perfect results.

When you use Jenny Wren, you do not add baking powder, salt, soda, yeast or any other leavening agent. You take no chances on inaccurate measurements or omissions. It's just one—two—three . . . the work's all done.

Suppose you get a package and see for yourself. Bake your family one of Mrs. Gregory's famous Banana Cakes—and notice how highly they praise it. Your grocer sells Jenny Wren under a guarantee of satisfaction or your money back.

And if you want a real treat for breakfast, ask your grocer for JENNY WREN WHEAT CENTERS that delightful new breakfast dish in the big 32-oz. package.

MORE CAVALRY NEEDED, SAYS HEAD OF CORPS

Major-General Henry Says There Are Not Enough Horsemen for Training Camps.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10. — Reductions in the strength of the cavalry brought a mild protest from its chief today in his annual report to Secretary of War Hurley.

Major-General Guy V. Henry said the cavalry's enlisted strength had been reduced during the year to 7959, a drop of 369 men. Of these, 342 were transferred to the Air Corps.

He said there is not sufficient cavalry in the Boston, New York, Baltimore and Columbus (O.) corps areas "for the efficient summer training of the organized reserves, reserve officers' training corps and citizens' military training camp units." He asserted reduction of the authorized number of private mounts for officers from two to one is "fraught with great disadvantages."

The reduction was effected in 1929 to save money, as the Government provides $200 a year for maintenance of each private mount owned by an officer.

Gen. Henry contended that under the old system better horsemanship resulted and the horses were in better condition.

The report said the morale of the cavalry was high, but added that "many cavalry officers are sorely pressed financially," due to inadequate pay.

Mechanization of the cavalry to keep abreast of modern developments was approved, although not to the extent of putting the horse troops out of business.

Studies thus far have indicated, the report said, that the use of mechanized equipment is "limited in combat" and that it "does not supplant either cavalry or infantry, but must be had in addition thereto."

It was recommended that all horse troops be provided with modern equipment, including anti-armored vehicle weapons and light trucks to replace the mule-drawn escort wagon, if found practicable.

The fire-power of the cavalry regiment was reported as having been greatly increased by the substitution of an air-cooled light machine gun for the machine rifle.

Wealthy Dade County Man Warned in Letter of Scheme to Seize Grandchild.

By the Associated Press.

COFFEYVILLE, Kan., Nov. 10. —Authorities here disclosed today that Benton Wilson, wealthy Dade County (Mo.) oil man, had been warned in an anonymous letter of a plot to kidnap his grandchild, born last February to his daughter, Mrs. Alma Wilson McKinley, who was kidnaped for ransom Oct. 13, 1930, and released 24 hours later.

Wilson, officers said, left here yesterday for his home in Greenfield, Mo., after he and officers had waited in vain for a telephone call by which the writer of the letter desired to arrange for a meeting with the oil man to obtain $41 to "get out of the country."

Wilson told officers the letter, mailed Oct. 31 from Coffeyville, stated the writer, purporting to be a woman involved in the kidnaping of Mrs. McKinley, had been approached by others with a request to care for the child after the kidnaping had been effected but that she had objected.

The writer directed Wilson to register at a Coffeyville hotel, advertise in a newspaper of his presence and await the telephone call, officers said. Following her release, Mrs. McKinley told officers a man about 26 or 27 years old kidnaped her from the Wilson farm home on the outskirts of Greenfield, demanded $60,000 in a note he left for her father, but later released her on a promise that she would deliver $10,000 to him. No attempt was made to carry out the promise.

BODY THOUGHT TO BE THAT OF HARRY POWERS' FRIEND

Killer of 5 Persons Had Been Seen Frequently With Man Found Dead in West Virginia.

By the Associated Press.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 10. —The body of a man that police say may be that of Stamatias Sfikas, 40 years old, of Chicago, a friend of Harry F. Powers, held here as the killer of five persons, was found on Pinnickinnick Hill, near here today. Condition of the body indicated death some time ago. Sheriff W. B. Grimm said the identification was not positive.

The body was found in underbrush by two Negroes. Near it was a .38-caliber revolver but investigators had not determined whether the man had been shot.

Sfikas was last seen June 10. Powers, who is charged with killing Mrs. Dorothy Lemke of Northboro, Mass., and Mrs. Asta Buick Eicher and her three children of Park Ridge, Ill., was seen frequently with Sfikas prior to the latter's disappearance, police said.

A presentment in the Powers case was expected today since Chief of Police Clarence A. Duckworth was summoned before the grand jury and Will E. Morris, Prosecuting Attorney, requested that the jury make a report of its findings.

LACLEDE POWER ASKS FOR HEARING ON SALE

Said to Wish to Oppose Union Electric Proposal to Buy Its Stock.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 10. — The Laclede Power & Light Co., only competitor of the Union Electric Light & Power Co. of St. Louis, today filed application with the Public Service Commission for a hearing on the proposal of Union Electric to acquire voting trust certificates for 3330 shares, or 26 per cent of the stock issue of Laclede Power. It is understood that Laclede Power now wishes to oppose the proposal.

When the commission held a hearing on the application of Union Electric, Nov. 2, no representative of Laclede Power appeared, though that company had been notified. Today's application was filed by Otto & Potter of Jefferson City as counsel for Laclede Power. It named also Fordyce, Holliday & White of St. Louis as counsel for the company. Both firms also represent the Utilities Power & Light Corporation of Chicago, the holding concern which holds the stock both of Laclede Power and of the Laclede Gas Light Co.

The application states that Laclede Power is an interested party in the matter, and that it has important evidence and representations in connection with the pending application. In the hearing of Nov. 2 the only witness heard was Louis H. Egan, president of Union Electric. He was asked why no one else was present, and replied he had expected Laclede Power to be represented, and that its failure to be represented was not due to any understanding with him.

The stock which Union Electric wishes to acquire in its competitor, Laclede Power, is now held by affiliated concerns of the North American Co., holding corporation for Union Electric and other power companies. If acquired by Union Electric, it would entitle Union Electric to a representative on the governing board of Laclede Power.

A man who said he was Charles A. Lester surrendered at Police Headquarters last night and told detectives that he had shot his wife, Mrs. Lula Lester, at Bunker, Mo., last Friday morning.

Lester said he became enraged over his wife's conduct, shot her and did not stop to see how seriously she was injured. He gave an address in the 4300 block of Page boulevard as his St. Louis residence. He was held pending investigation.

Student Killed in Anti-Semitic Riot.

VILMA, Poland, Nov. 10. — A student was killed today in an anti-semitic riot at the local university and it was expected that the school would be closed tonight. A group stood at the gates today to prevent the entry of Jewish students. A fight ensued and serious injuries were inflicted upon several.

Akron on Training Cruise.

TRIAL OF MRS. JUDD SET FOR NEXT MONTH

1000 Persons Fight to Get Into Hearing for Confessed Slayer.

By the Associated Press.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 10.—Indicating that all possible speed would be made in bringing to trial Mrs. Winnie Ruth Judd, confessed slayer of two women, County Attorney Lloyd Andrews today said he had filed two informations in Superior Court charging her with murder.

Mrs. Judd was bound over to Superior Court yesterday following a brief preliminary hearing. Andrews said she would be arraigned Monday and the trial would start probably early in December.

Mrs. Judd confessed killing Mrs. Agnes Le Roi and Miss Hedvig Samuelson, asserting she did so in self-defense. She later placed their bodies in trunks which she sent to Los Angeles. Defense counsel intimated they would enter a plea of insanity.

Mrs. Judd apparently little perturbed, sat through the ordeal of the hearing.

A thousand persons fought their way into the courthouse basement corridors, and swarmed about the doors in vain efforts to get into the little Justice courtroom, which accommodated only 75 spectators.

When the courtroom doors were opened persons who had waited since early morning to get in, fought with newcomers who sought to crowd forward. Sheriff's deputies were bowled over and the efforts of a cordon of officers were necessary to get the doors closed again. Turmoil in the hallways outside the court continued after a majority of the visitors had been locked out. One woman fainted.

MAN THOUGHT TO HAVE BEEN 'LOOKING FOR RENARD' MISSING

Former Convict and One-Time Prohibition Agent Disappears From Los Angeles.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 10.—A bonding concern has reported the disappearance of Chester Davis, said to have been a former prohibition agent. The bonding house gave $15,000 bail for Davis recently when he was arrested here on a charge of impersonating an officer. Now it believes that Davis was "looking for Ray Renard," former St. Louis gangster, and that this may explain his disappearance.

Renard incurred the hatred of his former associates in the Egan gang by testifying against them in the $1,260,000 St. Louis mail truck robbery of 1923 and in the $54,000 mail robbery at Staunton, Ill. His testimony caused "Dinty" Colbeck and several others to receive long prison terms, which they are now serving in Atlanta and Leavenworth.

Renard served three years in Atlanta prison for theft from interstate shipments, and was released in 1926 through commutation of his sentence by President Coolidge, in consideration of his testimony. He has lived in Southern California in recent years and is now said to be employed on a gambling ship anchored 12 miles off Long Beach.

Davis was recently a prisoner in Atlanta, under conviction of bribery, and it was during his stay there, the bonding company was told, that the plot against Renard was formed.

The St. Louis police, and local prohibition enforcement agents, said today that they did not know Chester Davis, or anyone corresponding to the description of Davis given in Los Angeles dispatches.

Teacher Died of Natural Cause.

By the Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 10.—The sudden death here yesterday of Miss Collyn A. Keith, 24-year-old supervisor of physical education in the city's schools, was due to a natural cause, The Coroner said in a verbal statement. The announcement was made after the Coroner had talked with the post-mortem surgeon who had performed an autopsy and it caused the discarding of a theory that liquor might have been a contributing factor. The physician said the young woman, who was found dead in her apartment, had died of a cerebral hemorrhage induced by a ruptured blood vessel.

Laborer Shot; Son Arrested.

Harry Wykoff, a laborer, 123 North Fourth street, East St. Louis, was taken to Christian Welfare Hospital yesterday afternoon for treatment of a gunshot wound of the right leg. Police arrested his son, Ray Wykoff, who was said to have been in an altercation with his father.

F. D. ROOSEVELT CAN SWEEP WEST, NORRIS DECLARES

Any Progressive Democrat Can Beat Hoover There He Thinks—Not in Favor of Newton Baker.

ASSERTS MAIN ISSUE IS UNEMPLOYMENT

Advocates Three Billion Bond Issue; Expects President to Run Again and 'Carry Party to Disaster.'

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—If Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt is the Democratic nominee for President, he will sweep the West against President Hoover next year, the veteran Senator, George W. Norris of Nebraska, declares. Norris returned to Washington yesterday. The leader of the Progressive Republicans in Congress, said that "any Progressive Democrat" probably could carry the West against Hoover, but he believed Roosevelt would be the strongest candidate.

"President Hoover's position," Norris explained, "is similar to that in which President Taft found himself prior to the 1912 campaign—he knows he can renominate himself, but it would require a miracle to re-elect him. My judgment is that Hoover will follow Taft's example, and insist on carrying his party to disaster with him.

One Chance for G. O. P.

"If Hoover should withdraw, and the Republican party should nominate a man whose sympathies are with the people rather than with those who are robbing the people, the Republicans still might win. But Presidents, as we all know, are largely fed on flattery; they are not permitted to hear disagreeable truths. Consequently, Mr. Hoover probably still thinks he has a chance to win."

One of the group of newspaper correspondents attending the interview asked the Nebraska Senator if he cherished any presidential ambitions.

"I?" Norris laughed. "I have been in this game too long to have any such illusions. Under our system a man like me is just as thoroughly barred from the presidency as if there were a constitutional amendment against him. I might as well have been born in China. It is unnecessary for me to tell newspaper men that practically every national convention is controlled by a combination of political bosses and financial interests. You have all seen them operate, and you know that they always pick a candidate who is satisfactory to them."

For $3,000,000,000 Bond Issue.

Declaring unemployment to be the main problem confronting the country, Norris advocated a Federal bond issue of $3,000,000,000, the proceeds to be used in building highways. He said he would introduce such a measure in the next Congress.

"Of course, it is doubtful whether any legislation passed at the next session would be adequate to solve the problem this winter," he went on. "It is too late. During the last session of Congress we sought to appropriate money to be distributed by the Red Cross, but the opposition of President Hoover defeated that plan. Consequently, most of the winter's burden must be borne by the states and municipalities—many of which are on the verge of bankruptcy themselves—and by private charity.

"When an able-bodied man is looking for work, and willing to work, it is a crying shame to make him depend on private charity for a living for himself and his family. A country as rich as this one should provide work for everyone who is willing to work. There is something fundamentally wrong with a system which permits a privileged few to roll in luxury when millions are hungry.

"No intelligent observer believes that the problem will end with the passing of winter, and we should make some provision for the future. Under ordinary circumstances I would oppose a Government bond issue, but these are extraordinary times. Since the Government already supplies funds for building roads, and since it is imperative that the Government take some step to provide employment on a large scale, a bond issue for that purpose would appear to be the simplest solution."

Senator Norris was asked what provision he would make for retiring the bonds and paying the interest. He answered: "I would set up a special fund by increasing the taxes on large incomes and

Any Progressive Democrat Can Beat Hoover There He Thinks—Not in Favor of Newton Baker.

ASSERTS MAIN ISSUE IS UNEMPLOYMENT

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—If Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt is the Democratic nominee for President, he will sweep the West against President Hoover next year, the veteran Senator, George W. Norris of Nebraska, declares. Norris returned to Washington yesterday. The leader of the Progressive Republicans in Congress, said that "any Progressive Democrat" probably could carry the West against Hoover, but he believed Roosevelt would be the strongest candidate.

"President Hoover's position," Norris explained, "is similar to that in which President Taft found himself prior to the 1912 campaign—he knows he can renominate himself, but it would require a miracle to re-elect him. My judgment is that Hoover will follow Taft's example, and insist on carrying his party to disaster with him.

One Chance for G. O. P.

"If Hoover should withdraw, and the Republican party should nominate a man whose sympathies are with the people rather than with those who are robbing the people, the Republicans still might win. But Presidents, as we all know, are largely fed on flattery; they are not permitted to hear disagreeable truths. Consequently, Mr. Hoover probably still thinks he has a chance to win."

One of the group of newspaper correspondents attending the interview asked the Nebraska Senator if he cherished any presidential ambitions.

"I?" Norris laughed. "I have been in this game too long to have any such illusions. Under our system a man like me is just as thoroughly barred from the presidency as if there were a constitutional amendment against him. I might as well have been born in China. It is unnecessary for me to tell newspaper men that practically every national convention is controlled by a combination of political bosses and financial interests. Senator Norris was asked what provision he would make for retiring the bonds and paying the interest. He answered: "I would set up a special fund by increasing the taxes on large incomes and large inheritances. People who have got rich off of the country have the duty of caring for those who are destitute. When they fail to discharge that duty the country should compel them.

"Furthermore, private charity is not only snobbish and cruel, it is also wasteful. When you give people money on which to live, you simply maintain them in idleness, and obtain nothing in return. If you give men jobs, you get the benefit of their labor. The United States certainly can use more highways."

The Senator said he had not had an opportunity to confer with his Progressive colleagues, but he doubted that they would attempt to hold another conference such as was held here last March. The time before the opening of Congress was too short, he said. They will use it probably in drafting legislative measures embodying some of the recommendations made

RUSSIA IN TRANSITION—No. 27

State Cannot Make or Break A Marriage, But Only Keep Record, Under Soviet Laws

No Grounds Required for Divorce and Either Party May End Union Without Other's Consent.

By Raymond P. Brandt.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

MOSCOW, U. S. S. R., October.

ONE of the most persistent canards about Soviet Russia is the alleged nationalization of women shortly after the revolution. The story was sheer anti-Bolshevik propaganda and its only basis was an announcement in Saratov, purportedly issued by an Anarchist group, proposing such a step. The Anarchists denounced the statement as a forgery and the Bolshevists denied they had ever contemplated establishing such a system. Yet the canard continues and many ignorant people think that Russian women are nationalized to this day.

After the revolution, Russia, like all countries that had been in the war, loosened moral restraints. As in England and Germany, and to a somewhat less degree in the United States, because we had not been in the war so long, many people took a "what's the use" attitude. Russia suffered more than any other nation from the war, and the excesses probably were more widespread.

The old conventions were "bourgeois" and the new freedom was a gift of the Bolshevist regime. In the United States we called it the "jazz era." In England the young people laughed at the old restraints as "pre-war." The writer doesn't know whether the Germans had a name for it, but there were similar conditions in Germany and Austria in 1920 to 1923. In Russia today such excesses are condemned as "counter-revolutionary," and detrimental to progress.

Simple Marriage Laws.

The Soviet liberalization of marriage and divorce laws has shocked many Americans. Those laws follow closely the Norwegian laws and adhere to a well-defined conception of marital relations. It is that a State cannot make or break a marriage; it can only register the fact that a marriage has been made or broken. A church service, while not forbidden, has no legal significance.

In some respects the Russian laws are stricter than many State laws in the United States. At the registry office the bride and bridegroom must state in writing that they are over 18 years old; are entering the union voluntarily; that there are no legal bars to their marriage, and that each party is informed as to the health of the other. False statements are punishable by law. Thus, while there is no Soviet law against bigamy, a bigamist would be prosecuted for having made a false statement as to his status.

No grounds are required for divorce. Either party may terminate the union without the consent of the other. If property or children are involved the question is settled in a law court which does not concern itself with the divorce itself. Practically the only difference between the Russian and the Nevada systems is the element of time. The Russian system does not require such legal fictions as "incompatibility" and "mental cruelty."

Protection for Children.

The Soviet State steps in to protect the children. If the mother is unemployed the divorced father is liable for the payment of one-third of his income for each child born of the union. These payments, however, cannot exceed two-thirds of his income. Payments continue until the child's eighteenth birthday.

As in the United States, the proportion of marriages to divorces varies with localities having different customs. There are more divorces as compared with marriages in Moscow than in any other Russian city. The ratio for all European Russia is four marriages for each divorce. The ratio in the United States is six marriages to a divorce. In the city of St. Louis the ratio last year was less than 3 to 1. There were 6347 marriages to 2857 divorces. In Tulsa, Ok., last year the ratio was under 2 to 1.

For a time in Russia there was an abuse of the liberal marriage and divorce laws. Some of the more frugal male peasants married husky young girls in the spring, worked them in the fields until after the harvest, and then got divorces. By this scheme they avoided payment of wages which would have made them "exploiters" of labor. The Government soon put a stop to this, as it did to marriages lasting only several days and to the child-support racket of designing women.

There is no such thing as an "illegitimate" child in Russia. A child born out of wedlock receives the same governmental protection, has the same succession rights to property and the same social status as a child born in wedlock. The father is liable for its support just as though the union had been registered. The mother is not an outcast, a "fallen woman," legally or socially.

The Russians are neither afraid of sex questions nor preoccupied with them. They are earthy and not prurient. They are a simple, vital, unrepressed people, and their attitude is reflected in the Soviet marriage and divorce laws. The Scandinavian countries with a similar people enacted similar laws. The tendency in England and the United States is toward greater liberality in marriages and divorces, to conform to modern conditions. Even churchmen are now advocating what would have been rank heresy 15 years ago.

The Soviet marriage laws were revised and codified in 1927. Before the Government acted, thousands of mass meetings, mostly attended by women, were held for months throughout the Union. The results of these discussions were formulated into the present laws. This is in striking contrast to the motives behind the Nevada and Arkansas laws, which were designed to lure hotel guests to those states. It will be recalled that one patriotic Nevada legislator proposed that the State should grant "mail-order" divorces—for a fee.

One of the influences restraining marriages and divorces in Russia has been the acute housing shortage and the Soviet law that a person cannot be dispossessed of his lodging without due process of law. The swain who does not wish to bring his bride into a room already quartering two or three other persons will have a hard time finding a room of his own. Conversely, a discontented spouse will think a long time about getting a divorce before he or she has another lodging.

Odd Complications.

The housing situation brings about many curious situations. When the writer was in Vitebsk, White Russia, a former Russian army officer and his wife were divorced. Their friends took it as a matter of course when they continued to live in the same room. The man had been unable to find other lodgings.

At the end of three months they were remarried, and when the writer returned to Vitebsk last year he learned they had lived happily thereafter.

In Moscow this year Americans told of a divorced Russian woman whose husband refused to leave the one-room lodging. She remarried and the new husband proceeded to throw out the old husband. The former husband appealed to the chairman of the House Committee, who upheld his right to remain in the room. At present the three people are living together, making the best of a trying situation.

The liberality of the marriage and divorce laws has not erased the age-old human emotions of love and jealousy. The writer's Russian guide recounted how a young Russian, returning from a journey, was given positive proof that his wife had had an affair with another man. He murdered his wife with an ax, was sentenced to prison by a Soviet court and released in three months. The guide had not heard of the American "unwritten law" and was interested to learn that under the American code of honor the wrong person had been murdered. He said that the penalty probably would have been more severe if the husband had killed the lover.

Fighting Deportation to Native Country; Tell of Alleged Persecutions by Soviet.

By the Associated Press.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 10.—Alfred H. Kirchhofer, managing editor of the Buffalo Evening News and secretary of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, has made public a petition signed by 279 Russian peasants and German colonists in Harbin, Manchuria, pleading for aid in preventing their deportation to Russia.

The petition, forwarded to Kirchhofer by G. Gracheff, sets forth that priests and other clergymen are being persecuted by Soviet authorities, are forced to labor under command of Young Communists and that many allegedly have been put to death, their churches being confiscated for the use of atheists.

It further states that 5,000,000 persons in Soviet Russia have been deprived of the right to vote, work or draw rations. Many have taken refuge in huts dug in the earth, in tents and haystacks, and, according to Gracheff, eight per cent of the Russian poupulation is moving closer to the border in order to be able to escape into China.

The petition concludes: "We beg you, with all earnestness, to help the Russian refugees, save us from being sent back to Soviet Russia, we who have succeeded in leaving the country; help improve the legal status of those who have taken refuge in foreign countries, and assist us in finding a means of honest labor and a legal refuge."

WORLD BANK DENIES PLEA FOR NEW AUSTRIAN CREDIT

Directors Suggest Proposal Be Postponed Until Monetary Reforms Produce Results.

By the Associated Press.

BASEL, Switzerland, Nov. 10.—A request of the Austrian National Bank for a new credit was rejected for the present by the Bank for International Settlements yesterday.

Directors of the world bank decided that under present monetary circumstances in Austria the credit sought was not an urgent matter. They suggested, therefore, that the proposal be postponed until certain monetary reforms produced "certain results which are hoped for." It was assumed the hoped-for results meant a balanced budget.

A committee to study a proposal for payments on a gold basis between the world bank and its constituent national banks was set up and the directors took note of the agreement by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, the Bank of England and the Bank of France to participate in renewal of a $100,000,000 to Germany.

Then they adjourned until Dec. 14, apparently without having received an expected request from Germany to set up an advisory committee under the Young plan to inquire into Germany's ability to pay reparations.

REDS SOUGHT ESTABLISHMENT OF SOVIET RULE IN CANADA

One of Accused at Toronto Says Loyalty to Proletarian Dictatorship Transcends Other Claims.

By the Associated Press.

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 10.—The establishment of a Soviet government in Canada was said by one of nine men on trial for conspiracy to be the ultimate aim of the Canadian Communist party.

"Every member of the party was taught to be loyal to the Soviet," the witness, Tom Ewen, testified, yesterday. "In the event of war between Canada and Russia, members of the party were taught loyalty to the Soviet no matter who the aggressor was. We believed in the dictatorship of the proletariat."

He said they anticipated clashes with police and the organized workers' defense corps was formed to defend speakers. "Did you deny the right of police to interfere?" the presiding Justice asked. "Yes, either the police or anyone else," the witness answered.

The defendants sought to break down the testimony of Sergt. John Leopold of the Canadian Royal Mounted Police, who masqueraded as a Communist officer for seven years while he gathered evidence against the party.

INFANTA EULALIE OF SPAIN PLANS TO SELL HER JEWELRY

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Nov. 10.—The retinue which followed former King Alfonso of Spain into exile is beginning to feel the pinch of financial need and the Infanta Eulalia said today she planned to sell her jewelry so that her grandson, Prince Alvaro de Bourbon-Orleans, might marry the Princess Beatrice.

"These reports that Alfonso is opposed to the marriage are ridiculous," she said. "We simply have been unable to make any plans because none of us has any money. The boy's father (Don Alfonso d'Orleans) has lost a great deal. I'm going to sell my jewels—I've got to get money. Then I hope this marriage can take place."

RELIEF PROGRAM OF $136,000,000 IN PENNSYLVANIA

Gov. Pinchot Submits to Legislature 19 Proposals to Raise This Amount for Unemployed.

LEVY ON GASOLINE, CIGARETTES URGED

Plan Also Provides for Issue of Prosperity Bonds and Loans by Cities Based on Tax Delinquencies.

By the Associated Press.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 10.—The Pennsylvania Legislature convened in special session last night to provide relief for the unemployed.

Meeting at the call of Gov. Pinchot, the Assembly received 19 proposals of the Governor designed to raise $136,000,000 to provide work and relief for the jobless and their families for the next two years.

The Governor issued the call after President Hoover turned down a request by him for a special session of Congress for consideration of national relief measures.

With the statement from the Governor that "the right to work for a living is part of the right to live," the Legislature moved quickly to its task.

Legislators friendly to Pinchot introduced 12 measures. The Governor estimates his bills would provide $40,000,000 from an emergency 2-cent additional tax per gallon on gasoline, $10,000,000 from a tax on cigarettes at the rate of 1 cent for 10 cigarettes, $2,000,000 from a tax on billboards and outdoor advertising, $9,700,000 from the unpaid balance due to State on its construction toward the cost of the Philadelphia-Camden bridge, $35,000,000 in voluntary contributions to be repaid at 4 per cent interest through the sale of prosperity bonds; and $40,000,000 in loans by municipalities on the basis of 60 per cent of the amount of money outstanding in delinquent taxes.

Voluntary Fund Needed.

In his message to the Legislature today the Governor said: "No American, no Pennsylvanian can be allowed to starve," and the State must raise approximately $55,000,000 to meet the present situation.

Twenty-three community chests in the State propose to raise $20,000,000 of this amount, he said, and the rest must come from voluntary contributions to his proposed State Commission on Unemployment Relief.

"The money subscribed will be used where needed without constitutional or other restrictions, except that none of it will be given as a dole in any form," the Governor said.

"To give work is better than to give relief. Accordingly, the program before you is intended to provide work for the greatest possible number during this winter."

900,000 Unemployed.

He said surveys had shown 900,000 persons, or one-fourth of the State's workers, to be unemployed. In addition a census by the Department of Public Instruction showed 125,000 school children in the State who will need food during the winter.

A proposed constitutional amendment, which, if passed by this session, must be passed again by the 1933 Legislature and ratified by the electorate in 1933, provides for borrowing by the State to pay back at 4 per cent all contributions made to a proposed State commission on unemployment relief and half of the money borrowed by municipalities in anticipation of delinquent taxes.

Another amendment, suggested for use in cases of future depressions, would permit the State to appropriate up to $20,000,000 for relief in time of disaster, epidemic or depression after a referendum.

PRINCE OF RUMANIA ELOPES WITH DIVORCEE

Nicholas Defies King Carol in Marrying Mme. Jana Deletj.

By the Associated Press.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Nov. 10.—The elopement and morganatic marriage of Prince Nicholas of Rumania and Mme. Jana Lucia Deletj, took place yesterday despite King Carol's disapproval of the union.

Prince Nicholas ignored his elder brother's refusal to sanction the marriage, made a dash in his racing car to Tohan and compelled the Mayor of that town to perform the ceremony.

With determination similar to King Carol's where Mme. Magda Lupescu was concerned, the 28-year-old Prince refused to let his love for Mme. Deletj be thwarted by the arguments of the King.

So violent was the King's wrath at his younger brother's defiance of his counsel that he ordered all records of the ceremony to be destroyed and authorized the Bucharest Government to issue a flat denial that the marriage had taken place.

There seems little that King Carol can do inasmuch as the civil ceremony uniting the Prince and Mme. Deltj is apparently binding.

The bride is also known as Mme. Dumicrescu, which was her name before her divorce from the son of a former Cabinet minister. She and the Prince met on a highway where the beauty was in distress with a puncture which she could not fix. Nicholas came to the rescue. When Nicholas made up his mind he must marry her and went to the King for the Royal assent, his brother flatly refused to sanction a wedding. Prince Nicholas, reminding Carol it was he whom the King had to thank for his enthronement in June, 1930, departed angrily.

'GRAND OLD MAN' OF BUSINESS IN JAPAN DIES AT 91

By the Associated Press.

TOKIO, Nov. 11 (Wednesday).—Viscount Eiichi Shibusawa, Japan's "grand old man" of business, died today.

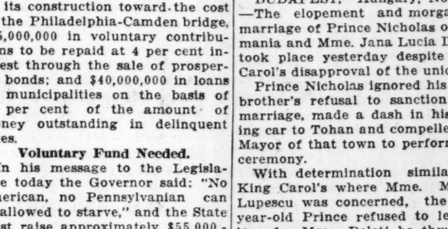

He was 91 years old and until a few years ago was still one of the country's most active business men. The people called him the "people's Foreign Minister" because he made so many trips to the United States, especially when the Japanese immigration question was under discussion.

Baron Shibusawa was a founder and an uncrowned monarch of the Japanese business empire. He enjoyed an influence and fame quite as great as any minister of state. His career was so closely interwoven with the growth of modern Japan that his public life is in itself a history of the economic and financial growth of the country. The Japanese called him the Nester of their business world.

He was born Feb. 13, 1840, the son of an indigo merchant, in a small village near Tokio. He received a thorough education in Chinese classics in his boyhood and later finished his studies in Tokio, while the country was still under the Shogunate regime. Inspired with a patriotic zeal, he went to Kioto, the then Imperial capital, where he entered the service of Lord Hitotsubashi, an influential branch of the Shogunate Tokugawa family. In 1867, a year before the downfall of the Shogunate, he was sent to France with one of the Tokugawa princes, but on the establishment of the Imperial Government in 1869, he was appointed a high official in the finance department holding the post of junior Vice Minister, and rendered valuable service to the State with the then senior Vice Minister of the department, the late Marquis Inouye. In 1873, he left the Government on account of difference of opinion on the question of budget estimates, never to return to the Government service though he was often offered the portfolio of the exchequer.

Soon after his retirement from official life Shibusawa established the First National Bank, the pioneer of national banks in Japan, in 1873. Afterward he identified himself with the commercial and industrial progress of the empire and took the lead in almost all important enterprises intended for the development and expansion of the country. Among many achievements which were undertaken on his own initiative are the Tokio Chamber of Commerce, the Tokio Bankers' Association, the Bankers' Clearing House, the Tokio Stock

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

A Lady Takes the Floor.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THAT misogynist on your staff who put woman in her humble, inferior place the other day is either a doddering old bachelor, for whom there is no hope, or a fresh young wisecracker who will presently, with any kind of luck, be stripped of his arrogant pose. Right now, if I may, I should like to puncture a few of his pedantic attitudes. First, that question: "What woman sang like Byron, Keats or Shelley?" The most overrated trio on earth, that little group whom nobody reads. There is more poetry in the volumes of Edna St. Vincent Millay, more wit in Dorothy Parker's verses, more music in Sara Teasdale's lyrics, than in all the self-dramatizing of Byron, or the soaring of Shelley, or the melancholia of Keats.

We women gladly admit that men are the best cooks, and, really, it is in the kitchen most of them belong. We concede, too, that men have shown an admirable skill in designing women's clothes, but after they have designed them, what then? Could the ugly, misshapen creatures wear them? Only milady can take the lifeless patterns and endow them with the vitality of her glorious beauty.

There is no question that Phidias wielded a wicked chisel, but where did he get his models, I should like to ask, and would ask, too, except for fear of starting a brand-new blaze of old Athenian scandals. And just a word about the plays of Shakspeare. The hostler from Stratford made good in the city as a theatrical merchant, and that is all. But the writer of those plays was not Bacon, as Ignatius Donnelly ingeniously demonstrated; nor was it Marlowe, as Henry Watterson plausibly proved. The simple truth is that Elizabeth herself, profanely royal old Bess, wrote the plays, for which the Lord in his mercy may have forgiven her. My paddle tires. XANTIPPE.

Columbia's Utility Experience.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I AM writing to commend your editorial on "The People and the Utilities." Columbia's water and light plant is an example. Besides furnishing the city with water and light that would cost the city $40,000 or more annually if furnished by a corporation, it has also furnished the people water and light cheaper than any corporation in Missouri, and has accumulated more than $250,000. Why this surplus accumulation is more than Columbia's water and light users can understand. Some claim it is for the purpose of keeping down the bad comparison between corporation and municipally owned plants.

Suggestion for February, 1932.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

TWO years ago Congress appointed a commission to arrange a worthwhile celebration of Washington's bicentenary, Feb. 22, 1932. As the date draws near, may a mere layman make a suggestion?

That same month is also the time fixed for the convening at Geneva of a world conference on disarmament. This coincidence is surely appropriate when one recalls George Washington's "first wish." History thus records it: "My first wish is to see that plague of mankind, war, banished from the earth!"

This week the world will celebrate the day on which it adopted the slogan, "Never again!" Not another "war to end war"! Be it remembered that the armistice ended a period of four years and four months in which, every day, an average of 6500 of the world's finest young men were murdered outright and 12,600 more mutilated, maimed or crippled for life; in addition to countless women and children half starved and sickened. It was thought the world had learned its lesson. But, incredible as it may seem, it is today spending twice as much as at any pre-war date on preparing for that "never again" next war which, we are told, is inevitable.

Have we not some real statesmen to send to Geneva next spring, instructed to do their utmost to realize Washington's "first wish," and banish from the earth forever the idiocy of war?

IT has been intimated that there will be a complete reorganization of the Board of Children's Guardians staff. We foster mothers who have the responsibility of raising the board's children are well satisfied with the present administration, and feel that those now in office have the children's interest at heart. A change at this time, or any other time, might be construed as a gesture to bring this department under political control, and it is hoped that the influential citizens of this city will arouse public sentiment against such a plan.

A FOSTER MOTHER.

ANSWER TO THE NAVY LEAGUE.

The latest presidential commission has been the speediest. It was appointed last Tuesday; it met Thursday; by Friday night its report was in Mr. Hoover's hands, and the document was made public Saturday night. Brief as its existence was, the commission fulfilled its functions perfectly—to absolve the executive of the Navy League's charge that he was "abysmally ignorant" of naval matters, that he sought "at every turn to restrict, to reduce and to starve the U. S. Navy," and to show that the recent statement of the League's president, William H. Gardiner, was filled with "untruth and distortions." The country now learns that not only is the latter the case, but that the objectionable pamphlet contained also "many inaccuracies, false assertions and erroneous conclusions." Further, Mr. Hoover is portrayed as desiring to keep the navy at the highest possible strength under its treaty rights, though at the lowest possible cost.

The smooth and speedy work of this commission makes clear how unnecessary its appointment was. The body was merely a bit of White House ceremonial, invoked to issue a statement for the President. It examined no witnesses and heard no rebuttals; its duty was merely to look over the records and compile what it found there. The President chose personnel that would make its procedure certain, for the committee consisted of five of his personal and political friends, including two of his appointees. A statement by Mr. Hoover refuting the charges made by the Navy League, containing evidence his secretariat might have gathered in a few days, would have served the purpose as well, if Mr. Hoover wished to engage in a controversy.

The Navy League is well known as a militaristic mouthpiece, and an attack on naval economy plans from such a source was merely what might have been expected. It was founded in 1902 for propaganda purposes, and is still going strong. The Navy League's genesis casts important light on the controversy, and information as to this was given in an address by Congressman Clyde H. Tavenner of Illinois in the House of Representatives, Dec. 15, 1915. The list of its 19 founders, he discovered, included Charles M. Schwab, president of Bethlehem Steel Corporation; J. P. Morgan, organizer of U. S. Steel Corporation; the Midvale Steel Co.; S. S. Palmer and B. F. Tracy of the Harvey Steel Co. and Col. R. M. Thompson of the International Nickel Co. All these, and several others, were manufacturers of war materials, and stood to profit personally by the propaganda issued by the organization. Mr. Tavenner summarized his findings as follows:

> The Navy League, upon close examination, would appear to be little more than a branch office of the house of J. P. Morgan & Co., and a general sales promotion bureau for the various armor and munition makers and the steel, nickel, copper and zinc interests.

This is the organization with which the President has indulged in public controversy. He has dignified it by his denunciations, an honor it did not deserve, and has given its self-seeking publicity all the appearance of sincere opinion by appointing a fact-finding commission to give it attention. The Navy League deserved every word of the President's condemnation, but its record and tactics provided a far more effective indictment.

TRULY HELPING HANDS.

Recently considerable publicity was given to a commendable program for relief of the unemployed as devised and put into operation in Grand Rapids, Mich. The Pittsburg plan deserves similar notice. Under it, contributions are sought from the holders of wealth, as is done in any city which has a community fund. The collections, however, instead of going to organizations which mete out unemployment relief, are used to support public improvements which give work to men who otherwise would be forced to seek the aid of charitable agencies. The virtues of such a plan were described the other day by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon in an address in Pittsburg in behalf of a campaign to raise money for the fund. They are the virtues that will occur to everyone; namely, the relief of human distress and the creation of work which enables the unemployed man to help himself, thus maintaining the self-respect which the man who seeks charity so often loses.

WANTED—A LEADER FOR THE PEOPLE.

Forthcoming publication of Volume 4 of Woodrow Wilson's life and letters, by Ray Stannard Baker, brings again to attention the stirring messages which the late President, then President-elect, was proclaiming 19 years ago. His address before Chicago business men was typical. There had been a change of venue, he said. The jury was no longer the special groups of the benefited, but the people of the United States. The common resources of the country must be administered for the common good. The raw materials must be at the disposal of everyone upon equal terms. So must credit. The strangle hold of monopoly must be broken. Wherever he spoke, he hit out straight and hard. In the shadow of Wall Street, he pierced a fallacy expounded for the truth by a political party. "Prosperity," he said, "is not a thing which can be consumed privately or by a small number of persons. Prosperity does not exist for a nation unless it be pervasive."

It was a message which terrorized the vested interests and heartened the people. Pressging an era of progressive legislation without parallel in American history, it was the kind of message which the nation so sorely needs to hear today. Let such a leader arise. The people, who are sickened at heart by the sad record of the past decade, will welcome him with outstretched hands.

A SUNDAY IN NOVEMBER.

More than half a century has paddled down the river—to be exact, 52 years—since St. Louis saw November embrace June as passionately as it did last Sunday. It was a Lotus-land Sabbath. Brows were beaded. Coats discarded. Canaries warbled love songs. Electric fans, idling for weeks in winter quarters, whirred cooling melodies. And the guns of millions of duck shooters, from prostrate Minnesota to Louisiana's popping corn fields, were as silent as the tomb of all the Ptolemies. We did not, of course, swelter in the devastating heat of California, neither did we shrivel in the blast furnace temperature of Florida, but Sunday was undoubtedly a balmy day. It may be recalled that Mr. Swinburne, painting the impossible climatic metaphor, observed that "the rose leaves of November the frosts of June shall fret." . . . Well, the British poet did not know of our Prof. Roscoe Nunn, who twines apple blossoms in the tresses of Thanksgiving's lady of the moon and has shooed August off the calendar with cold feet, and has reduced the mighty hunters of the Valley to glassy-eyed despair.

WHEN THE HOUSE MEETS.

Washington is likely to see a lively row in connection with the organization of the House next month. Though the Democrats have a nominal plurality sufficient to elect a Speaker, a substantial liberalization of the present rules will be demanded, it is forecast, and will have to be granted, before the election can be encompassed. That is the position of the progressive Republicans, and is said to be shared by a considerable number of Democrats—the entire bloc being numerous enough, it is calculated, to deadlock the proceeding.

There can be no question that the rules should be liberalized and the House re-established in its traditional dignity and constitutional capacity. It is patent, of course, that a body as unwieldy as the House could not successfully function under the privilege of unlimited debate, such as practically obtains in the Senate. The House must have a modus operandi designed to meet its requirements. But that does not mean that our Representatives in Congress should be reduced to the rubber-stamp status of carrying out the decisions and wishes of a Rules Committee that has usurped dictatorial powers.

Far from being a representative body, "fresh from the people" and responsive to public sentiment, the House, under the "iron triumvirate," has been as effectually muzzled and shackled as it was in the czaristic reign of Speaker Cannon, which culminated in rebellion. A flagrant illustration of that unhappy truth may be cited in the record of the Hawley-Smoot tariff. On a floor from which revenue measures must originate, that bill was railroaded through, in effect, without debate. The command was given that no schedules could be discussed. The only option allowed members was to vote for or against the entire bill. Competent legislation cannot be enacted in that way. Not only were the Representatives silenced by the alternative of Aye or Nay on a question affecting every family budget in the land, but public opinion was arrogantly denied a hearing.

Another instance should be mentioned: The "lame duck" session of Congress is manifestly an anachronism that ought to be abolished. Public sentiment, as reflected in the press, is preponderantly in favor of removing this stage coach survival, and the Senate has repeatedly passed a resolution to that effect, which has repeatedly been smothered in the House—not by the House, however, but by the oligarchy in control.

It is important from the standpoint of partisan politics as to which party elects the Speaker and gets the committee chairmanships and all the patronage that goes therewith. With that, the people are not concerned. But it is vitally important for the people that the House of Representatives shall again be a representative body, capacitated again for serving the popular welfare.

RECOVERY AND THE FARM BOARD.

Since Oct. 5, wheat has risen 23 cents a bushel, corn 12 cents a bushel, cotton 1½ cents a pound and oil 15 cents a barrel.

If this sort of thing goes on much longer, the Farm Board, which lists among its holdings some 200,000,000 bushels of wheat, will be able to do something for the various community funds. It was the law of supply and demand that floored the Farm Board, and what has happened abundantly illustrates the folly of trying to set the law of supply and demand aside.

As for us, we would as soon think of hitting a policeman.

A MARRIAGE IN ISLAM.

The Arabian Nights live again in the announcement that the former Caliph's daughter is betrothed to the Nizam's son, heir to what is said to be the world's greatest fortune. True, the ceremony will not be at Bagdad, seat of the Caliphs in their prime, but at Nice, the city of exiles. The marriage settlement, however, has a splendor reminiscent of Haroun al Raschid's opulent days—jewels valued at a million and treasure totaling $200,000. The treasury of Hyderabad still holds the wealth of a medieval monarch, while the Caliph has been brought to exile and dependence on the Nizam's largess, now increased to $2000 a month. Mohammed's successor in ruling Islam's 300,000,000 votaries, cousin of Turkey's last Sultan, the Caliph lost his power when Mustapha Kemal separated church and state. The Caliphate's waning power had been shown in the World War, when Turkey's proclamation of a holy war failed to rouse the faithful, and Moslem fought against Moslem.

Now a marriage of state may arouse anew the hopes of Islam's orthodox. This pair unites the spiritual power of Allah's viceregent with the treasure chests of his strongest supporter; their heir might in time be hailed as the "true Caliph." Modern Turkey, rapidly becoming Westernized under an agnostic ruler, offers little hope, but the Nizam has his bushels of diamonds and a horde of other wealth rivaling Aladdin's. Islam's eyes, after prayerfully turning toward Mecca and the East, will bend themselves this week on Nice and the West.

OPENING ST. LOUIS VISTAS.

As the widening of St. Louis' streets is gradually carried out, the importance of the vista in city plannings becomes more and more obvious. Suddenly, where before there was a sense of congestion and oppression, there is now space and light and the eye follows an avenue to the sky. This esthetic-psychological gain is, of course, quite apart from the fact that more breathing space is necessary in the crowded modern city, what with quantities of sulphuric acid gas and carbon monoxide in the air. The vista is the secret of the charm of the fairest cities, notable examples being Paris and Vienna. The broad sweep of Michigan boulevard, with its expanse of lake, saves downtown Chicago. Lack of any space whatsoever is one reason why New York has become an increasingly difficult place to live; architecture there, even great architecture, like the trees in a forest, cannot be seen because of the city. St. Louis has made an excellent start. On Olive street and at Twelfth boulevard one is already aware of a more distinguished city. Next must come the river front district.

Chairman Raskob is looking for 3000 men to give $2000 each to the party's "victory fund." He is the man, you know, who a short time before that October crash was going to make everybody rich, and he seems to think he has.

AND OPEN YOUR PURSE.

What International Bimetalism Means

Hoover-Laval agreement to uphold gold standard does not end silver movement, for international bimetalism is based upon both metals; as practiced by Latin nations up to 1873, either was legal tender, at ratio of about 15½ to 1; when silver fell below that, demand was stimulated that automatically brought it back up to par.

Theodore Marburg in a Letter to the New York Times.

A STRANGE error constantly crops out in the discussion of the money problem. Newspaper accounts of the Hoover-Laval meeting assumed that the decision to uphold the gold standard meant the end of the movement to re-establish silver as a money metal. Not at all! International bimetalism does not imply abandonment of the gold standard. On the contrary, it is supposited on it. The gold standard is government obligation to redeem the dollar, pound sterling or franc in a fixed quantity of gold, so many ounces fine, at all times and under all circumstances.

While international bimetalism retains the obligation of the government to redeem its money in gold on demand, it at the same time establishes a fixed ratio between gold and silver, minting either freely at that ratio for anyone that may choose to bring the metal to it, so that debts may be discharged in either metal.

The Latin Union, embracing France, Belgium, Switzerland, Italy and Greece, made both silver and gold legal tender in this way. No man paid in silver unless that metal fell below the established ratio of 15½ to 1. The very demand for silver then brought it back to parity. The vital thing was that no one could lose by being compelled to accept silver, because the governments named were obliged to give him gold for silver at sight at the fixed ratio.

Although the Latin Union, as such, did not come definitely into being until 1865, its principles had been practiced by France, supported by the Latin countries, since 1803. From that year to 1873, nearly three-quarters of a century, free coinage of both metals at the fixed ratio resulted in so stabilizing them that the fluctuations never reached a full point—i. e., never amounted to 16½ to 1 nor fell to 14½ to 1; this despite the fact that in that period there was a sevenfold fluctuation in the relative output of the metals. Before the discoveries in California, Australia and the Ural Mountains, the annual output of gold, in money value, was only half that of silver. After these discoveries, it grew to three and a half times that of silver.

It was the gold indemnity of five milliards (billions) levied on France by Germany after the Franco-Prussian War, that forced France to abandon the practice of redeeming silver in gold and wrecked international bimetalism.

The question was queered for us here in America by the advocacy of the free coinage of silver by the United States acting independently and without seeking international co-operation. That step, as we know, would have spelled dishonor, because it could only have resulted in the world flooding us with silver, draining us of gold and thus inevitably committing us to the silver standard and a 50-cent dollar. By international bimetalism, on the other hand, it is the available amount of the money metal for the world's uses that alone is affected, not the gold standard.

The Wages of Sin

From the Nation.

IT HAS been commonly predicted that the present depression would surely produce that spiritual awakening which failed to materialize after the great war. It was rather generally supposed that persons deprived of their gin by economic necessity would, in consequence, spend quiet evenings at home with a good book, and literature, we were told, would certainly flourish as night clubs declined. But the only observable effect upon the book business has been the regular appearance on best-seller lists of collections of "boners" and books by such spiritual leaders as Joe Cook, while the most obvious effect upon the theater has been the appearance of new burlesque houses up and down Broadway. For years only one theater devoted to this form of entertainment was operated in the Times Square district, but since the spiritual awakening took place, these temples have multiplied prodigiously and those whose minds have been turned away from material things can now drop in upon a stimulating ceremony almost any hour of the day or night.

It is, however, less with the moral than with the economic aspect of the situation that we are concerned, and we shall reprint a paragraph from Variety which we believe needs no comment beyond the explanation to the uninitiated that, in the technical language of the business, a "stripper" is a chorus girl who takes off most of her clothes during the course of her act and that a "teaser number" is one in which such a "stripper" removes her raiment piece by piece in compliance with the noisy demands of the audience eager to see further beauties revealed:

> "The longest and hardest job in the theater is now the 74-hour, $25-a-week runway grind for girls at the Central, New York. They average 12 hours in the theater Fridays and Saturdays and 10 hours daily the rest of the week, including Sundays. House plays Minsky's combination stock and Columbia Burlesque wheel shows. At five and six shows a day the girls are on the stage or runway more than 220 times every week for the same $25. Theater is one of the New York Minsky burlesque houses at which those of the chorus who 'strip' in 'teaser' numbers were paid $2 extra weekly for the take off. That gave each stripping girl an average of slightly over 5 cents for each strip. That extra income is now cut and the rate is $25 straight."

In case any of our readers wonder just how these theaters manage to keep open on Sunday when all legitimate theaters are closed, we beg to inform them that Mr. Minsky and his $25-a-week "strippers" call their performance a "sacred concert" on the first day of every week.

But it is, we repeat, the economic aspect of the question which interests us most. Verily, the wages of sin have become—as the old joke has it—"almost nothing at all."

Why America Needs a Plan

From the Cleveland Press.

A YEAR ago, when Senator La Follette and other liberals suggested that a national economic council might help our economic sickness, their plan was regarded as visionary and radical. In a year opinion has changed. Today industry is looking with growing favor upon the idea. Some of the most eminent business men in the country have gone to Washington recently to record, with the Senate Committee on Manufactures, their willingness that such a plan be tried.

This is probably the most significant development of the hearings now in progress, the first governmental attempt to get at the root of our troubles and correct them.

It is true that some bankers who have testified before the committee have been cold to the national economic council idea. Their eyes have been fixed upon Europe and upon the need of restoring Europe's buying power and private debt-paying capacity. Much of their treasure lies abroad and men's hearts and thoughts are apt to follow their treasure.

Industrialists, on the other hand, whether or not they engage in foreign trade, feel acutely the gravity of the problem at home, and the need of dealing with it intelligently. Some of them prefer to attempt this without the help of the Government. Some of them feel that the Government alone can tie together the many different elements in the economic situation which must be considered in forming competent opinion on any phase of it.

Economists and social workers, without exception, have told the committee that "the job is so necessary it is going to be done somehow, soon." If there were any doubt of this other than in the minds of the bankers, the appalling figures presented by E. A. Goldenweiser, chief of the Federal Reserve Board's division of research and statistics, and L. H. Sloan of the Standard Statistics Co. would force unwilling belief.

These men told the committee that the present depression is the longest and worst of history; that the national income is 25 per cent less today than two years ago; that $1,000,000,000 is being hoarded; that production is off 50 per cent; that employment is down at least 27 per cent, with a very large percentage of part-time work; that farm prices have reached their lowest point; that 1234 banks have failed so far this year, and 2300 commercial firms, including banks, have failed, an all-time high; that interest payments on bonds valued at $2,000,000,000 have been defaulted this year; that the net income of corporations has declined by two-thirds since 1929 and, after paying dividends this year, their reserve funds show a deficit of $500,000,000.

To this picture the economists have added that while other depressions have been ended by growth of a new industry or discovery of new gold deposits, neither of these seems to be a possibility at the present time. And the social workers have translated the story into terms of broken bodies and spirits, into the incalculable cost in human life.

So what is left? What, indeed, but human intelligence; the wit and will to master our situation and plan that we may not have to face this again? Only the counselors of despair deny that we can help ourselves if we will.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

MISS MARY LUCAS HART, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Armstrong Hart, and a descendant of families closely identified with early St. Louis history, will make her debut at a tea here today. After an absence of several years during which the family made its home in St. Augustine, Fla., the Harts returned earlier in the fall, and are with Mrs. Hart's mother, Mrs. J. B. C. Lucas, 4411 Westminster place, where the party will be given.

The reception rooms have been decorated with chrysanthemums, each room in a different color. The bay windows in the drawing room are screened to the floor with green velvet, with clusters of cybodium fern silhouetted against it, and two great containers of blossoms in the autumn tints at each side. The chandeliers and doorways are garlanded with asparagus ferns, as is the stairway. Baskets of gift flowers sent to the guest of honor will add to the scene. Pink chrysanthemums will predominate in the smaller living room, where the mantel and fireplace have been banked with ferns and blossoms.

The tea table is arranged in the large music room, with a center piece of yellow roses and yellow tapers in silver candelabra. The organ console is to have greenery at its base, and yellow chrysanthemums will be reflected in the great mirror on the opposite wall.

Mrs. Lucas will receive with her daughter and the debutante, as will Mrs. Charles Lucas and Mrs. Morton J. Lucas, aunts of Miss Hart.

The guest of honor will wear a sleeveless gown of chartreuse yellow taffeta, designed with an old fashioned full skirt. Her slippers are purple and she will carry orchids. Mrs. Hart's gown is black chiffon velvet and Mrs. Lucas Sr., will wear black satin.

Mrs. Hart will be assisted by a group of her friends, and the debutantes serving will be Miss Caro Holmes, Miss Eleanor Conant, Miss Mary Coit Day, Miss Sara Benoist, Miss Virginia Cave, Miss Caroline Simpson, Miss Jaquelin Chapman, Miss Caroline Kennard, Miss Marjorie Capen, Miss Ellen Walsh, Miss Anne Tyler and Miss Phoebe Lee.

Miss Hart was educated at the Sacred Heart Convent at Maryville, and the Knox School in Cooperstown, N. Y. She has traveled in Europe extensively.

On Dec. 1 Mrs. Thomas Francis, 6464 Ellenwood avenue, will give a luncheon at her home for Miss Hart, in addition to Mrs. Houser's party, Nov. 18.

Storm Hits English Coast.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The Southern coast of England was hit hard today by a lively gale which raged along the channel and did considerable damage to several towns. High seas flooded the waterfront at Worthing and were said to be the worst in 18 years.

GEORGIA CHURCH BOARD CALLS ON BISHOP CANNON TO RESIGN

By the Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, Ga., Nov. 10.—A resolution demanding the resignation of Bishop James Cannon Jr. has been adopted by the board of stewards of St. Paul Methodist Episcopal Church, South. The resolution, passed unanimously last night, asked also that the South Georgia Conference of the church seek Cannon's resignation and condemned the practice "of bishops, ministers of the gospel, presiding elders or other church officials engaging in political controversies and political campaigns as such officials." The board said it was "apprehensive of the future of the Methodist Church and the support of the laymen should the church repeat its activities of 1928."

By the Associated Press.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Nov. 10.—Politics, as such, does not interest the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, but moral issues do, Bishop Edwin D. Mouzon told 10 presiding elders who conferred with him here yesterday and today. "If, after his nomination, any candidate advocates war with Japan or prohibition modification, the Methodist Church will oppose him regardless of his party," said the bishop.

23 HURT, 50 AUTOS STONED IN OHIO RIOT

Motorists Beat Three of Five Men Who Attacked Them From Road.

By the Associated Press.

PORTSMOUTH, O., Nov. 10.—After precipitating a riot by stoning motorists who refused to halt at their requests, four men were jailed in default of heavy fines after pleading guilty to various charges in a Justice of the Peace Court at Stoney Run, near here, yesterday.

Two of the men, both bearing evidences of the fight in which 20 other persons were injured and 50 automobiles damaged by flying stones, were fined $300 and costs for drunkenness and malicious destruction of property. They were Reuben Jarrell, 22 years old, and Steve Osborn, 19. Newton Osborn, 30, and Theodore May, 26, drew fines of $200 and costs for malicious destruction of property. Emmett Osborn, 17, charged with having participated in the attack, was turned over to juvenile authorities. Steven and Emmett Osborn and Jarrell were beaten severely by infuriated motorists whose cars had been used as targets.

The disturbance, county officials said, had its inception when the men's old automobile became disabled four miles west of here late Sunday. Exasperated at the failure of passing motorists to stop and give them aid, the men were alleged to have resorted to force, throwing stones, bricks and pieces of wood through the windshields of numerous cars. More than 200 motorists and nearby residents joined hands in putting down the attackers.

Exchange, and the Tokio Savings Bank which was the first establishment of the kind in Japan. He was also founder of the Tokio Marine Insurance Co., the Nippon Yusen Kaisha and many industries. Directly or indirectly, he assisted in the establishment of more than 80 influential banking and other business corporations, with which he was connected as director or adviser. In 1903, owing to ill health, he resigned all posts except the presidency of the First Bank.

Feeling the need of commercial education for the rising generation he established early in the Meiji era a commercial training school, which was the forerunner of the present Tokio Higher Commercial School. With the support of the late Prin Ito and Count Okuma he established an almshouse called the Tokio Poor House. His was the first name in al charity movements.

His promotion to the peerage in 1900 was in consideration of the immense service he rendered to the country's commercial and industrial development as well as to the cause of public welfare.

Baron Shibusawa was one of the greatest authorities in Japan on Chinese classics. He was an ardent disciple of Confucius. One day of each month he devoted to religious matters, having read to him passages of the Rongo, one of the four books of theories and philosophies of Confucius, and passages from the Bible.

It is probable that the fortune he has left is the largest ever accumulated by any individual business man in Japan.

PEVELY MILK TRUCK REPORTED DISABLED

Disabling of a tank truck of the Pevely Dairy Co. near Sullivan, Mo. was reported yesterday by A. H Ahner, president of Industrial Investigators & Engineers, Inc., special agents retained in the strike of the Sanitary Milk Producers against that dairy.

Ahner said that the driver, Lester Bradley, was stopped as he left Sullivan by two men who forced him to drive the truck a mile south, where they drained the oil and allowed the engine to run until the bearings were impaired, and then tossed what he described as a bomb into the glass-lined milk tank. The two men, Bradley reported, took him 30 miles east of Sullivan and put him out of their machine.

A permanent injunction restraining 30 milk producers in Fayette and Effingham counties, Illinois, from interfering with the Pevely Dairy Co., was issued by Federal Judge Wham following a hearing today in East St. Louis. Those enjoined are members of Sanitary Milk Producers' Association. The Pevely company also has obtained permanent injunctions in Federal courts in St. Louis and Springfield, Ill.

The first hearing in Attorney-General Shartel's preliminary investigation to determine if an antitrust suit is justified in the St. Louis milk market was scheduled for Nov. 30 and Samuel Bushman, Jefferson City attorney, was appointed by the Supreme Court yesterday at Jefferson City as its special commissioner to take sworn testimony. The hearing will be held in the Supreme Court building.

The application filed yesterday by Attorney-General Shartel was the usual preliminary to an antitrust suit, which may oust a corporation from doing business in the State. It named both the Pevely Dairy Co. and the striking Sanitary Milk Producers, with nine other corporations, and asked that their books and records be subpenaed to determine if they, or any others, had violated antitrust legislation.

HOMICIDE VERDICT RETURNED IN DEATH AFTER FIGHT

A Coroner's verdict of homicide was returned today against Vernon Whitworth, a clerk, 5641 Lotus avenue, in the death of Frank Glenz, 27-year-old laborer, who died at City Hospital yesterday of a skull injury following a fight at a house at 916 Hodiamont avenue Sunday night. Glenz lived at 6239 Wagner avenue, Wellston.

George Williams, a collector, 5201 Vernon avenue, testified that he went to the place with Glenz, who became involved in a quarrel with Whitworth. Glenz and Whitworth went to the rear yard, and a few minutes later Whitworth returned to the house and inquired of Williams if he "wanted to take up where your friend left off," Williams testified.

Whitworth, 30, did not take the witness stand. He was ordered held for the Circuit Attorney.

Reverting to the subject of politics, one of the interviewers asked Norris what other "Progressive Democrats" he had in mind except Gov. Roosevelt, as possible opponents of President Hoover next year.

"None," he smiled. "I like Roosevelt."

"Do you like Newton D. Baker?" he was asked. "I do not," he replied. He said he considered Baker's recent employment as counsel by electric power companies which are attempting to break down the Federal water power act, impaired his availability as a candidate for President.

Asked what he thought about the controversy between President Hoover and President Gardiner of the Navy League, Senator Norris said he had no sympathy for "the big navy crowd," but was astonished at the action of President Hoover in picking a committee to pass judgment on the issues between Gardiner and himself.

Picking One's Own Jury.

"However, it might result in an interesting innovation in judicial procedure," chuckled the Senator. "I assume the President would give every citizen the same privilege which he asserted for himself. Under the Hoover plan, anyone accused of something would have the right to select his own jury. That would clear the dockets in a hurry. It might even promote economy, by shortening trials and eliminating the need for additional Judges. Think of the time and money the Government would have saved if Sinclair and Doheny had been permitted to choose their own juries."

ECONOMY BUDGET APPROVED BY PHILIPPINE LEGISLATURE

Islands Will Not Have to Borrow Money This Year to Meet Current Expenses.

By the Associated Press.

MANILA, Nov. 10.—The annual hundred-day session of the Philippine Legislature ended early today with the passage of more than a hundred measures which now go to Governor-General Dwight Davis for action in the next two weeks before his departure for America.

The Governor-General's economy budget was approved almost in its entirety, with the result that the Philippines will end the year as one of the few political subdivisions of the world not required to borrow money to meet current expenses.

A bill proposing woman suffrage passed the House of Representatives but failed to come up for a vote in the Senate.

ASSAILS CUTTING FOOD OUTPUT TO INCREASE PRICES

Harry Hartke, Head of Co-Operative Milk Producers Deplores Plan to Regulate Crops by Law.

Production cutting of food necessaries to raise prices, an element of many amateur and professional suggestions for solving the farm problem, was deprecated by Harry Hartke of Covington, Ky., in his presidential address to representatives of 374,000 farmers in the National Co-Operative Milk Producers' Federation today at Hotel Statler.

Prospects that the united strength of the federation will be devoted to the support of its local member, the Sanitary Milk Producers, in the strike against Pevely Dairy Co., became apparent today following an address not on the program by E. W. Tiedeman, president of the local co-operative. Action is expected in the closing executive sessions.

"If you're successful in placing the St. Louis market on an orderly basis, it is the last fight to be made," said Hartke. "If you are unsuccessful, it probably means the beginning of fights all over the country."

Describes Issues in Strike.

Tiedeman, who is to be toastmaster of the federation's annual dinner tonight, described the issues in the local strike. He read the clause of the Pevely contract, excluding the marketing plan from consideration in determining prices to farmers and thereby, he declared, giving that concern monopolistic control of this market. He was applauded when he added, "No milk buyer in America ever dared to put out a think like that, and I don't think any buyer in America will ever dare to do it again when this thing is over."

Prospects that the united strength of the federation will be devoted to the support of its local member, the Sanitary Milk Producers, in the strike against Pevely Dairy Co., became apparent today following an address not on the program by E. "If you're successful in placing the St. Louis market on an orderly basis, it is the last fight to be made," said Hartke. "If you are unsuccessful, it probably means the beginning of fights all over the country."

Describes Issues in Strike.

Tiedeman, who is to be toastmaster of the federation's annual dinner tonight, described the issues in the local strike. He read the clause of the Pevely contract, excluding the marketing plan from consideration in determining prices to farmers and thereby, he declared, giving that concern monopolistic control of this market. He was applauded when he added, "No milk buyer in America ever dared to put out a think like that, and I don't think any buyer in America will ever dare to do it again when this thing is over."

President Hartke emphasized repeated warnings to dairy farmers that the number of milk cows in this country has been increasing at a rate causing milk prices to drop below pre-war levels. The Farm Board, hecited, pointed out an increase of 3.6 per cent in dairy cattle on Sept. 1 as compared to last year, and the Department of Agriculture expected the increase to reach 5 per cent in the latter half of 1931. Continued building up of herds in disregard of economic law, he warned, would result in "almost universal losses to all producers."

But, he said, "it seems to me that the time has arrived when the consumer must recognize that an ample food supply is essential to the best public interest. Think what would happen if during this depression instead of a surplus of food there was not enough to supply adequately the needs. I think it is safe to say that at least famine and probably a revolution would confront us before another harvest.

Regulating Crops by Law.

"We have already experienced the threat of combinations of states attempting legislation to regulate the production and acreage of crops. We are being importuned from a great many sources that the solution to the agriculture problem is for agriculture to regulate its production.

"To me it seems for the producer of a commodity that is essential to human life to control the supply and determine when there are enough foodstuffs for the consumer would at least be very unfortunate if not a very vicious situation, followed by dire consequence.

"We know as producers if we could keep the nation hungry the value of our products would soar to almost unheard-of prices, and our financial interests would be served by keeping the nation hungry. If we as milk producers had the right and power to regulate the supply of milk, we could demand a price for a quart of milk that would be higher than a quart of bootleg liquor.

Food Supply Protection.

"This nation must recognize that it must protect its food supply. It must," he emphasized, "encourage a modest surplus and assist the farmer in profitably marketing his commodity. Otherwise, the producers will have no recourse except to seek a remedy their own way and in their own interest.

"If the states in the great food-producing areas under some pretext effected legislation to regulate production such as was threatened by some of our Southern states to regulate cotton, the very foundations of our Government would be in danger. Let us, therefore, seek an immediate remedy that will safeguard for them at reasonable prices an adequate food supply."

While the milk producers recognized the marketing act as imperfect and were "probably the only co-operative or farm organization" that opposed its stabilization features, when it was under consideration, he said, this did not seem the time "to permit our enemies to emasculate or amend the act." When its faults and virtues had been demonstrated, he argued, "then the friends of agriculture should unite and correct its weaknesses."

Referring to price reductions in recent months to most of the Federation's member organizations, including the Sanitary Milk Producers in St. Louis, where the retail price also was reduced from 13 to 11 cents a quart, Hartke remarked that most of them seemed justified by lower prices to consumers.

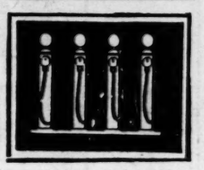

Selling Milk at Loss.

"We must recognize," he continued, "that capital used in handling our product is entitled to a fair return and must not be impaired. On the other hand, capital must recognize that the farmer, in spite of a very efficient operation in producing milk, is selling at a loss and, like the distributer, is as efficient now as he knows how to be, and consequently cannot afford to accept further reductions. If distributers choose or must sell milk at a price that will not give both a profit and there must be a loss, it is only fair that it be borne

TOLLS OFF ST. CHARLES BRIDGE ABOUT DEC. 1

State Has Agreed to Take Over Span as Part of High-way System.

Tolls will not be charged on the St. Charles Bridge across the Missouri River after about Dec. 1, it was announced today. The State Highway Commission has agreed to take the bridge over as a part of U. S. Highways Nos. 40 and 61, as soon as the last payment on the purchase of the bridge has been paid by a citizens' committee, which bought it five years ago.

The purchase price was $1,250,000, and the owner, the St. Louis & St. Charles Bridge Co., agreed to pay itself out of the tolls, including 4½ per cent interest on deferred balances. A contract between the company and the St. Charles Free Bridge Committee, headed by Probate Judge Hodgdon of St. Louis County, provided that title to the structure would pass to St. Charles and St. Louis Counties when the last payment was made.

Some time this month the toll collections will yield the last payment and then tolls will be retained about seven and a half days longer to bring in $7500 required by the State Highway Department for miscellaneous repairs and improvements, including iron railings to replace wood. The State proposes to take over the title from the two counties. Charles D. Bolin, president of the American Thermometer Co., is president of the bridge company and W. V. Delahut, secretary-treasurer, is the operating officer.

The bridge was started about 1902 and opened in 1904, replacing ferry service between St. Charles road and the City of St. Charles.

HEARING ON REMOVAL OF STREET CAR LINE

Public Service Co. Wants to Substitute Busses on Natural Bridge.

A hearing on the application of the Public Service Co. to abandon the Natural Bridge car line in Natural Bridge avenue, from the present terminus at Kingshighway to Grand boulevard was begun by Chairman Stahl of the State Public Service Commission at City Hall today. The company wants to tear up the tracks except for the block between Grand and Spring avenue, where other lines loop.

General Manager Greenland of the company announced at the hearing that bus service between Twelfth boulevard and the city limits would be substituted, if the application is granted. This would mee a demand for service west of Kingshighway.

The city is preparing to widen Natural Bridge from 60 to 100 feet, between Palm street and the city limits. Greenland testified that this would necessitate relocation and reconstruction of the tracks for 2.2 miles at a cost of $345,000, if the line was retained. He declared the company did not have the money and could derive no benefit from its expenditure. He also asserted the operation of trolleys on a widened street would be hazardous.

Greenland explained that at present 20 street cars, each seating 60 passengers, and with standing room for an equal number of persons, are operated over the line during the morning and evening rush periods. In substitution, the company tentatively plans to run 27 busses during the peak hours. The busses would seat 40 passengers and have standing room for about half that number, Greenland said. He explained that the bus schedule would be 31 minutes from Pine Lawn to Twelfth boulevard, as compared with 36 minutes for the combined bus and street car service from Pine Lawn to the downtown district.

Greenland was questioned concerning the investment for busses, and stated that each bus would cost about $12,000, but he added that payment could be arranged on the installment plan out of monthly earnings.

Associate City Counselor Ferris brought out in the questioning that the present street car schedules offer 600 seats an hour, while busses would provide only 400 seats in a similar period. Greenland replied that the number of busses would be increased as requirements demanded, but he expressed the opinion that the present schedules offer more service than is necessary to meet a declining demand. Greenland also stated that the cost of bus operation would be less than that for street cars.

It was understood that residents of the district would oppose the application, although no intervening petition had been filed. Representatives of a number of civic organizations entered appearances at the hearing but did not state in advance whether they would favor or oppose the application.

Twenty merchants of Pine Lawn and three from the vicinity of Goodfellow and Natural Bridge avenues presented statements favoring the proposed bus service on the ground that it would provide through service downtown. About 125 persons attended the morning session, which was held in the Board of Aldermen chambers.

NEVADA SILVER MINE REOPENS

500 Men Will Be Put to Work if Price Reaches 50 Cents.

By the Associated Press.

TONOPAH, Nev., Nov. 10.—The rising price of silver has brought about the reopening of one silver mine in this area and prospects for resumption of work at several others and the employment of 500 men here should the price reach 50 cents an ounce. Silver was quoted yesterday at 35¾ cents an ounce in New York.

The Tonopah Extension mine yesterday announced resumption of operations after the discovery of a new ore body. This mine was shut last year and during the period when silver went below 30 cents an ounce.

SO THIN
SO HOLLOW-CHESTED

— 2 months later he'd gained 14 lbs. new, clear complexion

LAUGHED at, sneered at for a skinny weakling! Pretty hard! To feel only half a man—all in, no appetite, pimply skin. Life seemed hardly worth living.

But today what a difference—husky, healthy-looking, full of pep. The secret? Let Mr. Faneil tell you in his own words:

"I used to be just a run-down skeleton. The fellows always kidded the life out of me when they saw me taking a shower.

"But now, after taking Ironized Yeast for two months, I have put on fourteen pounds. I get real joy out of eating now, and always feel chock full of pep. Never feel all in like I used to. I sleep like a baby and my complexion has cleared up, too." A. C. Faneil, 430 Main St., Winsted, Conn.

• • •

Is your situation similar to Mr. Faneil's? Then see how soon your scrawny figure will round out full and husky with Ironized Yeast. Watch that tired feeling, nervousness and sleeplessness vanish. See complexion clear up—look and feel like a million dollars!

Brings Double Results

Remember, Ironized Yeast is a double tonic. Therefore it gives double the benefits in quicker time. It completely revitalizes the system, purifies blood, recharges nerves at the same time that it builds husky weight. Why? Because it contains both the richest, most nourishing yeast and the finest blood-building iron.

The yeast is specially imported "beer yeast" from the finest breweries in Europe. By a special process this yeast is concentrated 7 times—made 7 times more effective. Then it is scientifically combined with three distinct kinds of blood-enriching, vitalizing iron.

Special No-Risk Offer

Get pleasant little Ironized Yeast tablets from your druggist today. If you are not more than pleased with your gain in health and strength after the very first package, your money will be promptly refunded by manufacturer.

AVOID IMITATIONS! Be sure to get genuine Ironized Yeast and no substitute. Look for "I. Y." on each tablet. At all druggists. Ironized Yeast Co., Atlanta, Ga.

equally by both distributer and producer."

Of all the 55 co-operatives, he reported, all, "except one in St. Louis where only one buyer is involved, are dealing in peace with the manufacturers and distributers in their markets."

Hartke spoke of the merging of dairies in many markets into a few great corporations, so that merely local groups of producers were inadequate singly to negotiate with these national distributing concerns. He expressed the hope that a national organization to meet that situation would be set up before adjournament Thursday noon.

A form of organization was recommended by a special committee in executive session yesterday after two years' study, and the plan was explained to a reporter by Charles W. Holman of Washington, secretary of the Federation.

In the last five years, Holman said five or six corporations have come to own most of the retail agencies with which the co-operatives deal. In St. Louis, for example, two of the larger dairies are said to be associated with one national corporation, and a third with another. The largest St. Louis distributer, however, Pevely Dairy Co., against which the local co-operative is on strike, is independent.

"In the old days," Holman explained, "a local association of producers was sufficiently strong to deal with a local dealer. Today we may find ourselves confronted by the same dealer in every city. To meet that situation, it seems advisable to incorporate a fluid milk sales organization, with the local co-operatives holding the membership stock.

"By this move we would be able to meet nation-wide ownership with national organization. The new group would function only in emergency, but in emergency it would throw the strength of 150,000 to 200,000 producers—only a little more than half our co-operatives handle fluid milk—to the support of the producers on any one market."

SHARTEL ORDERS INVESTIGATION OF MINE DISORDERS

Sends Assistant to Higginsville Where Beating of 35 Non-Union Workers Led to Closing of Shafts.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 10.—Attorney-General Shartel announced yesterday he was sending Assistant Attorney-General J. D. Purteet to Higginsville to assist authorities of Lafayette County in investigation of mob violence against nonunion miners last Tnursday, and to assist in preventing recurrence of the disorders.

He said he would send other investigators to help the Sheriff and Prosecuting Attorney, if needed, and that if threats of further violence continued, he would recommend to Gov. Caulfield that the National Guard be called out to preserve order.

"The people of this State are tired of the wave of crime and violence which constitutes a direct challenge to the authorities, Shartel said. He pointed out that, in addition to the violence at Higginsville, there have been repeated acts of violence in the St. Louis milk strike, and that theaters have been bombed in Kansas City recently in connection with labor trouble.

Operators Appeal to Governor.

Shartel made the announcement following a conference with Gov. Caulfield on the situation at Higginsville.

As has been told, a delegation of coal mine operators from Higginsville and Corder called on Gov. Caulfield Saturday and asked for protection for their mines and nonunion miners, following an outbreak Thursday, when a mob of 150 men waylaid nonunion miners on their way to work and beat them.

Thirty-five men were beaten with stones, bricks and pick handles, 10 of them so severely that they required medical attention.

The operators, headed by J. L. Stratman of Higginsville, told the Governor there has been no trouble between the mine companies and their employes over the wages being paid, and that there were no disturbances in the district before organizers for the United Mine Workers of America appeared in the field recently and attempted to organize the miners.

The operators told the Governor their employes were satisfied with their pay and wanted to work, but were afraid because of the attack Thursday and threats of more serious violence. Mines at Higginsville and Corder were closed temporarily after the outbreak Thursday.

Afraid to Reopen Mines.

The mine owners informed the Governor they had been unable to obtain definite assurances of protection from Prosecuting Attorney W. W. Schwartz and Sheriff Karl Hammer of Lafayette County, and did not want to reopen their mines until they were assured their property and the lives of their employes would be safeguarded.

The Governor told the delegation he would take up the matter with Shartel, and an investigation would be made. He explained the State had no authority to intervene unless local law enforcement authorities failed to function, but that the National Guard could be called out to preserve order if necessary.

The Governor pointed out that under the law the Attorney-General could be assigned to aid local authorities, if the local authorities requested such aid. Mayor R. A. Huscher of Higginsville then made a request.

Shartel said Purteet was assigned at Huscher's request, and also will be available to assist Prosecuting Attorney Schwartz if the latter requests it.

The Attorney-General said he had confidence in the ability of local authorities, but desired to co-operate, "because of the importance of keeping Missouri safe from violence and flagrant disregard for law and order."

Right of "Peaceful Persuasion."

"We recognize the right of all citizens to present their grievances in a peaceful and orderly fashion, and their right to resort to peaceable persuasion," Shartel said, "but their relations must not culminate in violence. No one has the right to engage in activities which jeopaddise the lives and property of others.

"I favor labor in securing good wages and good working conditions but my sympathy ends where violence begins. The best element of labor is secretly, if not openly, for law and order. Many are intimidated by influence within their own ranks and do not dare to express their thoughts. But my personal knowledge is that the average working man who tries to raise his family decently, warmly welcomes and squarely stands for law and order. The prime lesson for all true friends of labor to learn is that law and order must be impartially preserved by the State as a basis for securing justice."

Is the Modern woman going Antique?

YES, the girls wear Empress Eugenie hats—but that seems to be the only noticeable tendency that the modern woman is going antique.

Isn't it rather hard to imagine yourself tearing down the street in an old surrey, say at 3 miles an hour? Picture, if you can, a modern woman reading a true story by the light of a kerosene lamp.

No, you wouldn't want to live like they used to.

Perhaps one of the things you would miss most would be the telephone. Wonder what Grandma did when these things happened: pouring down rain, and not a grocery in the house; no way to order quickly . . friends, haven't seen them for days; no way to reach them . . noise in the basement; burglars, maybe! . . no telephone book with the names of friends, relatives, business houses . . relatives in a distant city; are they well? . . a child's face, pale against a pillow; a doctor, quick!

It is hard to do without a telephone. Why should you, when the service costs so little?

Direct Line $4.50

Live with Aunt Susan?
If you do, have your name listed in the telephone book with her number. It helps friends reach you easily. Just ask for an additional directory listing. When you live with relatives, it costs only 25 cents a month.

Your line busy?
With an individual line, your telephone never will be in use except when you or a member of your family uses it. Privacy is assured. Costs little more than party-line service.

Don't hear well?
An amplifying set may be just what you need. It helps many who hear with difficulty to enjoy the sound of their friends' voices. Volume control. Key cuts off amplifier when others use the telephone. Demonstration free. Additional monthly cost, $2.

Losing calls?
You can easily hear the telephone ring, if you have an extension gong near the back of the house. Small chance of "lost calls" with an extension gong.

They can't "listen in"
If you have more than one telephone, you can "cut off" one while you talk in privacy over the other. You also can silence upstairs telephone bells for afternoon naps. Ask for a "cut-off" key. Cost, 15 cents a month.

What? A Telephone in the Kitchen?

Forget to order something?
If you're like lots of women, you may find you're out of something right in the middle of preparing dinner. That's when the handy kitchen telephone meets another emergency.

Like to sleep late?
Folks may think you're lazy . . . but why not make or answer calls from your bed? Mighty nice when you're sick, too . . . saves jumping up from afternoon naps . . . adds a distinctive touch to your bedroom.

Or perhaps a portable telephone
It plugs into the wall like a lamp. Move it from one location to another as you need it. Ask for details at the telephone office. Extra charge for installing sockets.

For sale . . . One step saver
One man stayed with the baby while his wife went shopping. Before she got home he'd ordered an extension telephone. "Saves at least a mile a day," he declares. An extension telephone saves many, many weary trips.

Watch
Child's Tongue
... to Avoid Sickness

IF YOUR child's tongue gets coated, it is a sign that resistance against disease has been lowered. ●

Even in a healthy child, food wastes throw poisons into the body. There is a protective fluid (the secretion of the glands of the colonic membranes) which is supposed to fight and carry off these poisons. Sometimes this fluid fails.

Almost immediately you see in your child the symptoms of what doctors call "self-poisoning." The appetite fails, the breath gets bad, the tongue is coated, the complexion gets blotchy and muddy. If this condition is not taken care of, resistance against germs is lowered—the child catches cold easily, or perhaps even more serious diseases.

Your doctor will tell you there is a natural substance which acts in the same way as the protective body fluid, fighting and carrying away the life-spoiling poisons. This is Nujol—colorless and tasteless as pure water—not a drug—not a medicine—and so harmless that you can give it even to a little baby.

Be sure, however, that your child takes it regularly—every day. Probably a teaspoonful will be enough. Now watch the appetite come back, the eyes get bright, the spirits soar! Three quarters of all children's sickness vanishes before crystal-clear Nujol, that you can get for so little at any drug store.

$1,032,000 SEWER TAX CERTIFIED IN COUNTY

A total of $1,032,697.63 in preliminary taxes in six of the eight St. Louis County sewer districts has been certified to the County Collector for collection on the 1931 tax bills, according to figures announced by John E. Mooney, president of the Taxpayers' Protective Association, at a meeting of Webster Groves property owners at Webster Groves High School last night.

No sewers have been built under the Ralph sewer law, under which the districts were incorporated, and which was repealed last spring with the provision that the districts should assess taxes on an area basis for expenses incurred in preliminary work. These expenses were paid by warrants issued by the district Boards of Supervisors and honored by St. Louis financial organizations which were promised exclusive privilege of later purchasing district bonds.

The preliminary taxes are based on an assessment of 10 cents for each 100 square feet, except in the Webster Groves district, where the assessment is 7 cents, and Wellston, where it is 18 cents. Assessments for each district are: Overland, $40,252; Webster Groves, $121,683; Wellston, $176,305 Central, $222,809; Lamay Ferry, $29,602; St. Ferdinand, $442,026. The Jennings aand Kirkwood districts have not taken steps toward collection of preliminary taxes.

AMERICA'S POLITICAL MACHINE WORN OUT, WELLS TELLS FORD

English Historian Also Says He Is "Quite Prepared to See British Empire Go to Pieces."

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 10.—One of the things H. G. Wells, English historian and novelist, liked about Henry Ford in a long visit yesterday was that he did not ask about political changes in England.

By saying nothing about the merger of parties, Wells told interviewers after the visit, Ford gauged correctly its comparative unimportance. The significance of the merger, Wells asserted, has been greatly overemphasized.

Among other things, Wells said in the interview that the British Empire as a political arrangement "may have served its purpose," and that he is quite prepared to see it go to pieces.

Of the United States, he said the country is dealing with a "1921 industrialism, a political system 100 years old and a financial system that has simply grown up and wasn't planned to meet such enormous requirements."

In education, he saw a possible "missing link" toward reconstruction of politics.

"The world will get nowhere," he asserted, "so long as it continues to drill into its children a voracious nationalism."

CHICAGO BANK INDICTMENTS

John H. Bain Said to Have Been Named in Two Counts.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—John H. Bain, son of John Bain, South Side political leader and head of 12 defunct banks, was reported to have been indicted yesterday on two counts along with two former Bain bank cashiers. His bond was set at $10,000. One bill was said to charge of obtaining money by false pretenses and the other conspiracy and larceny.

At the time the grand jury was meeting, Judge Michael Feinberg was conducting an investigation of the activities and financial status of the elder Bain and his companies. Bain's secretary told the Court her employer's net worth last June 1, shortly before his banks closed, was $1,600,000. Bain previously testified he was without funds.

Mexico Lays Tariff on Wool.

By the Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 10.—A sliding tariff on wool has been announced by the Government to protect and build up the industry in Mexico. A year's grace is allowed to develop home production before the measure becomes effective, so as not to cripple industries manufacturing wool products. In some cases present tariffs of 35 cents become 50 cents next year, and nearly $1 in 1933. President Ortiz Rubio has received extraordinary powers from the Senate to reform other tariff laws.

SON WHO PLANS TO SUE OVER EDISON WILL DEFEND STAND

Declares Effort Is Being Made to Show He Was Not on Good Terms With Father.

By the Associated Press.

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 10.—William Edison, son of the late Thomas A. Edison, says he thinks interests opposed to him are trying to establish the impression he was not always on friendly terms with his father.

In a formal statement issued last night, he asserted that although he did not wish to make attacks on personalities, he believed a campaign headed by his half brother, Charles, was trying to imply "I am the only son that never stuck by my father."

Edison mentioned his intended contest to break his father's will and added that the efforts against him were being made by those "selfishly concerned in maintaining the will and codicil."

"I am not attacking my brother Thomas nor any of my father's children," he said. "If my brother Thomas, does not see fit to fight for his own rights, that is his affair and I am merely sorry for his weakness.

"But when he allows himself to be dominated by those defending the present disposition of the estate to the extent of inferring in the public press that my relations with father were not of the best, as I am convinced in the case, that is my affair."

CREDITORS ASKS FOR SALE OF INTERURBAN BUS LINE

By the Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 10.—Application for the sale of the property of the Interstate Transit Co., Inc., operator of a network of interurban motor bus lines, at Cincinnati, was made in Federal District Court yesterday by the Mack International Motor Truck Co., New York.

The New York concern is complainant in the receivership proceedings against the Interstate Transit Co. Inc., and the City Transit Co., Norwood, O., is intervenor.

The two companies hold mortgage liens against the Interstate company for about $1,250,000, those of the Mack company covering all busses operated by Interstate Transit and the City Transit holding all capital stock of Colonial Stages South and Colonial Stages East, subsidiaries of Interstate Transit.

A hearing is to be held in Federal Court Nov. 2 and unless valid objections are registered, sale of the property will be at auction on Nov. 30.

In the future a second roadway, separated from the first by a park strip, will be made between Broadway and St. Cyr. The improvement stopped several hundred feet south of Chain of Rocks Bridge because sufficient right of way for the northern extremity of the street has not been obtained yet.

The last section of Kingshighway Northwest, from the intersection of Broadway and Riverview drive to Hall's Ferry road, will be opened to traffic in about two weeks. This is a 22-foot concrete roadway, and in the future a second roadway will be installed there, with a park strip.

On widened Gravois avenue, where a 76-foot asphalt roadway is being laid between Twelfth street and Grand boulevard, the section between Arsenal street and Compton avenue will be finished and opened to traffic tomorrow. The sections between Twelfth and Eighteenth streets and between Compton and Grand are done. Between Eighteenth and Arsenal the work will be completed next month.

HOOVER LOOKING FORWARD TO A BUSY THREE WEEKS

Budget and Annual Messages and a Dozen Appointments Will Occupy His Time.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—President Hoover is considering the names of various men to fill two vacancies on the Tariff Commission, one on the Farm Board and 10 or 15 judiciary posts.

He said today he hoped to have selections by the time Congress meets, but had made no decision yet. Mr. Hoover, smiling, told the press conference he expected to be extremely busy during the next three weeks, in studying these appointments, his annual message to Congress, and the budget message.

The budget message of this year, he asserted, would be of unusual importance, and would rank with the usually more important annual message.

"It will require more thought than usual," he said, "because of emergency measures to be presented for action."

In order to formulate the proposals to be placed in both messages, he plans to confer often during coming weeks with the heads of various Government departments.

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 10.—Ray Bernstein, Harry Keywell and Irving Milberg weer found guilty of first degree murder in the killing of three men in a Collingwood avenue apartment house by a Recorder's Court jury at noon today.

He named Harry Fleisher, also a reputed Purple gangster, as the fourth member of the execution squad.

He was asked no questions relating to the charges against Bob, a mining engineer and aviation enthusiast, who purchased from Byrd the monoplane built for the Antarctic expedition. Bob wanted the plane for use in traveling between his numerous properties.

WOMAN DRY IS SUBPENAED

Mrs. Jesse W. Nicholson Asked About Charges Against Wet Group.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10. — Mrs. Jesse W. Nicholson was brought to the United States Attorney's office under subpena today, to discuss her charges that the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment violated the Corrupt Practices act.

Mrs. Nicholson, president of the National Women's Democratic Law Enforcement League, wrote District Attorney Rover that testimony before the Senate Lobby Committee showed the association violated the law by failing to report contributions to the clerk of the House. She asked Rover what action, in view of the indictment of Bishop James Cannon Jr., for alleged violation of the act, would be taken against the Anti-Prohibition Association. Rover invited Mrs. Nicholson to his office to discuss the case. When she declined the invitation, he issued a subpena. Meanwhile, the charges have been under investigation by Assistant District Attorney John Wilson, prosecutor in the case of the Southern Methodist churchman.

MODERN BIBLE PUBLISHED

By the Associated Press.

The purpose of the book, Edgar J. Goodspeed, one of its translators, said, "is to give the American people—the child, man in the street, the woman in the home—as well as the minister and student, a book to understand and enjoy."

Machinery in the building was seriously damaged. The Maryland Heights Fire Department, a volunteer organization, was unable to reach the fire due to closed roads.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA ELEVEN TO PLAY IN ROSE BOWL GAME

ANNUAL BATTLE WITH EASTERN TEAM LIKELY TO BE FOR CHARITY

93,000 Persons Paid $280,000 to See Coast Contest

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10.

SETTING a new high mark for Pacific Coast football, 93,000 persons paid approximately $280,000 to witness the Stanford-University of Southern California game at the Olympic Stadium here last Saturday. U. S. C. won, 19 to 0. The figure also tops the list for football games of the nation so far this season.

Arnold Eddy, graduate manager of S. C., said an exact statement of money paid in could not be made for several weeks.

By the Associated Press.

PASADENA, Cal., Nov. 10.—University of Southern California's Trojans, with the Pacific Coast Conference title almost won, have been selected to shoulder the burden of the West in the seventeenth annual Rose Tournament football game here, Jan. 1.

While no official statement was forthcoming from the university, it was considered likely that the game will be played for chartly. Dr. Rufus B. von Kleinsmid said earlier in the season that the Trojans were eager to play for the benefit of the unemployed.

Selection of an opponent, which probably will not come until the schedules of the leading teams east of the Mississippi have run their course, is left entirely to the Western school.

Five teams, however, stand the best chance of receiving this invitation, it was officially said. The five are Northwestern, Cornell, Tulane, Tennessee and Georgia.

Should a team from the South be chosen, it will be the fifth time in the last seven years that an eleven from below the Mason and Dixon line has participated in the intersectional classic. In that time the Southerners have won three contests and tied the other one, leaving the Coast standard bearers barren of victories.

But the count stands in favor of the West with other Eastern opponents. Since Brown played Washington State in the first official game back in 1916, losing 14 to 0, the West has won six games, lost two and tied two.

The Trojans must defeat Montana at Los Angeles Saturday and Washington at the same site Dec. 5 to win the Coast championship. They will finish with no less than a tie, however, if they lose one of the games.

WRESTLERS IN CONDITION FOR TOMORROW'S SHOW

Winners of the four heavyweight events making up the card for tomorrow night's wrestling show at The Arena will be brought back for engagements on his next program, according to Promoter Tom Packs, who stated today that he will endeavor to line up either Jimmy Londos or Ray Steele to meet the winner of the match between Hans Kampfer and Pat O'Shocker, heading tomorrow night's bill.

Kampfer was promised a return match with Londos after the latter defeated the hefty German grappler at The Arena last Sept. 30 but but Londos, now recognized as world's heavyweight champion by the National Wrestling Association, has spurned several attractive offers for the bout.

Both of the principals in the headliner were reported to be in physical shape as they prepared to conclude training with light workouts at the National Gymnasium. The grapplers billed for the prelim events are also tuned up and ready to swing into action, according to their handlers.

Earl McCready of Canada and Indian Jim McClinkstock of Oklahoma will meet in the semifinal of tomorrow night's program, a one-fall event with a time limit of 45 minutes, while Gino Garibaldi, local Italian headlock artist, engages Milo Steinborn of Germany; and Ernie Dusek of Omaha tackles Louis Jennings, grappling Cherokee Indian, in the earlier events, each limited to 30 minutes.

By the Associated Press.

RIVERSIDE, Cal., Nov. 10.—Romance has caught up with Jess Mortensen, National A. A. U. decathlon champion. The parents of Miss Irene Ross, graduate of the University of California at Los Angeles, have announced her engagement to the former football, basketball and track star of the University of Southern California. They are to be married here June 16. Miss Ross is assistant librarian at Riverside Junior College, where Mortensen is physical education instructor.

St. Louis Team Which Will Play in Mid-West Hockey Meet

The All-St. Louis girls' field hockey team, composed of the leading players of the district, have their eyes set on winning the Mid-west tournament at Chicago, this week-end, and the hopes appear likely to be realized. According to field hockey followers the team is the strongest that has been gathered together here in several seasons.

All players on the team starred while members of their respective school squads, and although they haven't practiced together as much as might be desired, as a unit, the last workout yesterday afternoon indicated that the team is well-balanced and has a fair degree of team work.

If the team is able to play a good offensive game and score goals a tournament victory appears certain, for the defense is considered exceptionally strong.

Three other teams will participate in the Mid-west event, which opens Friday and continues through Sunday. These teams will represent Chicago, Milwaukee and Wetomacheek, Wis. St. Louis will begin action Friday afternoon, meeting the Wetomacheck club in the first round.

The All-St. Louis team will oppose the traveling Scotch team, Nov. 21, at Heman Park in University City. The game has attracted sharp interest among field hockey followers. Reservations for reserved seating sections have already been received from Missouri, Stephens College and Oklahoma College for Women.

WRAY'S COLUMN

A Real "All-American" Team.

ANNUALLY we harvest our crop of all-America teams; but it remained for the old master, Glenn Warner, to name an 18-karat all-"American" eleven.

That involves some word juggling since all-America is a territorial distinction and all-American is a racial one. Warner's team, consisting entirely of Indians, is strictly an all-"American" type.

No one is better qualified to speak from this angle than the former coach of the Carlisle Indian teams.

Warner first challenged the attention of the country as a coach by his remarkable success with the elevens representing the Carlisle institution, now defunct. Some of the greatest players of the country, all of native American Indian stock, the true aborigine blood of this continent, served under Warner's banner at Carlisle. And, although he may have achieved more signal fame as coach of Cornell, Pittsburg and Stanford University elevens, in no instance did he accomplish as much with so limited a number of men to choose from as at Carlisle.

• • •

All-Time Indian Stars.

The deeds of Warner's great players are still recounted by "old grads." Some of the stars might even make all-time, all-America teams, men like Jim Thorpe, Frank Mount Pleasant, Hudson, Bemis Pierce and others.

You old-timers who followed football before it became a big business, can figure what an eleven this all-"American" team of Pop Warner's would make if turned loose under modern conditions, with three weeks of practice to effect co-ordination. Run over these names:

ENDS — Exendine, Eddie Rogers.
GUARDS — Wheelock and Bemis Pierce.
CENTER—Lone Wolf Hunt.
QUARTERBACK — Frank Mount Pleasant or Jimmy Johnson.
HALFBACKS — Joe Guyon and Jim Thorpe.
FULLBACK—Pete Hauser.

• • •

That may not be the best all-time, all-America team, but for native all-American honors, you can't beat it. Incidentally, given a chance to work together, it probably would hold its own with any eleven, professional or amateur, of all time.

• • •

It was Glenn Warner who developed the raw material that made these Indians great. Of all the coaches now active in the country, Warner ought to wear the highest honors. Wherever he coached, whatever his material, he was always equal to the job. At least, they have never been able to keep him down, long.

He Has a Weigh With Him.

THERE'S something fishy going on. It concerns Kingfish Levinsky, who is reported to have been matched with Primo Carnera for a Nov. 19 date at Chicago. The piscatorial flavor is not entirely due to the fact that Levinsky is a fish peddler. Rather it concerns the scales. In this way:

Press material sent out about the fight declares that "Carnera will have a weight advantage of 40 pounds; Levinsky will tip the beam at 208 pounds."

Yet it is only a few short months ago that Levinsky stepped on the scales for a match in St. Louis with Al Stillman and the highest kick he could get out of the beam was 165. What has happened to the Kingfish since?

If Levinsky has taken on more than 40 pounds weight in a year or so, he just won't do. Mature men can't do that and be strong.

Football Merchandising.

IS it Yale's football team the customers want to see, or is the opposition a 50-50 factor in filling Yale's bowl?

Let's refer to the records of the year. Saturday Yale and St. John's drew an attendance of 5000 persons. No chance for a thrill there, and so alma mater's athletic treasury had an off day.

Then on the Saturday before there was the Yale-Dartmouth game. Approximately 35,000 persons saw that battle at a cost of $4 a person, total gate, $140,000. Before that there was the Yale-Georgia intersectional game, with the admission at only $1 per person, 65,000 being present.

Dartmouth, with only about half the attendance at the Georgia intersectional game, made twice as much money for the Yale treasury!

One wonders how Yale's price schedule is figured. Normally, Georgia, having trounced Yale last year, and being an intersectional and also a national championship rival, would appear at this long range to be the greater attraction as compared to Dartmouth, and therefore worth a higher price.

• • •

But Yale's athletic men know their vegetables. Traditional foes draw more than twice as well as casual rivals, at twice or three times the prices.

Nevertheless, we still think that Georgia's prestige would have enabled it to draw the same 65,000 persons to the game, at double the price.

• • •

However, Yale does not have to worry about its athletic intake. The first university to launch the "bowl" idea, its policy has not only enriched its

Nichols Signed For 10-Rounder On Armory Card

Johnny Nichols, Oklahoma featherweight, whose local ring appearances have been impressive, has signed articles to take on a worthy opponent in one of the supporting 10-round battles on the next Walter Hatzfeld American Legion Post fistic card, scheduled to be held Wednesday night, Nov. 18, at the Armory.

Nichols has proven popular here since he boxed cleverly in his fights with Johnny "Peewee" Kaiser and Allen Whitlow. Kaiser was given a big surprise when he tackled Nichols and was forced to fight his hardest throughout. Nichols, who now calls St. Louis his home city, would like to trade blows with Howard Scott and Lou Terry. The latter two, by the way, recently fought to a draw.

Matchmaker Tippett is still trying to close his feature 10-round battle. Al Stillman, heavy punching St. Louis light heavyweight, will be one of the ring foes in the star battle. Willie Oster of Boston, who has been turning in victories with great regularity in and around Chicago, is the fighter Tippett wants to send against Stillman. Stillman has not accepted the match as yet. Another 10-rounder, a six-round battle and a four-round curtain-raiser rounds out the card.

STREET IN FIELD FOR QUAIL SEASON OPENING

Gabby Street, manager of the world champion Cardinals, was out in the fields near Joplin, Mo., today, with shotgun and dog, hunting quail, according to a telegram from Mrs. Street, received by the Post-Dispatch this morning.

It had been reported that Street would appear at a St. Louis theater in the interest of an American Legion membership drive, and a telegram to the Street home, seeking to verify the report, brought the following reply:

"Mr. Street is hunting quail and will not be in St. Louis today or tomorrow."

VOLZ GETS 678 TOTAL IN NEWSPAPER LEAGUE

The Green Sheets went into undisputed possession of first place in the Newspaper Bowling League at Peterson's alleys last night by winning the odd game from the second-place Intertypes. The Green Sheets have won 20 games, while the Intertypes have won 19. Bobby Volz cracked the pins for a 678 total, to lead the winners, while V. Helmer rolled 630 to pace the Intertypes.

The Sport Specials whitwashed the Bungles and are now only two games back of the leading Green Sheets. The Sport Specials rolled 2878, with Ray Albers getting 606 and Bill Eifert 601, while the Bungles shot 2714, with Francis Hubecky getting 575.

The Agates won three games from the Orange Sheets and the States took two from the Gumps in the other matches. C. Piesbergen shot 618 for the Agates. Volz and Piesbergen split the weekly single-game prize, each getting a 245 game.

Gunners to Meet Des Moines Team In Game Sunday

The fourth team to be brought into St. Louis by the Battery A Gunners, professional football eleven, will be the Des Moines Hawkeyes, who are scheduled to meet Coach Jimmy Conzelman's eleven next Sunday at Public Schools Stadium.

A fast, experienced squad is what advance information says of the Des Moines outfit, which has been in the professional field 11 years and during that time has had the advantage of training under the same coach.

The Gunners will be seeking their third consecutive victory when they meet the Des Moines eleven, as they have defeated the Kansas City Cowboys, 24-0, and the Chicago Panthers, 6-0, in their last two games, after opening their season with a 6-6 tie with the Peoria Tractors.

Practice will be resumed by the Gunners tonight. Lew Leeka, former U. of Iowa halfback, is due to report for his first workout.

CARNERA WILL START TRAINING FOR FIGHT WITH KING LEVINSKY

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Primo Carnera, Italy's biggest heavyweight, was due in Chicago today to pay a fine and begin training for his 10-round bout with King Levinsky, the former fish monger, in the Chicago Stadium, Nov. 19.

Carnera has been under suspension by the Italian Boxing Union and the National Boxing Association, which has a working agreement with the foreign group, for failure to fulfill an engagement in Italy two years ago. His representatives agreed to pay off the $1350 fine, and the Illinois State Athletic Commission yesterday granted the stadium permission to stage the Levinsky bout.

To Dedicate Field House.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—The University of Chicago basketball team will play its first game in the new $700,000 fieldhouse Dec. 30 against Carleton College. The building will have as its opening attraction the second annual Christmas week interscholastic basketball tournament, which has replaced the national championship tournament of other years.

PATIENT BEARS STUDY KANSAS PLAYS IN DRILL FOR NEXT GAME

By J. Roy Stockton.

Give the Washington University football player a great big hand, folks. He deserves it. He did taste victory in the first two games of the season, against William Jewell and Illinois College, but since that last triumph of Oct. 3, defeats and hard work have been his lot.

And if you don't believe that hard work is part of it, consider the schedule of the Bear athlete yesterday. Bruised and aching after the 25—0 reverse at the hands of Grinnell, which incidentally was the team's fifth consecutive defeat, the Bear football player hobbled from class about 4:30 o'clock and put on a uniform. There was a long signal drill and dummy scrimmage and it was after 6 o'clock when Coach Al Sharpe called a halt to the gridiron activities.

Now for the Night Work.

But that wasn't the end of the day's work for the pigskin chaps. No, indeed. Other students had their feet under the table by this time, but the football player couldn't even go home for dinner. He had to pick up a hurried meal on the campus, at his own expense, and report for a football meeting. Kansas plays had to be studied. Plans had to be laid to make it as difficult as possible for the Jayhawkers to score a victory Saturday afternoon.

Line Coach Gale Bullman, using the blackboard, diagrammed the Kansas plays and told each Washington player what he was supposed to do to stop each play. There was a round table discussion of each play and at the finish the players were told to go home and study the plays. They would be used against the varsity this afternoon by the second and third teams, in scrimmage.

By that time it was 9 o'clock and then all the football player had to do was to go home and do his studying. Other students had their home work well in hand by this time and, if they so selected, could hit the hay.

One Evening Meeting a Week.

Ordinarily a football squad attends two evening meetings a week, like the one of yesterday, but for this particular squad of players, whose courage now must be that of Cyrano de Bergerac, the coaches have cut the night work in half.

Yes, it's a tough job, this playing of football. When a team wins, there is the glory of victory as a reward for extra service. But the Bears have lost five straight and they are prepared for another defeat Saturday when they play Kansas and still another when they meet the powerful Billikens of Chile Walsh on Thanksgiving day. You have to hand it to young men who report day after day for gridiron work under such circumstances and when they hand out letters to the athletes of the 1931 squad they ought to tack on something extra—a red badge of courage.

According to the coaches the Bears are making progress in the business of perfecting plays for the remaining games. The floating back has been discarded and the Washington backfield is using a new formation. They are trying to find some way to score a touchdown. They haven't had one since Oct. 13. And it will be a good trick if they can work it.

THURNBLAD TO MEET REISELT TOMORROW IN 200-POINT EXHIBITION

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Arthur Thurnblad, the world's three-cushion billiard champion, will open his Eastern tour, his first visit East since he won the title last January, when he meets Otto Reiselt in a 200-point match at Allinger's in Philadelphia. This match opens tomorrow afternoon and ends Thursday night. There will be four blocks of 50 points each. In their meeting in the world's championship tourney in Chicago, Thurnblad turned back the Philadelphia veteran by 50 to 31.

Thurnblad also has arranged to play Willie Hoppe and Joe Chamaco at the Strand Academy in New York City. Starting the week of Nov. 16, he will meet Chamaco in a 600-point match, which will be 12 blocks of 50 points each. Then on Nov. 23 he will open a 600-point match against Hoppe. In their last meeting, which was in Milwaukee seven years ago, Thurnblad defeated Hoppe, 100 to 52, a genuine billiard upset.

Following the matches in New York Thurnblad intends to return to Chicago by automobile and while en route he will stop in a number of cities for special exhibitions. He is tentatively listed to play in Buffalo, Harrisburg, Pa.; Pittsburg, Zanesville, O.; Columbus, Dayton, Cincinnati and Indianapolis.

Davis-Elkins Is Rated Stronger and Smarter Than Oklahoma City U

By James M. Gould.

That's the way Assistant Coach Joe Maxwell, after scouting Davis-Elkins against St. Thomas at Scranton, Pa., Saturday, summed up the eleven that will oppose the St. Louis U. Billikens at Washington Stadium Friday night.

"Davis-Elkins is a team composed of experienced players," Maxwell continued. "One of their best men is Hawley, the captain, who got his early football training at Haskell Institute and, while there, was of near All-America rating."

"Well, if they were so good, why didn't they run up more of a score against St. Thomas?" he was asked.

Took Things Easy.

"Oh, they could have scored oftener," the coach replied, "but it seemed to me that they just 'got hot' until they had scored enough to make the game safe and then dropped back into defensive tactics. Why, they threw only three passes and one of these was good for a touchdown."

"How about their attack?"

"They've got one. They use a lot of spinners on a double wing-back formation. Their backs, the best combination of them, will average around 175 and their line will be heavier than ours. Also, their defense is very tight. In a few words, they're plenty good."

With this report from their scout, the Billikens will buckle down to hard work again today. There wasn't even a lecture Sunday and yesterday was devoted just to loosening up tired muscles.

Head Coach Walsh joins his assistant in expecting a hard game from a team which, unbeaten, untied and unscored upon, has run up 299 points in eight games, an average of 37 points per game. It isn't so much this offense—for Davis-Elkins has played no really tough teams—that impresses the St. Louis coaches, but the defense which has kept the goal line and the cross bar of the posts uncrossed this season.

"Any team that can do that has got something," Walsh says.

The value of stiff opposition probably will be shown when the clash comes, Friday night. The Billikens have had to battle in every game this year; the visitors have had a pretty easy time of it.

St. Louis has a fine opportunity to get national publicity by being the first to score upon and [illegible] this team of West Virginians, [illegible] the feeling out around the Stadium is that if the Billikens click as they did against Loyola last Friday they'll do both those things.

Several of the leaders in the slaught on Loyola were excused from all work yesterday. Among them were Bassett, Arenz, La Porte, Muellerleile, Schumacher, Kinney, Montgomery, Kennedy and McGowan. All will be out with sumie work today, as Coach Walsh wants to keep the whole squad at the peak of form they attained last week.

Just Light Work.

Whatever scrimmages there will this week for the Billikens will be "dummy" affairs. Walsh feels that his men need rest as much as anything else. His entire varsity squad will be ready Friday if called upon, as it was in New Orleans. "Chief" used everybody he took with him except Bob McCoole and the latter is sure to get plenty of work against Davis-Elkins. McCoole missed three games in a row but is r'arin' to go. Hoy, hurt at New Orleans, is all right again, but didn't don a uniform yesterday and probably will take light exercise today.

The Davis-Elkins game finishes up the Billiken season except for the biggest game of all—that with the Washington Bears. Naturally a victory in the Thanksgiving day contest is "more to be desired than much fine gold" by the Billikens who have not won from their rivals for 13 years. Twice in that time they have gained a tie and once have they won, so victory this year, if won, would be extra sweet.

If the Bears should upset the dope and win Thanksgiving day, it would end the Billikens' 1931 season. Should St. Louis win, the team will continue in training for the Chicago game with Missouri University Dec. 5.

ALL-STAR TEAMS PLAY IN SOCCER GAME TOMORROW

By Herman Wecke.

When the Municipal All-Stars oppose a picked eleven from the professional circuit in the feature game of the Soccer Players' Protective Association program at Sportsman's Park tomorrow afternoon, the public parks representatives will tackle a well-balanced club. The contest will be the second of a double-header, the Spanish Club facing an Italian eleven in the opener, starting at 2 o'clock.

Two former Chicago aces, Willie McLean and Bob Gregg, now with the Stix team, have been selected to play with the professionals. McLean will be at outside right forward, while Gregg will pair with Joe Hand at halfback.

The professional club will be made up as follows: Hamm, goal; Gregg and Hand, fullbacks; Benoist, Tracy and Egan, halfbacks; McAuliffe, Moore, Hennessy, Nash and McLean, forwards. The reserves are Gallagher, Reidy, McGirl, Zensen, Lehman and Nolan.

Several former professional leaguers will be on the eleven picked to face this aggregation. Included in this lot are Bertel, Rich, Schweppe, Brengle, Thumm and Jim McCarthy. Brengle made his debut in the Muny circuit last Sunday with the Longos, after being released by the Andersons.

The Muny All-Star roster is made up of the following: Dumas and Bertel, goalies; Runge, Rich, Banaker and Wyland, fullbacks; Malone, Schweppe, Ahrens, O'Connor and Ulmer, halfbacks; Brengle, Thumm, Jim McCarthy, Roe, O'Mara, Kane and Murphy, forwards.

The double referee system will be used, with Len Zarschel and John Cradock handling the contest. The admission is 25 cents, with all funds going to the Players' Association, which has taken out insurance on 557 players now members of the organization.

Tight Defensive Play.

Sensational defensive play has featured matches in at least two groups in the Municipal League. At Sherman Park, only seven goals have been scored in six games, while at Fairground No. 2, the total has reached but nine in the six battles.

The Macks, leaders at Sherman with two victories and one tie, have tallied but two goals, while holding the opposition without a point. The Hurling Club, second with a victory, defeat and tie, has counted but one goal against one for the opposition.

The Russells, formerly the St. Matthews, picked by many as the class of the Muny circuit this year, have tallied but two goals, while holding the opposition to one in winning one battle and tieing two. In addition to the Macks, only club is unscored upon. This is Spanish Sport Club of Carondelet which in winning three straight has tallied six times, while holding the opposition without a point.

The Clearys, formerly the Matthew Jrs., the Universals of Rock Church of Forest Park, are tied for the greatest number of goals scored. Each has tallied in three battles.

Resume Regular Schedule.

With cup and exhibition matches out of the way for a time, the St. Louis Soccer League will go back to its regular double-header schedule day. The Andersons play the Kinanaughs, while the Stix team opposes the Ben Millers. Bob Gregg, fullback, formerly of the Brickers of Chicago, will make his first appearance with the Stix.

Four-Sport Star.

BILLIKENS PLAN AN AMBITIOUS 1932 SCHEDULE

While no official announcement has been made, a fairly accurate forecast of the schedule St. Louis University wants for football next season may be made.

It is probable that most of the games on this tentative schedule wait only for approval of the Athletic Board before being announced. Of course, the Billikens want to play Missouri and Washington, the Bears on Thanksgiving day and the Tigers on Nov. 19, which, thus, appears to be an open date on the Missouri schedule.

McKendree College of Lebanon, Ill., will get the opening date as it is understood, the Kansas game is about settled as the Carnegie Tech game really is.

From an unofficial source, but trustworthy one, it is learned that the Billikens also will play Wyoming, Haskell Institute and, probably, Arkansas. A nine-game schedule is planned.

There is no certainty of the Missouri game nor, it is understood, has a new contract with Washington been signed for 1932.

ARKANSAS TEAMS TO PLAY CHARITY GAME

By the Associated Press.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 10.—Officials of eight Arkansas colleges yesterday agreed on a program of post-season football games, the proceeds of which will go to unemployment relief.

Colleges agreeing to participate were Hendrix, Ouachita, State Teachers, Henderson State Teachers, Monticello A. & M., Arkansas Tech, Magnolia G. M. and Jonesboro A. & M.

JACOBS DUE IN U. S. TOMORROW.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10. — Legal guns of Madison Square Garden were trained today on Joe Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling. Jacobs is due here tomorrow from abroad.

The Garden's lawyers declared today that the corporation's contract with Schmeling binds him to make the first defense of his heavyweight title for the Garden, and that attempts of other promoters to hold a championship match would be contested. This ultimatum was in reply to reports that Schmeling would fight Mickey Walker in Los Angeles this winter.

The Garden points out that Schmeling declined to defend his title against Primo Carnera here in September, as per contract.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 10.—Jack Dempsey, who appeared here last night in four rounds of exhibition fighting, is proud of his hands, now hard, after two hard weeks with a pick and shovel in his gold mine in Nevada. "They're hard now," he said of his famous mitts. "They were pretty soft when I started.

"I am really anxious to meet Schmeling. I haven't seen him work for several years, but he must be good. If I get good enough it will be fine."

Dempsey said that he expected to be in championship form by next summer.

Concerning his "comeback" tour, Jack said: "This is work and I can't make any boners. Practically every night is a fight and they're all trying to knock you out. However, not any of them are that tough."

Julien May Quit Basket Squad.

Rutgers has five letter men in basketball but French Julien, guard, probably will quit the squad and put in all his time with the swimming team.

Dempsey "Kayoes" Another Rival in Exhibition Bout

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 10.

JACK DEMPSEY'S comeback road was studded with three more victims today, the Manassa Mauler having knocked out one heavyweight and trounced two others here last night in exhibition bouts. Dempsey went four rounds in all.

Elijah Lee, Augustana, Ga., Negro, coasted along for two minutes with the ex-champion before he was felled for the count. Tom Davenport of Little Rock, Ark., stayed two rounds with Dempsey.

A crowd of 7500, the largest ever to witness a boxing contest here, turned out to contribute a gate of $11,000, Matchmaker Dave Fidler said.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10. — Jack Dempsey's fistic future probably will be settled definitely when the former Manassa Mauler comes here next month for a conference with Jimmy Johnston, head of Madison Square Garden's boxing department.

If Dempsey, now 36 years old, decides that his barnstorming tour has put him in condition for another comeback, Johnston is prepared to offer him two matches which might lead to a "shot" at Max Schmeling and the heavyweight championship.

Johnston said the Garden would not offer Jack any guarantees but an adequate share of the receipts for a bout in February at Miami, Fla., against an opponent drawn from a list of four leading heavyweights—Tommy Loughran, Johnny Risko, Paulino Uzcudun and Tom Heeney.

Loughran and Uzcudun Ready.

Loughran and Uzcudun, who are matched in a 10-rounder, in the Garden this Friday night, already have offered to sign blank contracts for a Dempsey match, donating their shares to unemployment relief.

If Dempsey makes a good showing in the South, Johnston is prepared to match him against Jack Sharkey here in May or June, although there is some doubt whether Sharkey would accept such a match. Sharkey already feels that by his showing against Carnera he is entitled to meet Schmeling for the championship.

Granting that the Sharkey-Dempsey match could be made and a resulting Dempsey victory, the former titleholder would be paired off against Schmeling in a title bout in September.

Thus Johnston has outlined his plans for Dempsey but nothing definite can come of them until Dempsey arrives here for his conference, probably in mid-December.

FOOTBALL by James M. Gould

Ames Upsets the "Dope."

THERE were no really shocking upsets last Saturday, the chief one in the Midwest being the defeat of Bo McMillin's Kansas Aggies by the Iowa State eleven. At the start of the Big Six season, Ames, with a new coach and a new system, wasn't given a chance for the championship, but the little Iowa team has shown marvelous form, all things considered, and now owns three conference victories, having won from Missouri, 20—0, from Oklahoma, 13—12, and from Kansas Aggies, 7-6. Two of Ames' three victories have been by the single point after touchdown.

There were some surprising scores in other games. Notre Dame was favored to win from Pennsylvania but not by any such score as 49-0, for the Easterners were undefeated. Also, Dartmouth held Harvard more closely than was expected and again the extra point was the margin of victory. This 7-6 score, by the way, was a favorite, Saturday. Georgia won from New York U. by that score as did Texas Christian over Rice. Ames over the Kansas Aggies, Wisconsin over Illinois and Virginia Military over Clemson in the South.

In the Big Ten, Michigan had an easy game with Indiana, Northwestern had a scare from Minnesota though winning handily in the last two periods and Wisconsin and Illinois played a close battle. In the Big Six, Kansas and Kansas Aggies both were beaten as was Iowa, the winning elevens being Ames, Oklahoma and Nebraska. Missouri Valley results listed a defeat of Washington by Grinnell and one for Creighton by the Oklahoma Aggies.

Teams, once rated as "first-flight," which continued absorbing punishment were Princeton, beaten by Lehigh, and the Navy at the hands of Ohio State.

Two topheavy scores were registered with Michigan State defeating Ripon, 100—0, and Tulsa University trouncing the University of Mexico, 89-0.

Tigers Are Roaring.

THE Princeton Tigers, once members in good standing of the "Big Three" are roaring—but only in pain. For the fifth time this year, Old Nassau had a chance to chant the mornful dirge by that name, Saturday. Beaten by Lehigh! Shades of Poe, "Snake" Ames, Johnny DeWitt and Bill Roper!

Anderson Makes Good.

UP at Notre Dame, Hunk Anderson, in the difficult role of successor to the late Knute Rockne, has, apparently, made the football season safe for his college—and for himself. When Notre Dame and Northwestern battled to a scoreless tie on a muddy field, which made real football impossible for either eleven, there were faint calls for some coach to succeed Anderson. Since that time, the steady, powerful march of the Ramblers has been so entirely successful that the "calling" has stopped. Anderson has made good in every way.

A Charity Rodeo.

THERE will be real incentives for the four teams which, in the Yale Bowl on Dec. 5, will mix in a round-robin for charity. The four are Yale, Dartmouth, Brown and Holy Cross and the plan is to have two pairs play 20 minutes with the two preliminary winners meeting in a final. Now, Yale and Dartmouth would like to settle the tie that has existed over the two seasons of play and Brown certainly would like to have another chance to prove that 33—0 beating at the hands of Holy Cross was in the nature of a "mistake".

Problem for Einstein!

TIME needn't hang heavily on the football fans' hands. A week from Saturday, Yale and Harvard meet at Cambridge. Four games furnish a basis for comparison of the Blue and the Crimson, but it will be a real figure-filbert who can get anything tangible on which to base a prediction. These are the games:

Army 6, Yale 6.
Army 13, Harvard 14.
Yale 33, Dartmouth 33.
Harvard 7, Dartmouth 6.

Thus Yale and Harvard both have opposed Army and Dartmouth. Harvard, against the two, has scored two victories against two ties for Yale, but both Harvard victories were by one-point margins.

ARMY'S ALLOTMENT OF TICKETS FOR CONTEST WITH NOTRE DAME GONE

By the Associated Press.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 10.—Army's allotment of tickets for the Notre Dame game to be played in the Yankee Stadium Nov. 28 has been exhausted, it was announced yesterday. Applications for about 10,000 seats cannot be filled and refunds will be made as soon as possible.

The date was tentative according to Carl O. "Toddy" Kamp, who also announced that the games would be played at Mullanphy on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights.

The teams which were at the meeting were the Red Birds, Boyd-Richardson, Catholic Women's Association, Varsity, South Side Chevrolet, Saymans, Polish-Roman Catholic Union, Columbus Girls, Rock Church, De Andreis, Centenary Methodist, Markham Memorial, and Concordia Turners.

15,000 Fans See Max Baer Defeat Veteran Risko

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 10.—Max Baer, Livermore butcher boy, took a 10-round decision over Johnny Risko, veteran Cleveland heavyweight, in Seals Stadium here last night. Risko held his own in only one round. The fight, witnessed by some 15,000 fans, was slowed down somewhat by a heavy rain and wet ring.

As a result of his victory, Baer squared accounts with his rival. Several months ago in Cleveland, Risko won a decision from the youthful Californian.

The Clevelander opened aggressively and won the first round when he landed a hard right to the jaw and continued to force the battle. Baer started in the second session and outpunched his pudgy opponent consistently. In the third round, Baer drove Risko all around the ring with the latter hanging on.

The former Cleveland baker boy pepped up in the sixth round to make it a fairly even session. He traded blows steadily with his heavier opponent while the fans cheered the hard exchanges. Curly-haired Max took the seventh, eighth and ninth easily.

Risko spurted in the tenth round, drawing punches from all angles, but Baer came back with a terrific battering to the body. They were pounding each other at close range when the bell ended the fight.

ST. LOUIS DE MOLAY CHAMPIONS TO PLAY KANSAS CITY, DEC. 5

The Perfection chapter, champions of the St. Louis De Molay Football League, will play the Kansas City title winners at Kansas City on Dec. 5, it was learned today. The receipts of the game will go to charity.

Kansas City will seek to revenge the defeat handed it by the Carondelet chapter in the intercity game between the champions last year in St. Louis. Having finished the season with five victories and one tie, Coach Max Kaiser feels that the Perfection squad will make as good a showing this year as Carondelet did last season.

Art Feldman, quarterback on the championship team, led the league in scoring with four touchdowns. The records follow:

Player—Club.	Td.	Pat.	Pts.
Feldman, Perfection	4	0	24

Albie Booth Injured.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 10.—Although Albie Booth is suffering from a bruised leg sustained against St. John's last Saturday, he was expected to drill with Yale this week and face Harvard on Nov. 21. Yale coaches insisted the injury was not serious and said the great back would practice later this week.

DEARDORFF AND JONES TO OPEN BILLIARD PLAY

Gene Deardorff, St. Louis amateur three-cushion star, winner in the recent southern sectional qualifying test, will oppose Neal Jones of Indianapolis, northern sectional winner, in the first match of the southern division double round-robin tournament at Peterson's tonight at 8 o'clock. Bud Westhus, another St. Louisan entered in the event, will not get into action until tomorrow.

The winner of the tourney here will gain the right to play in the national championship tournament to be played at Chicago next January.

All matches in the tournament will be 50 points. The admission fee will be 50 cents.

Three other division events will be started today. In the eastern section the entrants include the veteran Alfredo De Oro and Kinrey Matsuyama, the Japanese star, who before this year had confined all his playing in this country to balkline. These men will play at New York. Other events are being played at Chicago and Oakland, Cal.

PLAYER IS DISMISSED FROM TEAM FOR PLAYING IN PRO FOOTBALL GAME

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10. — Leon Fouts of Omaha, third-string fullback on the George Washington University football team, was dismissed from the squad yesterday for playing in a professional game here Sunday.

Playing fullback with the Washington Mohawks against the Baltimore Irvingtons in the South, Atlantic Professional League, Fouts, under the name of Mitchell, was the star of the game. He scored a touchdown with an 80-yard run on the kickoff opening the second half. The Mohawks won 19 to 6.

An assistant coach attending the game recognized Fouts and reported to James Pixlee, athletic director at George Washington. The dismissal followed.

Mandell, Thrown Out of Ring In His Fight at Chicago Last Week, Announces Retirement

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Sammy Mandell, once lightweight champion of the world, and for 10 years considered the greatest boxer of his day, is through with the ring. Heeding the pleas of his friends, the "Sheik of Rockford" decided yesterday to hang up his gloves forever—an old young man of 27 years.

Mandell made this decision when the Illinois State Athletic Commission ordered his purse of $1250 paid, after it had been held up pending review of his pitiful showing against Ralph Lenny of Union City, N. J., last Wednesday, in the Chicago Stadium.

Mandell, who rose to the heights of his profession by becoming champion, and defending it in some of the most stirring contests in ring history, had gone back so far that he suffered the humiliation of having his bout with Lenny stopped in the eighth round and declared "no contest."

Waived Stringent Rule.

Gen. John V. Clinnin, chairman of the commission, and president of the National Boxing Association, said the commission had waived one of its most stringent rules in paying off a boxer tossed out of the ring. He said the only reason Mandell was paid was because of his splendid character and achievements during the 10 years he had been before the public, and the fact that he has always given the best that was in him. Gen. Clinnin said Mandell's efforts against Lenny were honest, but he simply was unable to carry on because of physical incapacity.

Thus the career of Mandell, who rose from a scrawny Italian kid in his home town of Rockford, Ill., to become one of the master boxers of all time, came to an end.

Mandell quits with a fortune estimated at from $100,000 to $125,000. He owns three homes in Rockford, a $38,000 residence in which he lives with his wife and child, another for his married sister, and a third for his father. He always has been a homebody, devoted to his family and friends. He couldn't get back to Rockford fast enough after fulfilling engagements in the ring.

Won the Title in 1926.

Starting out as bantamweight, Mandell accomplished a tremendous lot in popularizing the sport. He was always regarded as a clean, young sportsman, and a credit to the profession. Not until he fought Lenny, when his legs and arms failed him, had he ever been charged with failing to deliver his best.

Mandell won the championship from Rocky Kansas in Chicago July 3, 1926, and defended it for four years against Phil McGraw, Jimmy McLarnin, Tony Canzoneri and others, until Al Singer knocked him out almost with a single punch in the first round of their battle fought in New York a year ago last July. After that, Mandell's showing against second-raters was streaked, with sad defeats and sadder showings, until the climax came last week.

BIG TEN HEADS MEET SUNDAY TO FRAME CHARITY GAME SCHEDULE

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Athletic directors of the Western conference will meet in Chicago next Sunday to arrange the schedule of post-season charity football games authorized by the faculty committee on athletics.

The directors also probably will consider the question of whether the games will count in the final championship standing. The coaches are said to be opposed to counting them in.

Nothing has been done toward making the schedule, but it is expected that Northwestern and Michigan will be matched, with Purdue meeting Ohio State, Illinois meeting Minnesota, Indiana tackling Wisconsin and Iowa and Chicago mixing. Under this arrangement none of the pairs would have met during the regular season.

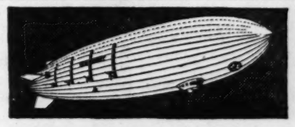

Illinois and Chicago Renew Rivalry Saturday.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—The old, old rivalry between Chicago and Illinois, many battles of which were fought for the Western Conference championship, will be renewed Saturday—with each seeking its first victory of consequence this season.

Chicago's football fortunes have been unhappy for the past six seasons, and this campaign appears to be the most unhappy for the undermanned Maroons. Illinois which won only one Big Ten game last season, that from Chicago, already has lost four league contests this year, and things seldom have looked so bleak around Champaign.

Since they started meeting in 1892, Chicago has won 16 games, the Illini 15, and three have been tied, including the famous battle in 1924 when Red Grange scored three touchdowns to offset the efforts of Austin McCarthy, the Thomas Brothers and Zorn. The odds favor Illinois Saturday, but not by much.

GRAHAM WILL BE IN AGGIE LINEUP AGAINST HUSKERS

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 10. — With "Ramming" Ralph Graham back in uniform the Kansas State football team today was in the midst of preparations for the crucial tilt with Nebraska's Cornhuskers Saturday.

Although defeated by Iowa State last week, the Kansans hope to down Nebraska and stay in the running for at least a half a share in the Big Six Conference championship. A Nebraska defeat and a Husker victory over the Iowans a week later would turn the trick. While Graham, a sophomore backfield star, only took part in setting-up exercises yesterday, his handlers believed he would be in shape by the end of the week.

Coach Dana X. Bible of Nebraska was forced to delay start of intensive practice for a day by showers, which kept the squad indoors. Henry Sauer, backfield ace, who has seen little action in the past three weeks probably will be in condition for the Kansas State meeting.

The other conference game Saturday brings together Missouri and Oklahoma. Ab Walker, who called signals in the Sooners' fourth period scoring drives against Kansas last week, was at the quarterback post on the first string yesterday. Paul Young, center, was hurt in the game and will be unable to play against the Missourians. It will be the final conference game of the season for Oklahoma.

The Missouri Tigers this week are being directed by Assistant Coaches Walter Crangle and Harry Lansing, while Head Coach Gwinn Henry is recovering from a minor operation. The Tigers, who chalked up their first victory against Drake Friday night, came out of the tilt with a few minor injuries.

The Iowa State squad, with Drake on the schedule for Saturday, attended a chalk talk in which errors in the Kansas Aggie tilt were discussed. At Kansas, the gridmen donned track suits, as they did during the hot spell at the start of the season, and after a light drill went to the showers. They face Washington University in an inter-conference tilt at St. Louis Saturday.

57—Varieties—57

IN DAYS of old, when boys were bold.
And for the gridiron game enrolled,
A football team consisted of eleven.
But as the pastime grew and grew,
They found eleven were too few,
And now they've run it up to 57.

So many players came to grief,
From Heinz's book they took a leaf,
And that great pickle magnate imitated.
So now they're 57 strong,
As Brother Heinz has clearly demonstrated.

In smothering Pennsylvania, 49—0, Notre Dame used only their first and second teams. "Hunk" didn't take the blankets off the unemployed players, who merely helped swell the attendance to 35,000.

The way they are going now, it looks as though the Irish were pointing for a trip to the Coast during the holiday season.

But what the football addicts want to see is Northwestern and Notre Dame playing off that tie in Soldiers' Field for charity.

"Tackle Hurt Pulling on His Jersey."

IT SEEMS nobody's safe from harm,
For we have heard it said,
An aviator broke his arm
By falling out of bed.

Coming Up.

St. Louis is said to have the largest yeast plant in the world. A swell concern, we calls it.

Go choose the yeast that you love best;
A cake of yeast before you dine

Charles Lindbergh, the world champion ambassador of good will, took the air Sunday night in a nationwide oratorical flight in behalf of the non-employment program. And did Lindy go over?

Geraldine Farrar, daughter of Sid Farrar, former first baseman of the old Phillies under Harry Wright, also made three hits out of three times at bat.

By Limerick Luke.

THERE was a young fellow named Mott
Deftly dodging each man
With the pigskin he ran

"Buster" shading his eyes from the sun,
Made a 97-yard run;
"Catfish" Smith made the kick,

MATTHEWS SIGNS TO BOX HUGHES AT INDIANAPOLIS

By W. J. McGoogan.

Managers of St. Louis boxers continue to make matches in Indiana where the natives are enthusiastic about the sport which was made legal by the passage of a law recently. Allen Matthews, George Wilsman's Negro welterweight, who won a fight from Patsy Pollock there last week, knocking out Pollock after Allen had been on the floor, meets Frankie Hughes, former Indiana welterweight champion in a bout at Terre Haute, Thursday night.

Allen Whitlow who has fought a few fights here in the past several weeks meets a real test at Indianapolis Friday night when he hooks up with Tracey Cox in a 10-round main event. Cox has put together a string of knockout victories this season, among his victims being Cowboy Eddie Anderson of Wyoming.

Knost May Box at Chicago.

Dave Knost just recovered from a cold, has resumed training in the hopes of a bout at the Chicago Stadium on the Battling Levinsky-Primo Carnera card which is planned for Nov. 19.

Leroy Dugan, Blytheville (Ark.) battler who claims two decisions over Dave Barry, Springfield (Ill.) bantam, has sent a letter to St. Louis promoters seeking another match with Barry. He likely will be accommodated shortly as Barry has made a hit with the fans here and the promoters feel that he should be kept working, meeting opponents of worth.

Kaiser Again at Work.

Johnny Kaiser spent only a day or two resting after his bout with Joe Ghnouly and then went back to work in the gymnasium. Kaiser is expecting to fight on Tippett's card at the Armory, Nov. 18. And Tippett is seeking an opponent for him.

Dave Barry has signed Bob Riley as his manager and will campaign with St. Louis as his headquarters.

Vandeventer Trains Nephew.

Walter Wilber, the St. Louis amateur who defeated the Michigan lightweight champion, Chester Annison, Grand Rapids, is a nephew of Eddie Vandeventer (Kid Bandy), whose real name is Walter Wilber Vandeventer. He is 18 years old and Bandy has been teaching him to box. He made the trip to Detroit only to see what was going on but when Joe Parks was overweight for his bout, Walter stepped in and copped the decision.

Bandy had given the youngster a pair of flashy red and white trunks which the Winter Garden boxers wear and they were stolen from him in the dressing room. So he won the decision but lost his trunks. Bandy promised to replace them, however, inasmuch as the kid won.

Abad Is "in Bad."

Davey Abad has found that his display at The Arena when he lost his head and punched Referee Al Graf when that official rendered a decision against him, has done him no good.

"I'm sorry I lost my head," said Abad, "but I had a lot of worries and didnt think what I was doing until after it was over."

Abad has not been suspended by the Missouri Commission, for Seneca Taylor felt that inasmuch as the program had not been held under his jurisdiction he could take no action except against those boxers who had no licenses. He has told Abad, however, that had he been boxing under the commission he would have faced a stiff penalty and advised him to work hard to get back into the good graces of the St. Louis fans, many of whom have written Taylor declaring that they would not attend boving here if such actions as those of Davey were permitted.

TROPHY IS PRESENTED TO KAYE DON'S BACKER

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—J. Lee Barett, secretary of the Yachtsmen's Association of America, yesterday presented Lord Wakefield, backer of Kaye Don, a bronze plaque commemorating Don's bid for the British international speed boat trophy at Detroit.

"We pay tribute to Kaye Don and his sportsmanship," Mr. Barett said, explaining that he presented the trophy "on behalf of the citizens of Detroit and the yachtsmen of the United States."

Twin Brothers Captains.

COLUBMIA, Mo., Nov. 10. — Twin brothers, Edward and Delbert Dunkin of, Brownwood, Tex., who are almost identical in looks as well as in ability on the track, have been elected co-captains of the University of Missouri two-mile team, Coach H. J. Huff announced here today. On the cinders the brothers compete in any distance from the sprints to the two-mile run, although their forte is the quarter and half mile run.

Skaters Break More Marks at Winter Garden

The same four skaters who lowered the 220-yard records last week broke time for the 440-yard distance at the second meeting of the racers last night at the Winter Garden.

Jerry Cohen, 15-year-old junior skater, clipped half a second from the junior record, skating the distance in :44.8. Lucius More took four-tenths of a second from his own time, skating it in :48.2. The juvenile class is 12 to 14 years old.

The senior classes A, B and C and the intermediate boys will skate their 440-yard races tonight at 10:30.

St. Viator Is Victor.

By the Associated Press.

CHARLESTON, Ill., Nov. 10.—Halfback Westray led St. Viator to a 13-to-9 victory over the Eastern Teachers yesterday. The home team scored a touchdown and a safety in the first five minutes of play, but St. Viator recovered. Westray scored touchdowns in the second and third periods.

athletic treasury to a degree where it can carry out almost any athletic program, but it also has earned the gratitude of the alumni and public by making it possible for 70,000 persons to see its important games.

Yale Bowl is not the biggest college stadium in the country, but it set the pace for the rest of the world to follow.

Outsider May Coach Yale.

INCIDENTALLY the word is out that Mel Stevens, head coach, may be replaced next year, and not by a Yale graduate. There seems to be a feeling at New Haven that an outsider would encounter less interference with his policies than a man chosen from among the graduate players.

The ice was broken when Yale hired Adam Walsh of Notre Dame as line coach. This precedent may pave the way for a non-Yale head coach.

Old timers would have something to think about if a Notre Dame or other outlander were to take charge at Yale, which once dominated the football world to an even greater degree and for a longer period than even Notre Dame.

Going Some.

THE ground-covering possibilities in a football game are not often fully realized. An outstanding instance of the current season was afforded by the Yale-Dartmouth struggle of two Saturdays ago, when the elevens played to the amazing score of 33-33.

In this contest the total distance gained was nearly one and one-half miles! To be exact it amounted to a total of 2427 yards. Of this 1080 yards was due to kicks—a really amazing total. The other yardage was accounted for by runbacks of punts, runbacks of kickoffs, rushing, passes and penalties. Of these by far the greatest ground gained was in running back kickoffs, which totaled 325 yards.

In actual yardage the 2427 total represents more than 24 touchdowns, whereas only nine were actually scored. Roughly speaking, therefore, two-thirds of the game was wasted effort.

But it was a thriller worth the $4, beyond doubt.

Jockey Badly Injured.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 10.—Jockey Harold Gerrard, 17, of Vancouver, B. C., was reported in a serious condition today as a result of injuries he received when his horse stumbled and fell in the first race at Tanforan race track yesterday.

WORCESTER, Mass. — Holy Cross as a team probably will cause Harvard extreme annoyance this week. Individually, however, it looks like Phil O'Connell, quarterback, and the two Holy Cross ends, Cavaleri and Colucci, will be the chief casue of Crimson grief, if any. O'Connell ran Harvard ragged with his passes a year ago, and Cavalieri and Colucci make a pair of ends just about the equal of any two in the East.

Football Briefs

By the Associated Press.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — Ed Clark, Harvard's assistant athletic director, is a bit embarrassed by the prompt acceptance of the challenge he fired at Yale's football coaching staff for a game with Crimson coaches Nov. 20. When Yale accepted, Clark hastily looked over available material and discovered he was sadly lacking in tackles, halfbacks and fullbacks. He's got four ends, but would be glad to trade two of them for a couple of tackles.

NEW YORK.—Lou Little evidently is satisfied that his Columbia team has digested all the fundamentals. He gave the boys three or four new plays to rehearse yesterday, and will use them against Brown.

ITHACA, N. Y.—Cornell has lost the services of a great defensive player, Bob Hedden, for the important Dartmouth game. Hedden's work on the defense was a feature of the Columbia contest, but a badly wrenched back probably will keep him out of the lineup this week.

GRAIN FUTURES HAVE SETBACK ON LOCAL BOARD

ST. LOUIS MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, Nov. 10.—Grain futures had setbacks today. They were regarded in part as natural after the recent bull movement and the weakness of stocks and report of moisture in part of domestic winter wheat belt contributed to bearish turn.

Wheat closed at or near low of day, 2⅝ to 3¼c off. Corn was down 2½ to 2⅝.

The pending holiday tomorrow and the Government crop report due after close today tended to promote profit-taking. There was absence of North American export business of consequence over night.

Winnipeg closed 2⅝@2¾c lower.

December wheat opened at 62⅝, May wheat 68¾, December corn 45⅝ and May corn 50⅜.

Local wheat receipts which were 86,800 bu compared with 162,400 last week and holiday last year, included 29 cars local and 33 through. Corn receipts which were 30,800 bu compared with 18,200 last week and holiday last year, included 18 cars local and 4 through. Oats receipts which were 11,000 bu, compared with 11,000 last week and holiday last year, included 2 cars local and 3 through. Hay receipts were 2 cars local and 1 through.

St. Louis Cash Grain.

Corn—No. 3 mixed, 43c; No. 4 mixed, 42½c; No. 2 yellow, 46c; No. 3 yellow, 42½c; No. 3 white, 43c.

SHARP DIP IN PRICES OF CHICAGO GRAINS

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Grains fell today like a spent skyrocket, and in some cases dropped as much as 5 cents a bushel compared with yesterday's top figures. The reaction, experienced trade observers said, was past due, and was largely a consequence of the extreme rapidity and extent of recent gains of 24¼ cents for wheat and rye, with 16⅜ cents upward flight of corn within a month. Dealings today lacked the magnitude that has been the rule of late, though still beyond the average. Stock market weakness, and moisture relief in domestic winter wheat territory contributed to augmented selling pressure and to curtailed buying.

All rye futures dropped sharply, but July headed the plunge, not only of rye, but of all grain futures. It closed at 57¼, compared with 62¼@⅜ yesterday.

Wheat closed nervous 2⅝@3¼c lower than yesterday's finish. Corn 2⅜@2⅝c down, oats ⅜@1¼c off, rye showing 3¾@5⅝c loss, and provisions varying from 27c drop to 5c gain.

The market was influenced by preholiday profit-taking and by a letup in aggressive speculative purchasing, so conspicuous of late. Trade readjustments in advance of the United States Government crop report due after the close were also a bearish factor. Opening at 1 cent setback to ¼c gain, wheat later receded all around. Corn started ¼@⅝c off, and then continued to sag.

More than 3 cents a bushel tumble in rye quotations did much to unsettle the entire grain list, although scarcely a dozen brokers were present in the rye pit, compared with hundreds in the wheat and corn crowds.

An air pocket developed on the buying side of rye and with increased selling pressure on the part of recent purchasers, the market gave way fast. More than 1¼ cents rebound, however, for rye quickly followed with an influx of new buying.

Oats, which have been duplicating the action of rye, underwent a sudden 2 cents smash when rye turned weak, but also rallied soon about 1½ cents. Execution on numerous stop loss selling orders was a feature of the oats trading.

Rye, the sensational feature of last week, was the hardest hit. Opening even stronger than yesterday's close, the May contract quickly led the jump and was sold down to 59c, a loss of 3¾c from the opening high figure.

Open interests in grain futures on the Chicago Board of Trade: Wheat—Saturday, 129,771,000 bushels; Friday, 128,221,000; week ago, 121,118,000. Corn—Saturday, 41,027,000 bushels; Friday, 39,728,000; week ago, 34,871,000.

Wheat and corn vibrated rapidly in about 1¼ cents limits, with fresh onsets of buying in evidence, but only on declines. Confirmation of frosts in Argentina was a bullish incentive, but more or less nullified by uncertaintly as to actual crop damage. Absence of North American wheat export business overnight gave an advantage at times to bears. Canadian comment emphasized drouth.

STOCK LIST REACTS WITH GRAINS IN A SLOW MARKET

Railroad Issues a Firm Spot; but Elsewhere Losses of 1 to More Than 2 Points Are Common — Close Is Heavy.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—While bar silver continued to climb, securities and grains fell back before a wave of profit taking in today's financial markets. In shares, the rail issues were a firm spot, but elsewhere losses of 1 or more than 2 points were common. The closing tone was heavy. Transfers, however, were less than 2,000,000 shares.

Heaviness of foreign bonds, particularly the German issues, was a bearish feature of the securities markets. The Japanese issues were reactionary for a time, but strong support finally appeared for the Government 6½ per cent issue. In shares, rails tried to raly for a time in the morning and again in the afternoon, but at the finish little was left on the advance in this group.

Losses of one to two points embraced such shares as American Telephone, American Can, Allied Chemical, American Water Works, Anaconda, Kennecott, Cerro de Pasco, Noranda, International Nickel, International Telephone, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, U. S. Steel, National Biscuit, General Electric, General Foods, Du Pont, Borden, Bethlehem and others. It was notable that many of the recent strong groups, such as the mining issues and food shares were particularly heavy.

Steel Orders Decrease.

U. S. Steel's unfilled tonnage statement, showing the slight sag of about 25,000 tons in October, was about in keeping with expectations. Wall street had expected a slight decline, as most of the improved sentiment in the industry has appeared since the turn of the month, and has not as yet been translated in actual orders to any extent.

An effort to rally the rails was apparently based on the Interstate Commerce Commission's decision to start hearings in January on the four-party Eastern consolidation plan, the Investment Bankers' Association's committee report urging of a cut in railway wages, and hopes of tangible results from the rail executives' conference here Friday.

Premier MacDonald's speech last night contained no references to the Manchurian situation, but he did state that the Government intended to stabilize sterling. There was, however, no information as to what the tariff policy is to be. The Prime Minister stressed the need for international understanding and co-operation, especially between Germany and France, which, he said, must reach an agreement on what is to be done "now and later when the Hoover moratorium ends." There was no mention of the tariff in King George's speech at the opening of Parliament.

Exchanges Generally Firm.

The wheat market reacted about 3 cents a bushel, while rye, recent bull performer, tumbled 4 to 5. Corn lost more than 2 cents. Cotton, however, held up fairly well, closing barely steady at net losses of 40 to 70 cents a bale. Bar silver rose 1½ cents an ounce to another 1931 peak.

Foreign exchanges were generally firm. Sterling cables at $3.83 were up 1½ cents. The Mexican dollar again advanced in sympathy with silver. The Holland and Belgian currencies eased moderately.

Reichbank Gold Change.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Nov. 10.—The Reichbank's gold and foreign exchange coverage has risen from 26.9 per cent to 27.8 per cent, it was announced today.

Paper circulation was 204,271,000 marks less than in the previous week. Gold decreased by 43,241,000 marks but foreign exchange increased by 29,919,000 marks.

FOREIGN MARKETS AT A GLANCE

LONDON, Nov. 10. — Prices moved irregularly on the Stock Exchange today. Argentine rails and British industrials reacted on profit-taking and there was weakness in German issues. Good buying of sterling improved the dollar rate, which closed at $3.83½ and Paris 97.37.

PARIS, Nov. 10. — Trading was small on the Bourse and price movements were narrow and irregular. Rio Tintos improved with copper. The Bourse will remain closed tomorrow.

BERLIN, Nov. 10. — Boerse closed.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Directors of the U. S. Lines, Inc., have accepted the offer of the U. S. Lines Co., a new company, for all of the corporation's assets.

The U. S. Lines Co. was organized by the Dollar-Chapman-International Mercantile Marine interests to take over the assets of the present U. S. Lines, Inc.

COTTON MARKET CLOSES 8 TO 14 POINTS LOWER

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—A reactionary movement developed in cotton following a slight opening advance today as a result of a little more Southern selling combined with liquidation or reselling by recent buyers who appeared to be influenced by the easier tone of wheat and silver and the action of the stock market.

Futures closed barely steady, 8 to 14 points lower: December, 6.63-65c; January, 6.71-72c; March, 6.88c; May, 7.07c; July, 7.22-23c; October, 7.47c. Spot quiet; middling, 6.70c.

January contracts sold off from 6.89c to 6.68c, or 17 points net lower, but the market steadied up later on some covering and trade buying with active months showing net declines of about 8 to 10 points during the middle of the afternoon.

Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 1 to 6 points on covering and trade buying coupled with Wall Street and Liverpool buying. The market seemed to be influenced by yesterday's firm market and trading progressed at an active pace. The advance met some Southern local and commission house selling, however, and orders were quite evenly divided, with business moderately active during the early trading. Fluctuations were correspondingly narrow, with the market before session had gone far ruling within a point of yesterday's closing quotations on most positions. January sold off from 6.89c to 6.84c, compared with 6.85c at the close of yesterday.

Liverpool cables reported hedging and continental liquidation in that market but said there had been further cloth buying for shipment to India and China.

Prices sagged off somewhat later in the morning under a comparatively moderate volume of selling which appeared to be promoted by the rather irregular ruling of the stock market and the easier tone of silver. December sold off to 6.71c and March to 6.95c, with active months generally showing net losses of about 2 to 5 points at midday.

UNFILLED U. S. STEEL ORDERS DECREASE 25,401 TONS

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation decreased 25,401 tons in October to a total of 3,119,432 as of Oct. 31. In September a decrease of 24,624 tons was reported.

The backlog as of Sept. 30 was 3,144,833 tons. On Aug. 31 unfilled orders aggregated 3,169,457 tons, against 3,404,816 tons on July 31. On Oct. 31, 1930, unfilled orders amounted to 3,481,763 tons.

Wall street had looked for little change in unfilled orders, there had been some guesses that a small gain might be recorded, but these were discounted in other circles, where it was said an increase would be unusual in view of conditions which existed in the steel industry last month, when production was kept at a low point.

34,446 BBLS. INCREASE IN AVERAGE OIL OUTPUT

By the Associated Press.

AMERICAN STEEL FOUNDRIES OMITS COMMON DIVIDEND

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—American Steel Foundries Co. today omitted the quarterly dividends of 25 cents due on the common stock. But declared the regular payment of $1.75 a share on the preferred.

In the first nine months of the year the company had net loss of $155,707 against net profit of $2,720,369 in the same period a year ago. Third quarter loss this year was $295,786, compared with profit of $580,831 in the corresponding three months of 1930.

A statement said that although the company's cash position was strong and that current assets were more than 10 times current liabilities, the directors, in view of present business conditions and the outlook "for the immediate future," had deemed it advisable to omit the common payment. The preferred dividend is payable Dec. 31 to stock of record Dec. 15.

CORPORATION REPORTS

By the Associated Press.

STOCK EXCHANGE TOPICS

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Member banks in principal cities reporting to the Reserve reveal a further reduction of $74,000,000 in loans and investments negotiated in the week ended Nov. 4. This shrinkage resulted chiefly from a cut of $63,000,000 in investments of which $25,000,000 was due to reduction in holdings of United States Government bonds, and a further curtailment of $30,000,000 in the total of loans on securities. Other or commercial borrowings increased by $10,000,000. Indications that the currency hoarding movement has definitely subsided are found in the evidence of a shift in the direction of the flow of bank funds. The return of funds from non-member banks during the period to member institutions made for an increase of $126,000,000 in the amount of money due to non-reporting institutions.

Radio Corporation Report.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Radio Corporation of America and its subsidiaries announced total gross income of $73,638,019 and net income of $3,957,489 for the first nine months of 1931.

The figures compared with a gross of $85,150,256 and net of $870,753 in the same period of last year. The current statement showed earnings of $52,980 in excess of dividend requirements on the preferred stocks.

IRREGULAR DECLINE IN THE BOND MARKET

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—The bond market declined irregularly today as trading increased.

Railroad and industrials showed sporadic individual gains during the forenoon, but the former group turned downward during the last two hours along with the rest of the list. Industrial and United States Government loans resisted the downward trend better than other issues.

Many of the larger losses appeared in the foreign loans. Leading German and Argentine issues scored losses ranging from 1 to 6 points. Japanese 6½s of 1954 were one of the most active issues of the whole list and sold about 2 points above yesterday's final sale after slight declines. Other Japanese obligations were generally lower.

Carrier issues scored many of the larger losses among domestic corporate loans, but the turnover in them was no heavier as a rule than in the public utilities, most of which closed fractionally lower.

Japanese Bond Prices Mixed.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Support came into the market for Japanese bonds today, and the Government 6½ per cent issue rallied to close about 2 points higher.

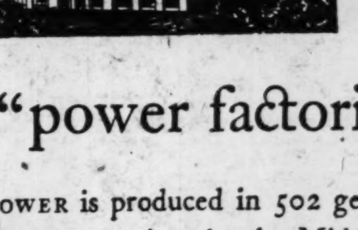

A few other issues, however, failed to recover entirely, and the Tokio City 5½s were orr more than 3 points at the finish.

Saburo Sonoda, New York manager of the Yokohama Specie Bank, said in an interview that the recent selling has been unjustified, and that the Manchurian situation "looks bad in the headlines only."

Transmutation of Metals Sought With New Device

Machine Producing Enormous Voltage to Be Used in Experiments Along This Line.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—By a device almost as simple as Franklin's kite, R. J. Van de Graaff, a young American scientist, produces enormous voltage of electrical energy.

His discovery will be developed at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology to 15,000,000 or 20,000,000 volt capacity for experimenting with the possibility of transmuting the elements on a practical, commercial scale.

This electrical development is announced by the American Institute of Physics, a new scientific organization directed by Dr. Henry A. Barton. Van de Graaff's first machine will be displayed at the inaugural dinner of the institute here Tuesday.

Van de Graaff, while at Princeton University as a national research council fellow, developed a machine which produces great electrical energy much as the old-fashioned endless chain in a well fills a large bucket with water. Van de Graaff's endless chains are endless belts of silk ribbon. They gather electricity on their surfaces by passing close to brushes connected with direct current generators. This electricity is carried up the ribbon belt to the inside of a metal sphere, the size of a bushel basket. There another brush takes the electricity off the ribbon and deposits it upon the inside of the sphere.

But electricity won't stick on the inside of the sphere. It gathers immediately on the outer surface. So the sphere accumulates a charge, just like filling a water bucket. One of Van de Graaff's belts carries positive electricity to one sphere and the other belt negative electricity to another.

When the globes are fully charged, the electricity discharges between them in a lightning flash. With apparatus costing but $90 Van de Graaff produces a 1,500,000-volt discharge.

The use of bigger spheres means still greater voltage. For the Massachusetts Institute of Technology experiments Van de Graaff will build globes 15 feetin diameter. These are expected to give 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 volts, but it is estimated that the device can be enlarged to a 50,000,000-volt power.

The young scientist is now on the staff of Masscachusetts Institute of Technology and will house his big globes in the dirigible dock, a hangar on the estate at Round Hill of Col. E. H. R. Green, where the institute has an experimental station. The Research Corporation is giving financial assistance for the experiments.

Dr. Karl T. Compton, president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, said that the amount of energy available from this apparatus would be so great that "the experiment opens the possibility of transmutation on a commercial scale."

Transmutation of elements means changing one element, such as hydrogen, gold or lead, into some other element. It involves the mythical "unlocking the energy of the atom." This unlocking means that tremendous power went into the original making of atoms, and that this power is set free when the atoms are broken up. But it does not mean as popularly supposed that any vast, untamed source of power is likely to be turned loose upon the world. It requires just as much power to unlock, or break up, an atom as was needed to make it originally. Man gets back only what he puts into the atom-smashing. But he may get the unlocked energy out in a more useful form, and this will be of practical value.

TOMATO CANNERS OF OZARKS TO DEMAND PRICE INCREASE

To Hold Product for Minimum of 65 Cents a Dozen Cans; Supply Below Last Year's.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Nov. 10.—At a meeting here of representatives of 70 per cent of the tomato canning industry from all parts of the Ozarks the packers agreed to hold their product for a minimum price of 65 cents a dozen for No. 2 cans.

The step was taken on the basis of the present visible supply and the fact that the price has been held down by canners forced to sell to obtain ready cash.

The season's pack in the Ozarks, it was brought out, totals slightly over 2,000,000 cases with an estimated value to the canners, when sold, of about $2,500,000. With an estimated 1931 pack of 900,000 cases already moved to market there remain in storage a little more than a million cases. This is considerably less than the carryover on hand last March of 3,500,000 cases. The packers asserted that there was no profit in the recent price of 60 cents a dozen, and in some instances a loss had to be taken to obtain needed cash.

In view of the supply, the canners agreed that a steady rise in price was inevitable. At the end of two weeks the canners will meet again for another survey of the situation.

TWO FREED, ANOTHER BOUND OVER IN ARKANSAN'S DEATH

Leo Jordan and Wife of Van Buren Confectioner Charged With His Murder.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

FORT SMITH, Ark., Nov. 10.—Roy Lee Cole and Jack Cloclasure, held in the death of Glen Little, Van Buren confectioner, whose body was found in the Arkansas River here Oct. 26, were released at a preliminary hearing Saturday. Leo Jordan, Fort Smith, charged with murder in connection with Little's death, was held to the grand jury.

Mrs. Little, who also is charged with murder in the death of her husband, waived preliminary hearing several days ago and was released on $7500 bond.

Cloclasure found the body of Little, and Cole had aided in the search. Both are fishermen. Cole is a relative of Mrs. Little.

Little had been missing since the night of Oct. 24, when he told his wife he intended to run a trotline. The body was unclothed, and a large stone was tied around the neck. An autopsy showed the neck was broken and no water was in the lungs.

CHAPTER TWENTY.

JIMMY'S two hands inclosed her right hand. In a whisper, heard only by her, he added:

"Again."

Trudie Cotton, her waist not so aggressively large as it had been last night when Ralph danced off with her, and Tim Bond were already in the apartment. Trudie, a huge napkin about her, waved a long-tined fork from the doorway to what Julie knew was the kitchenette.

"Tim Bond thought the party wouldn't be swell unless we had hot dogs, so I'm cooking them," she explained.

"Cooking them," scoffed Dolly. "They're like eggs. All you have to do is put them in water and let them boil."

"Jealousy of my beauty I can understand," said Trudie, "but envy of a skill acquired by long and arduous practice"——

Gayly it began, this supper party, and gayly it continued. Julie enjoyed herself thoroughly. Critics might carp at the quality of the wit, but none could deny the boisterous good humor of the affair. Julie began to understand why Dolly preferred Broadway to Park avenue. No one seemed to strive for effect here. The mere fact that Jimmy Farrell was of the theater seemed to "set" the party, to place it on the level of gayety.

At 10:30 Jimmy looked at his watch.

"Have to be at the Trebizond at 11:20," he announced, "and it takes me 15 or 20 minutes after that to get dressed and make up. Folks, if you'll excuse me while I wash the dishes"——

"We'll wash them," said Trudie.

"You've cooked, you've earned your way," said Jimmy, "and so has Dolly. Julie—you haven't done a darned thing."

"What did Dolly do?" demanded Julie.

"I set the table and got up twice for more cream for the coffee," declared Dolly indignantly. "You did nothing but act like a lady, Julie."

"Yep, you help me wash the dishes," said Jimmy. He looked appealingly at her, and she rose gayly.

• • •

AFTER all, she'd come here to study him. Why not grant him that slight privacy which his kitchenette afforded?

"We two can do it all," he said. "If you others will bring the dishes in here"—

Jim Livingston was in the one big chair the apartment held, strumming on a broken-stringed banjo, and Dolly, on the arm of the chair, was rallying him on his poor playing. Trudie and Tim Bond were playing backgammon on a tiny board which Tim had produced from the pocket of his dinner coat.

"Julie."

She looked at him.

"I want to apologize."

"You're forgiven," she said.

"You're thinking of the kiss I gave you. That isn't it," he said.

"No?" Her voice was hard.

"No. The way I boasted. Like I was telling you this afternoon, Julie, when we were interrupted. You've had dough all your life. Dough don't mean a thing to you. You don't understand what it can mean to a guy like me, that has never had any. It—it's sort of like dope. I mean, it shoots you right up in the air, makes you dream things and see things—here was I, a $100-a-week hoofer when I had a job. Overnight I'm a $1000-a-weeker. That's just one job. Five yards for dancing at a party! Talkies coming along—well, it made me dizzy.

"You didn't seem so far away, Julie. I forgot that there was more than dough between us—family, and position, and culture, and a lot of things I'd hardly realized existed. But when I got back here last night, I did plenty thinking.

"I said to myself that dough wouldn't keep us apart. You weren't the kind of girl that would count a man's pennies before you took a fancy to him. But you would count—you'd have to count—his real qualities. He'd have to have—well, class. That's the only word I can think of to cover it, Julie. And it's what I ain't got, and it's a dollar to a dime I can't ever get it.

"Not for kissing you, Julie—that don't hurt a girl. I mean, to be kissed when she didn't expect it, when she couldn't hardly help it. What's that? Fresh, but that's all. But for telling you that I wanted you, that I was going to try to get you, that I had dough enough to give me a chance at you—I want to apologize for that, Julie."

• • •

HE stood there, pathetic in his humility. He had a napkin like Trudie's about his dinner jacket.

He was holding a plate in his hand, mechanically wiping it, although it was shinily dry and had been for two minutes.

"Four blocks don't seem much distance, Julie," he went on, "but they're far apart as the Poles, really. We live four blocks apart—Broadway to Park. And I couldn't make that distance in a lifetime. It isn't in me, Julie, and I was crazy to think it was. And so I want you to forgive me for thinking I could."

"Forgive you?" Her eyes were shining. "Why, Jimmy, I don't think a girl need to forgive a man for paying her the highest possible compliment."

"Then—you're going to let me be a friend?"

"Of course I am, Jimmy," she told him.

His blue eyes gleamed, then darkened.

"Aw, what's the use pretending, Julie?" he said. "I'd never be satisfied with that. A man that's crazy about a girl can't stop at friendship. Love isn't something you can turn off at will. When I'm alone, I can figure it all out. I can tell myself that I'm nuts, and that I couldn't get you in a million years, and that you love another guy, and all of that. But when I see you I forget everything, everything in the world except that I love you, and want you, and can't be stopped from trying——Well, I gues that ends it, don't it, Julie?"

She braced herself for the answer, the answer that would have deepened the gloom in his eyes, have made heavier the lump in his breast, the only answer possible for a woman of honor to give. But Trudie Cotton broke in upon the moment.

• • •

THE after-theater crowd was just beginning to drift into the night club when they arrived at the Trebizond. Jimmy left them at the entrance to the restaurant, after having first spoken to a head waiter. That worthy ushered them to a table, on the edge of the dancing space, with an impressive formality that left no doubt as to his opinion of the importance of Jimmy Farrell.

Livingston frankly had eyes for no one but Dolly, and Tim Bond acted in a fashion that made Julie suspect that Trudie's charms were beginning to have their effect upon him.

It was a new experience for her, and one not without amusement. She had a healthy sex vanity, but it had nothing to feed upon just now, and the obvious way in which the two men remembered their duty and tried to include her in the conversation tickled her. She was delighted that the situation left her with a little time to think about what had just happened to her.

Jimmy had definitely stated that her friendship would not content him. But an engaged girl cannot encourage love making from another man. It is disloyalty too obvious to be debated. But wasn't it unfair of Ralph to wish her to sever her recently-begun friendship with Jimmy?

She shook her head thoughtfully. Marriage was a most peculiar institution. Pride, jealousy—these are of the emotions, and they must not be injured, else marriage becomes impossible. Ralph objected to Jimmy. Marriage with Ralph was incredible if she continued friendship with Farrell. Well, then, the only question involved was whether or not Jimmy's friendship was worth Ralph's love.

Talks to PARENTS

By Alice Judson Peale

The Sissy

He doesn't play ball and he doesn't use rough language. His hair is always neatly parted and he has never been seen with dirty hands.

In the classroom, to be sure, his good intelligence and really excellent habits of work bring him recognition, but on the street and playground he is miserable.

A glance into Albert's home suggests an explanation for his predicament. His father is one of those business men who are interested exclusively in making money.

He has never shown the slightest personal interest in his son. He has never played games with him, taken him anywhere or given him the least companionship.

His mother, on the other hand, has loved and adored him and made him the center of her life.

Until it was necessary for him to go to school they spent their days together. Even now she looks forward to the weekend chiefly because it brings long hours with her son.

Where a father refuses his son the companionship and affection which enable him to follow him as an ideal, it often happens that the boy unconsciously patterns himself after the mother who gives him the companionship his father has withheld.

How Josef Hofmann Is Educating His Son

The Famous Pianist Is Training His Boy to Be a Musician-Mechanic, but Little Anton Will Never Be Sent to a Regular School.

JOSEF HOFMANN gives his son, ANTON, a few pointers on the piano.

HOFMANN busy in his workshop.

MRS. HOFMANN, the former Betty Short.

ALTHOUGH Mother Goose, Little Red Riding Hood and Andersen's Fairy Tales may still be considered good reading matter for most little boys and girls, young Anton Hofmann, just six years old, does not want to know anything about them. He'd rather listen to tales about mechanics, electricity and inventions.

He is the son of Josef Hofmann, the virtuoso, who has been called the "greatest living pianist," and he has inherited his father's passion for things scientific and mechanical, as well as his love of music and beauty.

For Josef Hofmann is more than a great pianist. Although it is true that his musical genius was apparent to his parents when he was a 4-year-old baby, he showed a preference for mechanical toys when he was an infant, and he displayed a talent for invention at a very young age.

All his life he has been spending the major part of his spare time pottering around with lathes, hammers, saws and electricity until today he has more than 60 patents of his own invention to his credit.

He has three excellently equipped work shops: One in Merion, near Philadelphia, another in Aiken, S. C., and a third on his estate in Vevey, Switzerland, near Lake Geneva.

• • •

"OF course, I'm teaching Anton to play the piano," Josef Hofmann explained, "because I believe that the study of music, particularly through the medium of the piano, the musical instrument par excellent, should form a part of a child's general education. I go even a step farther and claim that music and science work well together.

"I know many great scientists who like nothing better than playing or listening to music in the hours they can spare away from their experiments. Albert Einstein, for instance, often spends a quiet evening with his fiddle, and Thomas Edison was a great music lover.

"On the other hand, it seems to me that the more a musician comprehends of the world outside his own realm the more he can give to the public through his chosen medium.

"Fritz Kreisler, the genius of the violin, likes nothing better than working with electrical wires and gadgets when he is not practicing. Rachmaninoff, the great pianist, often works out scientific experiments.

"My son Anton seems to me to be endowed with a fine curiosity about mechanics as well as with musical ability. He can already play the piano with both hands; he can pick out many melodies by himself; and he is tremendously interested in watching me experiment in my workshop. I often let him lend a hand, and he has done some very clever things."

The famous pianist told all of this in the big reception room of his home in Merion. Here Hofmann and his young wife, the former Betty Short, a charming titian-haired musician whom he married seven years ago, spend their winters since Hofmann became the director of the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia.

• • •

HOFMANN designed the Merion home himself, planned many of its unique features, which include a perfectly equipped gymnasium and numerous sleeping porches, and installed a noiseless oil burner that he perfected.

Often he is to be seen in his workshop or his cellar, shirt sleeves rolled up, his hands covered with grease and oil, figuring out a problem in mechanics or repairing something that has gone awry in the workings of the house.

And young Anton follows his father's labors, getting a great kick out of handling the intricate machinery and asking how things work. Anton spends his days at home and in the garden with his mother and father. He does not go to school, nor does he expect to go.

"I would not say that we do not believe in schools," Josef Hoffmann explained, "but we do not think of sending Anton to one. From an early age I received knowledge at the hands of tutors, and I never missed regular schooling at all. We are going to follow the same plan with Anton.

"We want Anton to develop every side of his nature because we believe that versatility is the keynote of a full and happy life. My love for mechanics, my love of the outdoors and of sports never retarded my progress in any way. It never hurt my hands to work with them away from the piano.

"I feel rather that my avocations helped me. Whenever I am overfatigued with work at the piano, I disappear into my workshop, and there I can get complete relaxation. I forget my weariness and come back to my musical work refreshed.

"In the summer I never touch the piano. I like automobiling, travel, swimming and the out-of-doors.

"Health has always seemed to me to be of prime importance and I've always believed in and practiced regular exercise. I will see that Anton's health is safeguarded, because I think it's so important not to be run down, nervous and irritable."

This fall young Anton will begin his first lessons. Until now his parents have not been giving him any regular instructions. Hofmann preferred to let the boy follow his natural tendencies and learn in that way what the child was most interested in.

• • •

HE found to his great pleasure that the child showed an outstanding appreciation of the beautiful. Anton likes to listen to music and look at paintings. He enjoys wandering around museums.

He can also play with electric trains and building blocks by the hour, and he is fascinated by the mechanical mysteries of automobiles. There's almost nothing he likes better than watching his famous father experimenting with a new invention.

"We have engaged a tutor for Anton this year," Josef Hofmann said, "a charming, exceptionally well-informed young music student of 27. During the summer he wrote Anton many letters from abroad, telling him what he had seen and experienced, and he asked Anton to remember what he had done in the summer, so that they can exchange impressions.

"This young man will act not as a teacher in the usual sense of the word, but as a companion to Anton. For two hours in the morning he will instruct Anton in the rudiments of education and the rest of their days will be spent developing those subjects in which Anton is interested, in play and in exercise. Then, too, he will tell Anton all about his European trip.

"They will ride together. Anton will learn how to swim, and they will swim together. They will play tennis and ping-pong together. Anton already plays a fair game of tennis, and his ping-pong is excellent. How he manages to see over the high table I don't know, but he's clever enough to be a whiz at the game.

"Anton has a great curiosity about the stars, and his tutor will begin teaching him astronomy right away. Although he is only six, my son understands many of the heavenly phenomena already, for he has been asking questions about them for almost two years. The tutor and Anton will go to museums together and Anton will see opening up before him the glories of modern science."

Josef Hofmann himself did not have such an easy time as young Anton in developing the many facets of his versatility. But he persisted and he won out.

After his first recital, at the age of five, in Warsaw, Poland, the land of his birth, the young Josef found that his legs were too short to reach the pedals. He was most uncomfortable at the piano for several years until an idea occurred to him.

He had seen a man walking on stilts. With this device in mind, he made himself a pair of extension pedals and a board on which he could rest his heels until his legs grew long enough to reach the floor.

AS a growing boy he was fascinated by mechanics and he was ambitious to excel in sports. He had to steal away from his mentors and his family to read all about the new wonder of the time, the automobile, to take apart and repair his bicycles, to take long hikes and learn to swim. He invented a pair of folding roller skates and he managed to satisfy his love for mechanics.

In 1899 he built himself an automobile. It cost him $3000, and it did not run very far, but he was proud of it because it was one of the first steam-driven cars in Germany. He soon bought an expensive French car in Paris.

"A daring friend of mine and I," Hofmann reminisced, "drove all the way from Paris to Berlin in my new acquisition. It took us a week—I covered the same distance in a few hours last June—but we felt that we had made a momentous journey.

"We did get bumped around frightfully and I determined then and there to try to devise something that would make automobiles run more smoothly. I bought one of the first gas cars in Germany and I experimented on shock absorbers and air brakes for it. I've made a number of them since and I've always used my own appurtenances on my cars."

Thirty years ago, when he was in his early twenties, Hofmann came to America to live. He bought a home in Aiken, S. C., and there he built his very first workshop. It has remained his most complete one to this day and he keeps a mechanic there the year round.

• • •

"I MADE a six-cylinder 50-horse-power gas car of my own design in Aiken," Hofmann said. "It was a clumsy affair, as I look back on it now, but it did have the first flush dashboard ever made, and it had a top that could be removed in the summer and put back in the winter. I began working on air springs and hydraulic snubbers. Many of them have been patented.

"People are usually astonished to hear me talk so affectionately of things mechanical, as though they belonged to a world far removed from music. To me it does not seem so. A piano can get out of order like any other instrument.

"I think a pianist should be able to repair his instrument just as a good chauffeur must be able to repair the engine of his automobile."

It is only natural that Hofmann should have designed a piano for himself. He is now working on a device for amplifying the sound of a piano and he is negotiating with a large electrical company for the patent.

"The Aiken house began to worry me about 10 years ago," Hofmann explained, because only half the house was comfortable in winter, only the other half in summer. I devised an electric turn-table which would act as a pivot on which the house could revolve. The pivot, hidden by grass and flowers, was to be 100 feet across and would turn the house slowly with the sun; or it could be switched quickly by a control. I patented the idea, but I never used it."

The Morning Milk

Always wash the bottle of milk off under the cold-water spigot before putting it into the refrigerator. Frequently ants will cling to the bottom of the bottle and will go right along into the refrigerator with the milk if this precaution is not taken.

HEALTH

Infantile Paralysis.

However, where the patient has suffered paralysis the treatment period may last for many years.

Through proper treatment and competent after-care, much of the loss in muscle function and in power may be regained.

In all cases, deformity may be kept to a minimum and muscle growth encouraged through the proper treatment.

The after-care of infantile paralysis requires the services of experts, a certain amount of details being administered by parents working under the attending physician's supervision.

In the early stages of the disease where there are pain and paralysis, rest is the most important feature of treatment.

The patient is kept in bed. To relieve pain, to maintain muscle balance and to prevent deformity of the muscles and joints affected, splints and plaster of paris bandages are utilized.

Depending upon the extent of the paralysis and the muscles affected, different types of splints and bandages and different postural positions may be required.

Every effort is made to facilitate the repairing processes which the body carries on after the acute stage of inflammation subsides.

Following this early stage, pain and tenderness in the affected muscles and joints are diminished and the patient enters upon the period of convalescence and recovery.

It is at this time that efforts are made to encourage movement in the affected muscles. Massage, passive exercise and voluntary movements are used to build up the strength in the weakened muscles and to encourage the development of normal function.

This is an important stage in the disease and one that requires very expert care. Exercise of the affected parts must not be overdone, for fatigue injures rather than helps the weakened muscles.

DEAR MRS. CARR: How should one introduce a man to his single sister?

When a woman takes leave after talking with a man and says "goodby, I am very glad to have met you," what should the man reply?

How should I introduce my brother to a group of club girls? How should he acknowledge the introduction? What should the girls reply? What should he say on taking leave?

Mr. Brown and Miss Smith have already been introduced. They meet again at a dinner party and Mr. Brown is presented to Miss Smith by the hostess. Mr. Brown apparently does not recall the previous introduction, but Miss Smith does recall it. What should Miss Smith say? LUELLA.

The man is always presented to the girl. 1. "Margaret, Mr. Allen" (rising inflection after Margaret) or "Mr. Allen (or George), I want to introduce (or present) you to my sister Margaret (or Mrs. Morrow, if she is married.") 2. "Thank you," would be a man's natural response. Or if he wishes to say more he might say, "Thank you, I am glad to have had the pleasure of meeting you." 3. If you know the group of girls well, you would probably say, "Girls, my brother, Edward—Alice, Barbara, Dorothy, Madge." Otherwise you might say, "My brother, Edward; Miss Dameron, Miss Ely, Miss Bruening, Miss Price." 4. "How do you do?" is all he need say, and the same for the girl unless they wish to add some little remark such, as. "We have known you quite well for a long time, through your sister." 5. Of course he would say 'I am glad to have met all of you," or "sorry I cannot stay longer;" nothing set about this. 5. Usually it is best not to speak of the former introduction, since it may embarrass the forgetful one.

DEAR MRS. CARR: About a month ago, I met a girl and she asked me if I were of her faith—but I . not. But owing to my fondness for her I told her that I was. She told her parents and it made a hit with them and now places me in an embarrassing predicament. Please tell me some way that I can reveal my religion to this girl and still not have to give her up. SONNY BOY.

In other words you want to "eat your cake and have it too." I have heard that this could not be done successfully.

Your prevarication was an utterly foolish one for of course you knew it would be revealed. You'll have to make a confession and clear yourself; the longer you try this deceit, the worse it will be. And if you are not the one who tells them—it may be all over for you.

DEAR MRS. CARR: I have been going with a boy two years. We were very much in love, but last June I felt that he was becoming indifferent, though he denied it. I thought it best to go some with others, which didn't please him. But I dated some of my old friends because I felt I couldn't waste my life on a fellow who didn't care for me. As soon as he had made me give up the others again, he became indifferent once more. We quarreled and I was silly enough to come home and cry. I really cared for him and still do.

The outcome is that he says he wants other girls' company, though he still loves me most. One week he is honey and pie, the next he hardly speaks. Should I believe him? He hardly takes me out but usually keeps regular dates, though sometimes breaking them for pleasures with the "gang." He could find time for me, I think, if he cared to. I have been the one to forgive every time. PUZZLED.

The young gentleman evidently enjoys using his power. Usually, girls seem to adore a man who acts this way, whereas, if a devoted steady fellow wants their affection and society, they scorn him. It is the same way with the boys. And, since this is the system, you are not helping yourself much by giving up and catering to him, only to have him turn away as soon as he thinks he has beaten you again. Encourage him to go with a raft of other girls if he wants to test himself out and be no stay-at-home since this is the system, I suppose quarrels occur regularly among boys and girls just to afford the charming opportunity to make up. Perhaps if, he once thinks, really, he has lost you he will come dashing back, but don't make it too easy for him.

DEAR MRS. CARR: I am a girl 18 years old. My parents were killed a few years ago and I now live with my grandmother. I have a brother 22 and a sister nine. Since my parents' death my brother has been supporting us. But six months ago he left home. He just couldn't bear the responsibility any longer and I haven't seen or heard from him since.

My sister became seriously ill and from it lost her sense of hearing and speech and I have had her in a doctor's care most of the time. My grandmother has become worried over the two of them and has aged over night. She is now losing her sight. I am so worried I am just frantic and I have forgotten what the word "pleasure" means. Do you think it is just to my grandmother to continue my education. I have just entered the third year of high school. Please answer soon. ——— CONNIE.

You have a real burden for such young shoulders and, of course, superficially, one might say that your brother was cowardly to leave it to you. But sometimes, when such responsibilities come to a boy so young, he gradually feels so fettered that he becomes desperate for his youth and dashes away from it blindly. You are showing fine character in shouldering it all so bravely and in not condemning him. But I believe if he reads of your struggles, since he has now had a bit of time to think it over, that he may show a similar character and return to help you.

I am going to ask you to send me your name and address (you may be sure you are safe in doing it), and tell me just what means you have and also what connections—who might be able to help you to keep on with your education. It is possible I may have a suggestion for you if I know more of others to whom you can turn or if you have one at all.

DEAR MRS. CARR: We are about to form a "Pinochle Rummy' card club. We are inexperienced players and would like to know if there are any set rules for the game. We have been playing the game with various groups for almost two years and it seems that each has different ideas as to correct scoring.

PINOCHLE RUMMY CLUB.

Old players tell me that it seems necessary to formulate and adopt individual rules for a club of this kind. You will find rules outlined at some of the places where they sell playing cards. And a good book store will doubtless provide you with leaflets and booklets on the subject. You may then adopt such as you think best and keep them as a standard.

• • •

MY DEAR MRS. CARR: I feel that by turning to you for advice, you will undoubtedly give me the most "common-sense" advice of anyone. I am 28 years old and have been going with a man 11 years my senior. He is very devoted and in our three years of friendship, he has never in any way failed to meet with my expectations, nor has he ever failed me when in any way I needed help. However, my people claim that by marrying him I will only invite unhappiness owing to the difference in our age, and to the fact that there exists a great barrier—a vast difference in our religious beliefs. Neither will give up the church but are willing to continue worshiping in our respective churches, and never let that be a subject of controversy. Tell me, Mrs. Carr, can such a union work out—what shall I do? I am told that I look about 22 years old. He at 39 looks at least 43. Certainly that would make no difference.

PERPLEXED.

Taste rather than age, should guide you in this. There is not so much difference in the latter. You could adjust the religious differences. Be guided by your own judgment; you can't please everybody.

DEAR MARTHA CARR: I am 19 and have my choice between a trip around the world or to be married to a man I love dearly. This is a very difficult question, because my parents disapprove of his lack of social standing.

OVERWROUGHT.

You have given me a hard one. That trip around the world does sound so alluring! Perhaps I shouldn't say this; but, had you thought maybe you could have both? You do not seem so dead set upon the man, and you would have time to decide—perhaps on shipboard, away out in the ocean where you have such a nice, detached feeling, or in Seville or in Athens or in Jerusalem—where you will be serious-minded—or in Egypt or Venice or Assisi, or at Nice or Cannes, where life will seem so debonair; but you must not wait to make the decision after you reach Paris, because there will not be time there.

• • •

DEAR MRS. CARR: In case of a funeral (I am wholly inexperienced in this matter), how should one approach the minister with thanks or the customary fee? Should this be done before or after or at the home or cemetery? Hope you will understand my ignorance. ——— DELLA.

I should not offer either thanks or the fee at the cemetery. You can do this before the funeral, if you happen to have an opportunity, without making it, unnaturally. Or afterwards, which is better, by calling at the minister's study.

DAILY STORY FOR CHILDREN
By Mary Graham Bonner

The Old Pines.

ABOVE the house where John and Peggy and the Little Black Clock lived were two old pine trees. They had been there for as long as the children could remember—long, long before they were born.

They were very big trees, their branches were wide and strong and the trees were tall and looked so full of health and strength.

There was quite a space on the hill between the trees, and this space was usually covered with pine needles which made it so slippery that the children could slide down on them.

If they tried to walk without sliding they almost always slipped.

But now the pine needles did not make the ground slippery. Instead the Clock had turned the time ahead and the ground was covered with snow.

Some snow was resting upon the branches of the pine trees, and the bushes and shrubs in the garden below were covered with snow so that the garden looked like a snowy fairyland.

When the Clock joined them it was quite dark and the moon was shining over the pine trees.

It made the snow sparkle with pleasure to see the moon, and the stars were out too, twinkling as though to show how much they enjoyed the frosty air and the snowy scene.

"It's so beautiful," Peggy said. "Oh, I'm so glad you can turn the time ahead not only in days but in hours. It makes us able to sit up like this."

The Little Black Clock smiled and then he said, "I've got a good old rug to wrap around us, and I thought perhaps we'd sit on the stump just below the hill and hear the pine trees as they talked."

DAWES SENT TO LEAGUE'S PARLEY ON MANCHURIA

Ambassador May Not Take Part in Council Discussions, but Will Be on Hand, Stimson Says, to Confer With Envoys.

FIGHTING RENEWED; 300 CHINESE KILLED

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Ambassador Charles G. Dawes in London has been ordered to Paris to attend the meeting of the League of Nations Council on the Manchurian question, beginning next Monday.

Secretary of State Stimson, in making the announcement, said that while Dawes might not find it necessary to participate in the Council meetings, he would be in position to confer with the representatives of other nations if it should become advisable.

Secretary Stimson also said a "very conciliatory note" had been received from Japan. He declined to make public the note, which was given him yesterday by Ambassador Debuchi of Japan. The Secretary would not comment further.

At previous deliberations of the League Council on the Manchurian question at Geneva the United States was represented by Prentiss B. Gilbert, consul-general.

He was admitted to a seat at the Council table over the objection of Japan. He was authorized to take an active part in the deliberations so far as the Kellogg-Briand anti-war treaty was discussed, but otherwise to act only as an observer.

Text of Stimson Statement.

Secretary Stimson's statement announcing his action said:

"I have asked Gen. Dawes, the ambassador in London, to go to Paris during the coming meeting of the statesmen who compose the Council of the League of Nations.

"Inasmuch as this meeting will consider the present situation in Manchuria and questions may arise which will affect the interests or treaty obligations of the United States, I desire to have at hand in Paris a man of Gen. Dawes' standing, particularly as the American ambassador to Paris is at home on the.

"It is not anticipated that Gen. Dawes will find it necessary to take part in the meetings of the League Council, but he will be in a position to confer with the representatives of the other nations present in case such conference should seem desirable."

Secretary Stimson and President Hoover have before them while they observe the thirteenth anniversary of the end of the World War a memorandum from Tokio considerating conditions under which the troops of Japan will be recalled in Manchuria.

Ambassador Debuchi, in presenting Japan's reply to representations made by Ambassador Forbes in Tokio, outlined his Government's position anew.

The Japanese Stand.

He said Japan had an honest desire to withdraw its troops to the railroad zone, but first must have assurances from China that the security of Japanese lives and property will be respected.

His country's soldiers, he said, will not proceed northward to mend the Chinese railway owned by Russia and China.

Washington is still hinging its representations on demands that the Kellogg-Briand treaty renouncing war and the Nine-Power Pact treaty of 1922 guaranteeing stability to China be respected. It has refrained from taking a position on the question of withdrawal of Japan's soldiers, which the League has demanded by next Monday.

Its communications both to the disputing countries and to the League have in most cases been kept secret. There has been every indication, however, that America is working in close co-operation with Geneva statesmen to prevent open declarations of war.
